Lockbourne Road Resident's Murals Bring Distant Scenes To South Side

CONVERSATION PIECE—This large black and yellow butterfly painted by Arthur Friebis on his garage door five years ago, has become quite a conversation piece, said the South Sider. He has had to "touch-it-up" several times but it still draws many comments. (More photos on page 8)

By Roy Shaffer

Arthur L. Friebis can enjoy the warm tropic scenery of Florida in the winter and the cooling sight of towering mountains in the summer—all without ever leaving his home.

A life long resident of the South Side, presently residing at 1839 Lockbourne-rd, Friebis brings these far away places to his own home through his skill as a painter.

Painting and hanging wall paper has been his vocation for more than 46 years. However painting murals is just a hobby, he said, and he does not include them in his interior-exterior decorating business.

Friebis has painted two murals on the walls of the breeze-way between his home and garage. One is a scene taken from memories of his trips through the Rocky Mountains, the other depicts a section of Florida's Cypress Gardens.

Began With "Butterfly"

Friebis entered the field of artistic painting about five years ago when he "casually" went outside one afternoon and painted a large black and yellow butterfly on his garage door. The butterfly drew a lot of comment from neighbors and passers-by and was written up by a local newspaper.

When his wife died about three years ago, his home became lonely and seemed dreary, said Friebis. He decided a view of the Rockies in his breeze-way might cheer up his home. When the mural was completed, he began looking for other "bare" walls that could be adapted to murals. He completed the Florida scene just before this past Christmas.

Friebis now has his eyes on a couple of other "bare" spots in the breeze-way—and of course, the room has that great big plain ceiling! The South Side painter is also planning in the future to paint a desert scene on a basement wall.

The Lockbourne-rd resident plans to attend night school at Central High School beginning in February. He is going to take a course in oil-painting.

With the extreme cold weather in full swing now, you can bet Mr. Friebis has his back turned to the mountains and is enjoying the imagined warmth of the Cypress Gardens!

Fumes Kill South Side Policeman

A clogged bedroom heater and nearly closed vent on a living room heater caused the death by carbon monoxide poisoning of a patrolman in his South Side apartment Tuesday.

Sgt. Clyde H. Beck, 49, was found by fellow Columbus policemen at the 708½ S. High-st apartment with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Anna Gilliam, 402 S. Third st, unconscious.

Mrs. Gilliam is listed in "critical" condition at Mercy Hospital.

Police officers tried to contact Beck at his apartment when they found his police cruiser still parked at the substation at Thurman-av and Fourth-st. He was supposed to go on duty at 3 p.m. The search started for him when a cruiserman who worked under Beck patroling the South Side district called radio dispatchers at 6:50 to have them send Beck to his home.

Patrolmen Floyd York was dispatched to his residence and getting no answer, called Lt. Robert Schneider. They then broke into the apartment and found Beck slumped on the davenport, and Mrs. Gilliam on the floor.

Both the bedroom and living room heaters were turned up high.

Beck is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Beck of 648 Euclaire-av, two children, a son in Germany in the armed services, and a daughter in Cincinnati. Beck's father is assistant superintendent of county schools.

YEAR'S FIRST BABY—Bradley Jay Hafey, first baby of the year in the South Side Leader area, made his debut at 12:01 a.m. New Year's Day, in Mt. Carmel Hospital, claiming for himself and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Hafey, 2837 Gibson-dr, a wealth of gifts from local merchants.

No Racing At Scioto Downs

Fair Directors Oppose Leaving Hilliards Site

Approval to conduct harness races at the Hilliards fairgrounds this summer was given by members of the Franklin County Agricultural Society Monday night shortly before throwing cold water on a proposal to relocate the fair site.

Board members gave quick approval to the request asking transfer of the summer lease of the Columbus Trotting Association to the Hilliards Raceway, Inc. by Charley Hill, raceway president.

Discussion then turned to the possibility of selling the present fairgrounds to the Scioto-Darby Board of Education or the village of Hilliards and building a new plant elsewhere in the county.

Hill, appearing at the organizational meeting of the fair board, said construction of the new Scioto Downs Raceway would not be completed in time to race this spring.

Transfer of the lease was approved with the stipulation that $1,000 be placed in escrow to insure that the fairgrounds are properly cleaned at the end of the racing season.

An inquiry by the Scioto-Darby school board on the availability of the fairgrounds as a possible school site prompted members to consider relocation. It was suggested that the society's 40 acres might be split between the school system and the village.

Fair Board secretary Findley DeWolfe pointed out that the site would not be available under any circumstances this year with the races slated to return.

DeWolfe, making an off-the-cuff estimate, said the fair board would have to realize about $400,000 from the present site to make a move. He said the grounds and building are valued at $195,000.

The general feeling of the fair board was stated by director Harold Cunningham who said:

"We can't consider it if it would mean not operating a fair. If they would bring up a price that would enable us to do this, I would be glad to look for a new site."

FAMILY REUNION—It has been 15 years since the Phil Gleich family got together, but over the holidays they really made up for lost time when the kids and their families flocked in for a reunion. Front row, left to right, the Robert Gleich family group: Cindy, Bobby; mother, June; Tommy, Nancy; father, Bob, and Susie. Middle front, Patriarch Phil, Matriarch Gertrude and their youngest son, Phillip III. In the right front, the T. H. Allegri family: Barbara, Chris; mother, Loretta; father, Ted; Fran and Paula; Anita and Alda are seated in front of them. Back row, left to right, the David Alban family group: Dave, Tommy; father, Dave; mother, Judy; Kathy, Janet and Linda. The William Kirby family group: father, William; Billy, and mother, Marylou. The Kenneth Hahnert family group, father, Ken; mother, Phyllis; Jimmy and Trudy. Trudy is the only youngster who attended the last family reunion. The others had not yet seen the light of day.

Phil Gleich Family Is Together For First Time In 15 Years

For the first time in 15 years Phil and Gertrude Gleich had all their kids home—but this time there were 21 extra plates at the family reunion dinner, Christmas Day.

Then a total of 34 places were set around the Gleich table at 335 Sheldon-av for the first real reunion in a decade and a half, during which all the clan gathered for what may be the last reunion for quite a few more years.

Phil and Gertrude's six children, five of whom are married, came from Maryland, Mississippi and Columbus to be with the older folks for the holidays. Their oldest son, Robert, a captain in the Air Force, brought his family from Biloxi, Miss., for the reunion, and is on his way to Japan for at least three years. He and his wife, June, have five children.

Seven Youngsters

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Allegri, Hyattsville, Md., came in with seven youngsters. Allegri, a federal government executive, married the former Loretta Gleich.

Mr. and Mrs. David Alban, 2616 Dover-rd, have five children. Mrs. Alban is the former Judy Gleich.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kirby (the former Marylou Gleich) have one child. Kirby is an electrician in Columbus. They live at 2793 Beulah-rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hahnert, 3452 Eisenhower-rd, contributed three more children to the family. Phyllis Hahnert is the eldest of the Gleich children. At the first reunion 15 years ago, she was the only member of the family with a child. Her husband, Kenneth, is with the Columbus police department.

Besides the Christmas celebration, the family got together on three other occasions during the holidays. Dec. 28 was Phil and Gertrude's 38th Wedding Anniversary which was attended by all. Then, on Dec. 30, a double birthday party was held for two other younger members of the clan. The children got together again on New Year's Eve to celebrate, but the grandchildren missed this one.

Still Single

The only unmarried child of the Gleich's is Phillip III, 27. He, like his father, is a plumber.

Capt. Gleich and June are expecting a sixth youngster in May. This one, like two sisters, will be born outside the United States. Susan and Nancy Gleich were born while the captain was stationed in Puerto Rico.

None of the captain's offspring had ever met their cousins from Maryland, the Allegri children.

Elder Phil is looking forward to May of this year. He and Gertrude both will be 65, and he says he may retire.

Robinson's Manager Backs 'Service With A Smile' Idea

ALMA G. SHUMAKER

The manager of Robinson's Women's and Children's Apparel Store, Great Southern Center is Alma G. Shumaker. She is a friendly, outgoing person and has introduced this spirit into the atmosphere of the store.

Miss Shumaker doesn't feel that customer-clerk relations should be as cold and commercial as they are in a great many retail stores today. She believes that a store and its staff should work to create goodwill and friendliness between itself, its customers and the community.

Robinson's carries a complete line of women's ready-to-wear and clothes for infants and children up to age 14, both boys and girls.

There are two Robinson's stores in Columbus, one at Great Southern and another at Great Western Shopper's Mart. The firm is a nation-wide business known as Grayson's and Robinson's in the East.

Miss Shumaker has been manager of the store at Great Southern since it opened in 1957, and formerly worked at the Great Western branch. Prior to this, she was employed by Lerner's Dress Shops and a chain of dress shops in her hometown, Galion, O.

The Great Southern store employs from 12 to 16 persons regularly. Alma Shumaker, who resides at 24 E. Moler-st, spends much of her time planning style shows for the community. She plans Spring and Fall shows for many local churches, schools and clubs.

"The style shows are not a strictly commercial way of advertising to us," said Miss Shumaker, adding, "we never use professional models because we would rather let local people have the fun of modeling. It makes the affair more friendly and informal, provides a program of entertainment and seems far less business-like."

The manager spends her spare time following her favorite hobby—raising, training and riding horses. It might seem like an unusual hobby for a woman in the dress business, but Miss Shumaker finds it relaxing and has won many honors with her pasttime.

BIBLE COMMENTS

Men's Needs More Than Just Physical

"The Son of Man," said Jesus, referring to Himself, "came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many."

There are needs that the greatest wealth cannot supply, and needs that those most robust in health find unfilled.

Man needs food, warmth and rest. He needs health and peace of mind.

Besides innumerable other needs of which he is aware, he needs a great deal of which he is not conscious.

It is a part of man's progress to become aware of new and expanding needs.

Jesus came to supply those needs, or to teach man the way to God's supply of things needed to fill those wants.

He fed men's bodies, but He brought to them also the bread of eternal life.

He healed men's diseases, but He was the physician to sin-sick souls, too.

He offered men rest. He ministered to the need for faith, hope and vision as felt by men.

Today, as never before in an ever-more-complex world, we need Jesus' help. We need his ministry.

And, most of all, we need his supreme ministry — the ministry of salvation.

One way to git a feller to attend a meetin' is to put him on the program.

To sample life try the simple life.

FINDLEY'S 'SPUD' DISPLAY COPS THIRD

POTATO DISPLAY CONTEST — Findley Brothers' Supermarket recently won a $50 third prize for this display of Idaho potatoes. The store was in competition with supermarkets in 35 states. Carl Monaghan, Findley's produce manager, learned of the Idaho contest early in November. He said he dreamed up the display quickly and didn't spend much time building the mountain of spuds. Bill and Ed Findley, owners, are proud of Monaghan and the display. The store will receive coverage in the national grocers' trade magazine.

Lincoln Fete Planners Commended, Receive Gift

Harmony seems to be the keynote of the commissions and committees engaged in planning Lincoln's Sesquicentennial Celebration for 1959.

Emile Reiss, pioneer of the Lincoln movement through his formation of the Ohio Lincoln Historical Association, received a letter from Prof. Earl Wiley, head of the recently formed state commission, the Ohio Lincoln Sesquicentennial Commission, commending him and his association on the good work in setting up a framework for the big year-long birthday observance.

Reiss also received this week a famous picture for his organization from the Pinkerton Detective Agency. The picture shows President Lincoln, Maj. Gen. McClernand and Maj. Allan Pinkerton at the Battle of Antietam. The Pinkerton agency acted as Lincoln's bodyguard while he was President. This reportedly is the first time that a copy of the picture has ever been presented to anyone outside of the company's organization.

National Foundation States Polio Is Still Prime Target

The complete and final eradication of polio still remains a prime concern of the National Foundation as it goes into its 21st annual March of Dimes.

The Salk vaccine, developed with March of Dimes funds, provides a powerful weapon for knocking out polio. With this victory in sight, even though not yet achieved, the National Foundation is preparing to march "Toward Greater Victories" in the realm of public health.

Initial new goals in this broad health program are arthritis and birth defects. But the National Foundation is still pledged to give patient aid to all polio victims past or future who need its help.

Estimates indicate some 150,000 survivors of paralytic polio might benefit from modern techniques of rehabilitation pioneered by the National Foundation. Some 50,000 are already on its chapters' patient aid rolls.

In polio research the National Foundation is seeking to increase the effectiveness of the Salk vaccine; indications are that it is 90 per cent effective with three properly spaced shots. Also being studied is a "live" virus vaccine that can be taken orally.

The Salk vaccine is a "dead" virus vaccine requiring a series of injections. Other National Foundation researchers are looking for better ways to lessen the crippling after-effects of polio.

While polio is on the run it is still crippling people more than three years after development of a preventive vaccine.

Accordingly, the National Foundation vaccination education program to prevent unnecessary crippling must continue and the stricken must be helped.

Food Markets This Week

by Mrs. Estelle B. Franks

Welcome information to those responsible for buying the family food—prices for 1959 are expected to average a little lower than the record high level of this past year. Food supplies are expected to exceed the good year of 1958. Economists predict higher incomes and a continued strong demand for food. They say that all of these factors should keep the cost of living index from rising very much during the next several months.

High Meat Prices

Beef costs are not likely to differ much in 1959 from 1958 levels. Cattle numbers are increasing, but this is not expected to cause lower prices before early in 1960. Beef consumption will probably be about the same as in 1958—around 80 pounds per capita.

Considerably larger numbers of hogs now reaching market weights are likely to cause much greater pork supplies during 1959. Prices are expected to fall steadily throughout the winter.

Poultry prices are likely to average lower than for 1958, though by the end of 1959 they may exceed 1958 levels if flocks are cut back as expected. Turkey prices will not vary much from 1958.

Milk and supplies of milk products will probably come closer to balancing consumption than they have for the last six years. Retail prices of dairy products are expected to average near those of this past year.

Fresh Produce

Predictions are difficult to make for fresh produce as so much depends upon weather conditions. Should production and pattern of harvest be more normal, both farm and retail prices of fresh produce in winter and early spring will average below the near-record prices of 1958.

Compared to last year, we'll have a lot of citrus fruit. But the processed supplies are low, so much goes into making frozen concentrate and canned products. Prices will continue to be high.

Among the more abundant and likely-to-be-featured canned foods for 1959 are tomatoes, green beans, peas, and applesauce.

1959 should see your family and all America eating well, possibly for less money.

The Gadabout

Priscilla LaRue Lenox
HI. 4-1051

Janice Kaufman spent part of her holiday vacation in Mt. Carmel Hospital; not a recommended way of being festive!

A cheery, bubbly letter from Glee Oleta McNutt tells us that that resident of 380 E. Whittier-st has been confined to her bed for four months, will be there two more months, and will then have the task of learning to walk again.

She has devoted her life to making shut-ins' lives a little cheerier . . . now she is undergoing that experience herself. Her friends remembered her wonderfully well at the holiday season, and she wants to thank them all!

Two groups held Christmas parties for her, the Friendly Pages and Blue Star Mothers. The Blue Star Mothers party was a surprise affair, with a potluck dinner. Carols and a money Christmas tree of quarters.

She listed the things that she'd received and the list was not only long, but the gifts came from all over the world. From Africa came beautiful ivory ear rings and matching pin, to give an example. Fruit and plants added a festive touch to her holidays too. Guess her room was so full there was hardly room for Glee, by Christmas! The Gadabout hopes with Mrs. McNutt's friends, that 1959 sees her once more in the "thick of things" just ambulating as good as ever!

WINTER WEDDING

A young lady we wrote about last autumn, Yancey Roberts, who had spent several months in France, took a shorter trip on Dec. 27. She went down the aisle as Miss Roberts and returned as Mrs. James Zimmer. The young couple will live at 571 E. Gates-st.

With the holiday season a thing of the recent past, the weekly Wednesday dinners are again being held at the Moose hall, 33 W. Sycamore-st. The hours are 5 to 7 p.m., and take it as a personal recommendation, the food is always excellent.

Priscilla Dicke left Columbus on Christmas day and returned Sunday, Jan. 4. Her trip was to New York State and Canada. In New York, she visited relatives. Niagara Falls in its wintry beauty was one of the highlights of the trip.

We presume that the DiGoria family, of 3216 Parsons-av., made their planned trip to Florida right after Christmas, but should be back by now.

Congratulations to Estelle Laudy for being named one of Columbus' tp ten women of the year." As those in the south unit of the League of Women Voters know, she is the president of all Leaguers in the Columbus area. We were please to note that one of the other "top 10'ers" was a Leaguer also. It's a "good group."

Residing in Columbus again, after lolling in Florida's balmier climes is a little rough on G. E. "Pop" LaRue. He finds standing on top of the register is the closest he can approximate that state's weather!

Congratulations, belatedly, to Mr. and Mrs. George Weber, 507 Sheldon-av. for achieving their golden wedding anniversary on Dec. 29. A family gathering on Dec. 28 commemorated the event. Five children, eight grandchildren and five great-grandchildren attended the celebration.

Trudeau Guild 10, 8 p.m., Jan. 14, in Grove City, Mrs. Russell Cahler, hostess; Trudeau Guild 3, Jan. 13, 1289 Kossuth-st, hostess, Mrs. Stephen Deri.

Roosevelt Jr. High PTA'ers are back in the swing of things quickly. At 7:45 tonight they will hear Dr. Wendell A. Butcher speak on "Signals of Mental Distress in Adolescence."

Congratulations to newly-weds Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Allen Strang, 284 Reinhard-av. Mrs. Strang, a teacher at Siebert-st school is the former Carolyn Sue Greer.

The Zodiac Club held its first birthday party of the year on New Year's Eve. Helen Fisher and Priscilla Lenox were the honor guests. Mrs. Fisher's natal day will be Jan. 15. The get-together was in Summit Station, home of Chuck and Leah Walters.

Capital University's basketball team will travel to Springfield on January 10, to tangle with a tough team. On January 13, neighboring Otterbein will play on the Lutheran's home court. We'd give South High's opponents and dates, but that schedule seems to be lost!

Mary Merritt, 384 Reinhard-av, has had her hands full for several weeks now. Mary, president of all Trudeau Guilds, was active enough overseeing the various projects that the Guilds were participating in. The Sunday before Christmas, her mother was rushed to Mt. Carmel Hospital with a heart attack, where she still is. For card-minded, her name is Martha Gerwig. Then Ronnie Merritt (a son) had complications with a toe that's been causing his parents much anxiety.

Mary had been helping to plan the January meeting of the Ohio Hospital Auxiliary Association that will be held at Benjamin Franklin Hospital next Wednesday, the 14th. Cards of cheer would probably perk up Mary's morale, too!

Adult birthdays are these: Pauline Fleckner, Jan. 9; Vivian Smith, Jan. 9; Beulah Clark, Jan. 13 and Mary Russell, Jan. 14.

An absent-minded thought . . . this is the time of year when your laundry looks a little strange and unfamiliar. All the new clothing that Santa brought in his pack, is now in your laundry pack!

Fewer Deer Are Bagged

The number of deer hunters reporting to the Ohio Division of Wildlife is 20 per cent less than it was a year ago, but the number of deer bagged is down only 14 per cent.

Out of 10,544 hunters reporting, 2,473 shot deer. At this time last year, 13,057 reported and 2,847 of them had each bagged a white-tail.

Deer hunter reports are far from complete, a division spokesman said. When all deer cards were in last year more than 48,000 hunters reported and 5,000 of them said they bagged a deer.

Hunters do not have to mail deer report cards until Jan. 3, three days after the end of the deer bow-and-arrow season.

Ice Fishing Is Hot, Local Anglers Say

Phil McGinnis, 640 S. Eighteenth-st, that fisherman who never stops all year long, has had good luck lately ice fishing at Hoover Reservoir. A recent excursion brought him 75 nice, fat bluegills. He caught them in the Lake-Of-The-Woods area in about 12 feet of water. A number of other fishermen were having good luck on the same day.

Phil's advice, "Use a fine line, and small sinker and hook. Many of the fellows use tackle that is to heavy. I've found the best bait is "mousies". These are larva of a certain kind of fly, and are available at bait stores.

"Let your line out until the sinker hits bottom, then reel in enough to lift your bait about six inches off the bottom. Bluegills hit slowly this time of year, so set the hook at the slightest twitch of your line."

Well, you can take it from there. You can't ask anymore of a fisherman than where he goes and how he does it. Phil's greatest secret is persistence—he is out there trying when the rest of us are thinking about it.

Other good catches of bluegills are coming from local farm ponds, and from Indian Lake. They started hitting at Indian as soon as the ice was strong enough to hold fishermen, and the catches of bluegills are holding up well.

Ice fishing at Sandusky Bay and Lake Erie started a month early this year—ice was six to eight inches thick in the bay two weeks ago. Bay fishermen have been taking large catches of perch, small to medium in size, north of Johnson's Island, East Harbor State Park, Crystal Rock, and around Sandusky.

Winter Evening Suggestions

Don't chuck your fishing equipment into a dark corner and forget about it until next spring. A little work will save you time, money and frustration when fishing season rolls around.

Since an outboard motor probably represents the largest single cash investment in the angler's array of fishing gear, it deserves first attention. Follow the manufacturer's instructions for winterizing, and store it in a cool, dry place.

Next, gather up your tackle and generous supplies of soap and hot water. You'll need oil and grease for "lube jobs" on reels and metal items susceptible to rust. Work on each piece in a methodical fashion—cleaning, lubricating and storing in a protective container.

Examine rods carefully for signs of wear. Frayed windings usually indicate an overhaul is coming up. Check guides for grooves—a grooved tip-top will ruin a good line.

Also, clean up your lures. Repaint battered plugs and replace rusted hooks. Household silver polish works wonders on spinner blades. Grimy flies can be revitalized in a bath of live steam. Scour tackle boxes and creels with soap and water, then apply a new coat of paint or varnish.

By now you should be down to a tangled mess of snelled hooks, leader material, old line, a dried out minnow and a rotten pork strip. Salvage what you can, such as split shots and hooks which can be sharpened. Toss the rest away. Taking a chance on frayed and knotted monofilament isn't worth the risk.

Don't forget your fishing clothes. Examine hip boots and waders for holes, a repair problem easily solved by a quick trip to the service station for a "hot patch".

Actually, tackle cleanup time is a lot of fun. Fishing gear, like a school girl's scrapbook, is a magic carpet to pleasant memories of exploits afield. Take good care of it and it'll take care of you.

TACKLE NEWS

Pflueger recently introduced two new reels to the fishing public. They are the No. 86 Pflueger Mars, an enclosed spinning reel, and an automatic fly reel No. 756 Pflueger Superex.

The Mars has instant line control, meaning that the button that is pressed as your lure hits water also engages the drag, so that your line is always under control. It is very light, made of cast aluminum and satin chrome. The adjustable drag has a nylon brake shoe. Gears are metal.

The 9 oz. Superex is a fly fisherman's dream. The reel is dismantled at the press of a button, and you can carry extra spools and switch lines quick as a flash. The reel holds 32 yards of C line and retrieves 34 yards per spring wind. It has a free stripping clutch. The housing is anodized aluminum, and other exposed parts are stainless steel and nylon.

Local Painter Decorates Walls In Cypress Trees And Pines

WATER SKIING ON LOCKBOURNE-RD—Many people pass by 1839 Lockbourne-rd, and never suspect that a small portion of Florida's Cypress Gardens exists there. Arthur Friebis, who resides at the address, created the scene in his breezeway from memories of past trips to Florida. He finds the sunny mural most comforting in the face of the extreme cold weather of recent weeks.

COOL STREAMS, TOWERING PINES — The majestic beauty of purple-hued mountains lined in towering pines and cool streams, is the theme Arthur Friebis tried to carry out in this mural depicting a section of the Rocky Mountains. The clapboard siding of Friebis' breezeway gives a rippled effect to the mural and caused some difficulty in painting the scene.

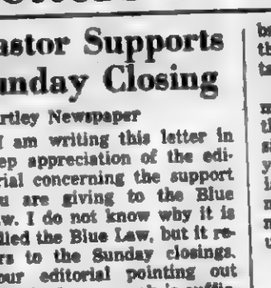
Letters To The Editor

Pastor Supports Sunday Closing

Hartley Newspaper

I am writing this letter in deep appreciation of the editorial concerning the support you are giving to the Blue Law. I do not know why it is called the Blue Law, but it refers to the Sunday closings. Your editorial pointing out that six days a week is sufficient time to make any purchase is so true and, unless the spiritual life of our people is invigorated and impressed upon the people with the place that God plays in the life of the individual in the home and of our greatness as a nation, we are afraid, because we know that God and God alone has built us up and brought us to this day. We feel that stands such as you have taken should be commended.



Again may those who are moulding the opinions and thoughts of our people take a similar stand such as the one you have taken in your editorial. May they continue to mount as we work together to make this nation even greater under God.

Yours in His Service
Levon A. Shaum,
Pastor, Livingston Methodist Church.

Barret 'Poster' System Honored

Barrett Junior High School's new system of special scholarship recognition was featured in a salute to the school Tuesday evening on the television show "Juvenile Judge."

Barrett's Student Council launched the new program last September. During each six-week grading period, a poster is on display showing pictures of the top scholarship students in the school for the period. Pictures of two students from each class are used on the poster.

This tribute to scholarship is encouraging pupils to try for better grades and is most effective, according to a school spokesman.

Sewers Are Built When Needed, Declares Sewage Chief

By Dave Hess

Columbus Chief Sewerage Engineer Carl Schoene said last week that "Up to now there hasn't been enough need expressed in old Marion Township to justify the construction of any particular sanitary sewer subtrunks in the area."

He explained that sanitary sewer officials acted on a policy of need—plus available finances—in determining when and where sewer lines should be constructed.

General Survey

Schoene went on to say that a general survey of the entire area—which sewerage engineers refer to as Marion No. 3—would be required to determine suitable locations for subtrunks. Subtrunks down to and including 18 inches are financed with city funds on a non-assessment basis. Lateral lines leading into the subtrunks are usually paid for on an assessment basis.

The engineer reported that extensions to Marion subtrunk No. 3, which runs south on Parsons-av, are in the study stage, and nothing definite has been decided. He said one extension might probe south to Williams-rd, then turn eastward toward the Norfolk and Western Railroad, and westward to the pumping station on the Scioto River. Another extension would turn eastward at Hilock-rd, then northward in the Fairwood-av neighborhood toward Refugee-rd, possibly extending as far as Refugee. The Bellview addition in the Koebel and Lewis-rds vicinity may also be slated for a subtrunk.

Difficult Problem

Schoene said one of the most difficult problems facing sewer engineers was intelligently planning an efficient system for the whole area when only small segments could be developed at a time. This was especially so, he added, because of large tracts in the Marion No. 3 area which are still rural lands, not requiring sanitary sewers. Later development of these tracts for housing also complicates matters in that city engineers cannot always anticipate the locations and/or the needs of prospective subdivisions for sewer purposes.

In summation Schoene said, "Detailed drawings have been made already for one subtrunk and studies presently indicate that some additional subtrunks which have not yet been drawn up will be needed. Further study probably will show that even more subtrunks will be needed for that area."

10-15 Years

He stated that engineers were doing the best they could for the area, under the circumstances, and for the residents of the recently annexed territory not to expect miracles. The office had previously reported that it would probably be 10-15 years before the entire sewerage system would b complted for Marion No. 3.

Evidently, most Marion No. 3 residents agree with the city agency's analysis of the situation, because only three petitions seeking sanitary sewer facilities have been submitted to sewer engineers. Schoene, himself, says he only directly knows of one, but was informed that two more exist.

Council Of South Side Organizations Makes Plans For Local 1959 Projects

If the large attendance last Thursday at the first 1959 meeting of the Council of South Side Organizations is any indication of community interest, then residents of the area can expect to see the group support some fine local affairs and improvement projects.

The business meeting dealt primarily with plans for the coming year although some "old business" was transacted. Included in the latter was the approval of a $900 purchase of tumbling and gymnastic equipment of Schiller Recreation Center.

The money will be taken from Schiller's "Coke-Fund," of which the council is the trustee. Parallel bars, horizontal bars, parts for flying rings, and a trampaline bed and parts are included in the purchase.

As Jerry Fedderson, of the City Recreation Department, pointed out, more interest is shown in tumbling and gymnastics at Schiller than in any other center in the city. Classes are even operated for adults now. The council seemed to be in agreement that the project is a worthy purchase in the interest of this community's youth.

1959 Projects

During the coming year, CSSO plans to try and work out an arrangement with other civic and service clubs in the South Side to prevent important meetings from conflicting with each other.

Paul Stecker, of 1896 Fairwood-av, representing the Marion-Franklin Citizens' Association in the council, was named Thursday night as the chairman of the annual CSSO Fourth of July celebration.

The council is still studying the proposed new housing code and seemingly still feels in favor of supporting the code. William Neno, of the Marion-Franklin Citizens' group, plans to attend a public meeting concerning the code as a CSSO representative.

Plans are also being laid by the council to sponsor a meeting of elementary school principals in the South Side. The group will be asked to elect two representatives to CSSO. However, the representatives will have to be male principals. CSSO is strictly a male organization (and members seem to be agreement to keep it that way).

In the discussion stage, is the possibility of CSSO sponsoring a Community Night at either Jet Stadium or South

Class Speakers Named At South

Class speakers for the South High School January graduating class of '59 are Peggy Kovaleski and Charles Baker. The commencement exercises will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 28, in the school auditorium.

Peggy, who lives at 333 Jenkins-av with her mother and two brothers, has chosen "Seek Truth and Beauty" as her message to her fellow classmates. "The Eleventh Commandment" is the topic Charles will speak on for the evening. He lives at 976 Eaton-av, with his parents and sister.

These two students were chosen to speak at commencement because of their high scholastic average.

Council Try Is Slated By Hoermle

South Side businessman William P. Hoermle announced last week that he will be a Democratic candidate for nomination to City Council at the May primary election.

Hoermle, whose right to hold a council seat is currently being contested in the Ohio Supreme Court, was appointed last October by Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner to fill the vacancy created by the death of Wesley Llewelyn.

In a previous attempt to win a council seat, Hoermle was defeated 12 years ago at the polls.

Others who have declared their candidacy for council are Russell M. Jones, 1293 Franklin-av, Richard J. McQuade, 461 Brevoort-rd, and Robert C. Slatser, 692 S. Wayne-av.

Hoermle's announcement came just before Hilltop Republican Councilman W. Ralston Westlake revealed his candidacy for the city mayoralty post.

Golden Age Club Plans Pot-Luck Dinner, Tuesday

Schiller Park's Golden Age Club will have a pot-luck dinner and meeting on Jan. 20, at 11:30 a. m. at Schiller Recreation Center. It is hoped all members will attend and bring a casserole dish.

This club of people who are over sixty years of age has been working hard on several service projects. They made covered boxes for the patients at the State Hospital and wrapped all the presents given to the children at Schiller's Christmas party. Also, some toys were made and delivered to the youngsters at Children's Hospital.

The meetings are held on the first and third Tuesday of each month, with the second and fourth Tuesdays for the projects.

The membership will welcome all new members.

Some 200 teachers and friends in Franklin County who had worked with Beery over the years, attended the affair to pay recognition to the former Franklin County School superintendent.

Beery, who retired from the post October, 1958, after serving as superintendent for 34 years, was popular with his colleagues and a school was even named for him, George C. Beery Junior High School.

J. J. Rychner, president of the Franklin County Education Association, planned the dinner and program. Paul Carmack, Ohio State University professor, was the toastmaster.

The following former associates of Beery commented on various phases of the educator's carreer; E. R. Beck, assistant Franklin County School superintendent; Loretta Zettler, former music teacher now teaching at Smith Road Elementary School; Orin Breckenridge, research director of the South Western Local School District; Martha Hall, teacher at South Franklin Elementary; and John W. PRINTING INDUSTRY HOLDS SPOTLIGHT

Throughout the country, a great industry is basking in the national spotlight this week. Various graphic arts industries, sixth largest in the country, are now observing International Printing Week. This annual program appropriately coincides with the birthday anniversary of Benjamin Franklin, one of the most famous American printers.

As one of the nation's great industries, printing is worth more than a casual thought, for the impact of print on the advancement of civilization is greater than we realize.

Printing is the communicative guide of every person from birth to death—it is inseparable from our daily lives. To commermorate this most important art and flourishing industry, Jan. 11-17 has been designated as Printing Week.

The International Association of Printing House Craftsmen have set aside this week to celebrate the birth of Benjamin Franklin, their patron saint, on Jan. 17, and to publicize the tremendous importance of printing in our modern world.

Printing today is the media that enters every profession and human endeavor—its services build and sustain business, political and artistic progress. Printing broadens the scope of everything it touches—it clarifies, enlightens, informs, warns, instructs.

During Printing Week, therefore, let us stop to consider its importance and its meaning—and let us pay tribute to those of the printing industry in the United States, Canada and Hawaii who keep the presses rolling!

SURE SIGN OF SPRING

BIBLE COMMENT

Psalms Hit All Of Man's Experiences

Only as one reads the Psalms in their entirety can one grasp the depth and immensity of their exploration of every mood and emotion of which the human soul is capable, and their reaction to every experience that mankind has known.

Here are portrayed souls in the very heights of exultation and religious ecstacy, dwelling on the mountains, with the clear view of God, and the full inspiration of His prescience.

Here, too, are souls crying out of the depths of despair, and finding light in the valley of darkness.

Here is realism in the face of suffering and persecution, and the designs and hatred of enemies.

And, above all, realism in the face of change and decay, and the grimness of death itself.

In the Psalms there is to he found the voice of friendship and fellowship, the pilgrim songs of those who through life are journeying and worshiping together.

From the opening Psalm to the closing Psalm, with its typical song of praise, the Psalms move in the rich areas of natural and human experience.

Hoped for: a balanced federal budget in fiscal 1960, pegged at some 77 billion dollars, without a general tax increase. That's the word from the White House.

TAX FACTS

Careful Consideration Wise In Choosing Right Tax Form

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Ohio Society of Certified Public Accountants, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

If you are one of the millions of American taxpayers who spends the lion's share of his income feeding, clothing, housing and entertaining his family, chances are there is very little you can do to reduce your 1958 federal income tax bill—but you owe it to yourself to try.

First of all, decide which of the two individual tax forms you are going to use to report your income. If you choose the wrong one, you may automatically cut yourself off from a possible tax savings.

The easiest way to file is to use the simple 1040-A Form. It's a card the size of a check, on which you answer a few simple questions and have the choice of either computing your own tax or letting the Government do it for you.

You are permitted to use the card form if your gross income consisted only of wages, dividends or interest totaling less than $10,000, and if you did not have more than $200 of gross income apart from that listed on your W-2 withholding slips.

Facts to Consider

Before deciding to use the card Form 1040-A, you should consider these facts:

1. Your tax will be figured from a table which allows you a deduction of about 10 percent of your income instead of itemized deductions for contributions, taxes, interest paid, medical and dental expenses, etc.

2. There is no provision in this form for filing as the "head of household," as a surviving spouse" or for claiming special credits for dividends and retirement income.

If you are sure that these two points would not cost you any tax savings, and your income is within the limits for filing a Form 1040-A, you might as well use this simple card form.

Whether to Itemize

When you elect to use the regular Form 1040, you still must decide whether to itemize deductions or take the standard deduction which usually amounts to about 10 percent of your income or $1,000 whichever is less. Generally, you will save by itemizing deductions if you:

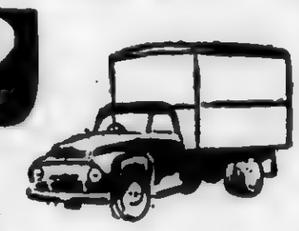
(1) Own real estate
(2) Had unusual medical expenses
(3 Had deductable child-care expenses
(4) Suffered losses from fire, storm, accident or theft
(5) Made fairly large charitable contributions

If you are supporting a dependent, although you are unmarried, you may be able to qualify as a "head of household" and figure your tax on a special table that gives you part of the advantage enjoyed by married couples filing joint returns.

You may qualify for a "head of household" status if you provide more than half the support of a parent and more than half the cost of maintaing the parent's household even if the parent does not live with you. You cannot claim a "head of household" status if you file a Form 1040-A.

The 1040 Form is arranged again this year so that a taxpayer whose income was entirely from wages needs to use only the first one or two pages. Pages three and four are for other types of income and for computing the special credits for dividends and retirement income.

The instructions which come with your tax forms give further information on how to select the correct tax form. Help is also available from the Internal Revenue Service.



Farm buildings of the future must be efficient and easily adaptable to a changing agriculture, say Ohio State University agricultural engineers.

The Gadabout

Priscilla LaRue Lowe
HI. 4-1661

Our ailing list is well populated at this time, to our sorrow. Those we know about are Mrs. Roy Stout, 296 Stewart-av, who was hospitalized, but is home now. John Keller, 307 Stewart-av, who is currently in Room 253, St. Anthony's Hospital.

George Swisher, 27 W. Gates-st, is another hospital convalescent. All the Claffey children (494 E. Beck-st) have had the chicken pox, and the youngest, Lila Lee, had her first birthday on Jan. 7, during the family's illness. Mrs. Deffenbaugh, 343 Mithoff-st, was in Mercy Hospital last week.

Heard about some new young 'uns whose parents no longer are South Siders, but thought that former neighbors might be interested in the arrivals. Mr. and Mrs. William Conner had their second boy on Dec. 16. The proud maternal grandparents are August and Margaret Krause, 578 E. Gates-st. Larry and Jane Rumsey, who are expecting to return to Columbus as residents soon, welcomed their second youngster on Nov. 3. The new one is a girl, to make a well-rounded family. (The first one is a boy.)

Haven't heard from anyone yet, but Judy and Roger Smith were awaiting a playmate for their little girl in December. The Smiths are residents of the northern part of the city now. (Judy's maiden name was Wycoff, so her former South High classmates will recognize her.)

Here's an appeal that we'll gladly pass along . . . the group making it does so much good. The Zone 6 Sunshine Comfort Club would appreciate getting new material suitable for their comforts. If anyone has any they would like to donate, call Mrs. James Colegrove, at HI. 4-4716.

It was with heavy hearts that the Women of the Moose, Chapter 206, served their weekly dinners last Wednesday, but troupers that they are, they continued on. Their chaplain, Vera Johnson, had passed on that morning. Mrs. Johnson had resided at 212 S. Grubb-st.

We were so happy to hear that Patti Hampton, 190 Jenkins-av, was the girl chosen to receive the American Legion Award at Barrett, since we've known her from the time she was knee-high to a grasshopper. She had previously won the Essay contest, so she is to be doubly congratulated. Her male partner in the award was Rolf Tischler, and he's a fine youngster too, naturally. Keep it up, Patti and Rolf.

Virginia Leonard should have undergone her surgery finally, after all these months of preparing for it. At the moment, we don't have her room number, but she is in Doctor's Hospital.

Mrs. Colvin and ye Gadabout have a problem . . . who needs magazines? Are there any groups that can use them? If so, call Mrs. Colvin at CA. 1-8373, or ye Gadabout. We're up to our necks in reading material . . . well, knee-high, anyway.

Birthday Wishes

January birthdays that should be acknowledged . . . James Colegrove, 1077 Bruck-st, Jan. 4; Diana Humes, 51 E. Southwood-av, Jan. 6; Sharon Rumsey, Jan. 19; Helen Fisher, Jan. 15; Beulah Clark, Jan. 13; Betty Justus, 1447 Wilson-av, Jan. 17; Jewel Castle, 85 E. Moler-st, Jan. 19; and two we're not sure about the dates, Lona Schwartz and Laura Armentrout.

South's Bulldogs travel to Springfield this Saturday and entertain West on Tuesday Jan. 20. Capital's basketball team travels to Kenyon tonight and have an "at home" this Saturday, playing Mt. Union College.

PTA news for the week . . . Dr. Calvin Kitchen will address Heyl-av PTA members at 7:30 tonight. His topic will be "Your Eyes Are Precious Gems." St. Leo's PTA will view slides taken on the Eureopean trip of Rev. Ralph Huntzinger. Classrooms open at 7:30, the meeting at 8 p.m.

Eighty-two Christmas boxes were given to State Hospital patients by women's classes of the Southwood Church of Christ, at the Yule season.

Kiddies born under the Capricorn sign are: Susan Poczik, 133 E. Hinman-av, Jan. 17; Jeffrey Henry, 327 E. Moler-st, Jan. 20; Jerry Waugh, 79 Woodrow, Jan. 16; Larry Bowen, 1522 S. High-st, Jan. 19; Ralph Lambert, 80½ Woodrow-av, Jan. 21; Richard Poczik, 133 E. Hinman-av, Jan. 21; Paul Hahnert, 146 Innis, Jan. 13; Robert Townsend, 104 Innis, Jan. 20; Bonnie Dean, Jan. 16; Ida Marcum, 195 E. Moler-st, Jan 16; Sarah Meyers, 141 Morrill-av, Jan. 21; Norma Marcum, 195 E. Moler-st, Jan. 19; Daniel Robinson, 385 Morrill-av, Jan. 30; Lonnie Williams, 1515 S. High-st, Jan. 17 and Merline Maynard, 387 E. Markison-av, Jan. 13.

Our sympathy to Madeline Oakley, 233 Frebis-av, whose death by a hot-rodder, as he was brother-in-law was crushed to helping a neighbor extricate his car from a ditch. The accident occurred right before Christmas in Warren, O. Sympathy also to the family of Woodrow Woods, who passed away last week.

Don't forget the weekly Wednesday dinners at the Moose Hall, 33 W. Sycamore-st.

Club News

Club activities for the week . . . The Links of the South Side Settlement House will convene at Bexley Methodist Church on Wednesday, Jan. 21 at 7:30 p.m. Rabbi Jerome Folkman will be the guest speaker. Betty Frye Dumaree will present a vocal program, accompanied by Mrs Mildred Burch. The two hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. James Leonard and Mrs. Robert Williams.

Parten Club meets for a noon luncheon today at Balcony Hall. Maree Social Club of Southern Way Chapter 467 will have a 12:30 luncheon today, followed by the installation of officers at South Gate Temple, 850 Studer-av. Mrs. Mabel Ohde will be hostess.

Southway Unit 144, American Legion Auxiliary, will hold a business and social meeting Friday, Jan 16, at 8 p.m., at the Post Home, 874 S. High-st. The evening will be concluded with a round table discussion of questions and answers on legislation at the open meeting. Guest speakers will be Mrs. Edward Dellenbach and Judge Advocate William C. Bryant. Cloverleaf 23, will meet at 8:30 p.m. Jan. 20. Hostess will be Mrs John Reichert, 1147 Champion-av. The Schiller Park Golden Age Club will hold the monthly potluck on Jan. 20. The Schiller Park group will be the host club for a city-wide meeting soon. The theme of this Columbus meeting will be "Around the World in 80 Days."

A marriage-to-be and one that's reached the half-century mark are among today's items. Betty Cordle, 274 E. Morrill-av and Charles Walker, 280 E. Kossuth-st, will exchange their Jan. 17 vows in Washington-av EUB Church. The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hess, 581 E. Moler-st, will be marked with an open house, Sunday, Jan. 18, from 2 to 5 p.m. Their wedding took place on Jan. 16, 1909, in Londonderry, O. Mrs. Homer Heil and Howard E. Hess are the daughter and son of the celebrants. Two grandchildren are also included in the family group.

A notice to room representatives and executive board members of South High School . . . change your calendar date from Jan. 29 to Jan. 30 for the school potluck. Conflicts with other affairs made the change necessary, so please circle Jan 30.

Rev. Faust calls it SOG, so we'll welcome Faye and Fred Grace, 737 Hanford-st into the group; "Society of Grandparents." The little one who made possible their admittance into this select group is the six pound ten ounce girl born last Saturday, Jan. 10 in White Cross Hospital, to Mr. and Mrs. Mike Shields, 929 S. Hampton.

The new Miss Shields made lots of changes in plans . . . her mother was to be honor guest at a shower this weekend and the grandparents Grace planned some redecorating before bringing "mama and baby" home for a few weeks. She also wanted her own date, for had she waited one day more, she would have been born on her parents sixth wedding anniversary!

1958 Jets Went To Bat For Many Youth Groups

The Columbus Jets, continuing to carry forward the principles under which the club was founded four years ago, distributed a sizable amount of money through the Columbus Youth Foundation this week to 24 worthwhile organizations in Columbus and Central Ohio.

As a result of the four best years (attendance-wise) in the history of a Columbus baseball club, the Jets have annually been able to financially aid worthy organizations and at the same time bring closer the final payment on the W. Mount-st stadium.

An even greater outlay will be possible to such groups after the stadium is paid for, club officials said.

Six of the groups receiving direct financial aid from the Youth Foundation this week, also aided themselves additionally through the sale of Jet Badges. The Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts of Central Ohio, the Boys' Club, the Catholic Youth Bureau, the Jewish Center and the YMCA raised an additional $15,000 in this way.

The ball club, itself, realizes no financial reward from the sale of the 50-cent badges that entitle any youngster, accompanied by an adult, to admission to more than 50 games during the [illegible].

"Special" days and nights at the stadium provided other groups the opportunity to raise money.

Among local community groups that benefited from the Youth Foundation in 1958 are: Columbus Jewish Center, Gladden Community House, Hilltop YMCA and the South Side Day Nursery, the South Side Settlement House, South Side YMCA, and the West Side Boys' Club.

Southway Unit Auxiliary Plans Law Discussion

Southway American Legion Auxiliary Unit 144, will hold its business and social meeting at the Post Home, 874 S. High-st, Friday, Jan. 16, at 8 p. m. Mrs. Ollie F. Goodall, Unit President, will be the presiding officer.

January being Legislation Month, the evening will be concluded with a round table discussion of questions and answers on legislation. It is an open meeting and each member is asked by our Unit Legislation chairman, Mrs. Harold Backus, to bring a non-service connected friend to the meeting for we know they will get a lot of benefit and good points from it as well as our veterans do.

The guest speakers will be the American Legion Auxiliary's 12th District president, Mrs. Ed F. Dellenbach and the American Legion's 12th District judge advocate, William C. Bryant. They will close the meeting by explaining "How a Thought Becomes a Bill and How a Bill Becomes a Law."

Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Leola Newport, chairman, and Mrs. Mary Ruth Sauter, co-chairman.

"The pleasantest things in the world are pleasant thoughts; and the great art of life is to have as many of them as possible." Keep piling them up by reading good books from the Columbus Public Library.

Recreation Spot Offers Art, Craft For All Children

Many small fry are enjoying the fun of making things, both useful and ornamental, in the Arts and Crafts department at Schiller Recreation Center.

Papercraft, such as sculptor, drawing, painting, crepe paper, raffia and mache are offered almost daily. Gimp bracelets and lanyards, basketry, weaving and embroidery at least once a week.

With the 103rd general assembly of Ohio convening this month, League of Women Voters throughout Ohio are vitally interested in some of the legislation to be enacted, because it parallels some of their group studies.

The January meetings of the units will give answers to these questions, as well as help make the daily news reports from the state house more intelligible, as they review "legislative process" at the unit meetings.

Review Of Purpose

During the meeting, the primary purpose of the council was reviewed. "The Council of South Side Organizations is composed of representatives of all constructive agencies in the community interested in prompting the study of community problems and by a systematic agitation through the press and otherwise, to create a public sentiment for the establishment and development of wholesome agencies in the community; to secure increased benefits for the South Side and to bring into closer coordination, all constructive agencies in the community.

"Also the Council aims to aid in the development of better living conditions in the south section of Columbus, such as housing, law enforcement, safety and welfare; to aid in any matters that will promote civic betterment in our community."

The council intends to strive for a greater membership and community representation this year. All organizations interested in supporting the above statements are most cordially invited to join.

Food Markets This Week

by Mrs. Estelle B. Franks

Fruits — grapefruit, oranges, apples, bananas.

Vegetables — cabbage, cello packed greens, potatoes, celery, canned or frozen peas.

Protein Foods — pork loin roasts, frozen fish fillets, fryers, large eggs.

CONSUMERS TO BE HELPED

Two new laws designed to aid consumers all over the United States became effective Jan. 1.

One law concerns food additives. All colorings, flavoring, preservatives and the like that are added to processed foods must be approved by the Federal Food and Drug Commission before they are used.

Perhaps you thought there was a law to that effect already? There has been a law prohibiting the use of harmful substances in foods. But it was the Federal Food and Drug Commission that had to find and prove that the substance was "harmful."

Now the burden of proof has been shifted to the manufacturer or processor. Before anything is added to food in processing, like drying, canning or freezing, the processor must prove that the "anything" he is about to add is not harmful.

What about additives already in use? Under the new law processors must have obtained in advance approval of all additives they use. During the past year they have been busy doing just that.

Poultry Products Inspection Act is the other new law now in effect. In brief, it requires inspection and approval of plant and facilities for poultry slaughter and individual inspection by a government inspector of each bird for wholesomeness at the time of slaughter.

The law applies to all birds shipped across state lines. Most of the poultry you buy in Ohio will be inspected under this act.

The Inspection Stamp is a circle containing the words "Inspected for wholesomeness by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture." It only indicates that the bird was killed under sanitary conditions and passed as wholesome food. Do not confuse it with a grade stamp that may also be on the bird.

The Federal Grade Stamp, which is shield shaped, tells the quality (U.S. Grade A, B, or C). Poultry may carry the grade mark only if it has been inspected for wholesomeness. If you buy ready-to-cook poultry bearing this mark you are assured of a high-quality, wholesome product.

News 'n' Notes of Camp Fire Girls

Mrs. Paul Lenox

The Columbus and Franklin County Council of Camp Fire Girls, Inc., will hold its annual dinner Thursday, Jan. 15, at 6:30 p.m. at the Youth Center of the Ohio State Fair Grounds.

On Jan. 20, from 1 to 3 p.m., at South Methodist Church, members of the South East District will hold their meeting. The main business to be discussed will be the Birthday Project. On the program agenda will be a panel discussion, "Problems of Girls and Leaders."

Congratulations are in order for the secretary of the Camp Fire office, Pat Balthaser. On Dec. 27 she will become Mrs. Ronald Gromelski. Joan Emswiler, of the staff, will be leaving to prepare herself for the role of mother of a future Blue Bird or Cub Scout, as the case may be.

Deborah Rowland, who has served as a volunteer, and who has also worked with the day camp program, will replace Mrs. Emswiler.

Plans Complete—

of the Columbus Board of Education, Paul Langden.

Recognition of the many volunteer leaders serving with the YMCA organizations will be done in groups.

Highlights of the evening will be the musical entertainment to be provided by the Optimist Junior Boys' Glee Club, boasting nearly 50 young voices. The locally famous "Dogpatchers" will provide some comic moments in music.

Equipped with a variety of homemade and professional musical instruments, the "Dogpatchers," all employes of the Ohio Fuel Gas Company, started the comedy group seven years ago and have grown to the extent of an average three appearances a week. The group is made up of Jim Cheney, Bill Headley, Al Hinderman, Fred Huddleston and Danny Robinette.

The quintet has appeared before farm and church groups and service clubs, as well as over almost all of Ohio Fuel's 50-county territory for company affairs. They always leave their audience gasping with laughter with their comic hillbilly antics.

BECK TO HONOR PATROL

Beck Street School PTA will honor the school's Traffic Patrol Wednesday, Jan. 21, at 7:30 p.m. Officer Steve McDonald of the Columbus Police Court, will be the guest speaker. He will show the film "A Day in Court."

Barrett Tips Roosevelt, Starling In Cage Bouts

Barrett Junior High School had a good week ending Thursday, Jan. 9. On Tuesday, Jan. 6, Barrett high-scored Roosevelt by a comfortable margin. This was not a league game. On Thursday, Jan. 8, in a league game, Barrett won over Starling by another good margin.

Ferd Gaulke scored high in both games. Gerald Martin was high point man in the Starling game. Besides his scoring effort Martin played an excellent game both in rebounding and in floor work.

GREAT SOUTHERN BUSINESS

Children's Proper Shoe Fit Is Crosby Store Specialty

Crosby Shoe Store, Great Southern Shopping Center, has a beautiful interior accented in modern decor to match the quick, efficient and personal service offered by its friendly clerks.

Joseph Donaldson

Joseph Donaldson, the new manager, prefers to call the shop a "family shoe store." He said, "we take great pains in properly fitting all our customers and special care in fitting children's shoes." The store carries a complete line of shoes for the whole family plus hose and handbags for women.

Donaldson has been with the Great Southern branch of the company for six months. This is his first experience in working in a shopping center and he seems enthusiastic about this type of retailing.

A native of Newark, O., Donaldson has been working for the shoe firm a total of three years, the bulk of which was in Crosby's branch in Newark, known as the Newark Bargain Shoe Store. He is single, has attended Ohio State University and served two years in the Army.

Great Southern's Crosby store employs five persons, all of whom are trained in giving a proper fit to their customers. For the "hard-to-fit," the manager said every effort is made to acquire the right shoe for each individual's foot problem. "If we don't have it in stock, we order it from some other firm," commented Donaldson.

Donaldson feels the shoe business is one of the most personalized forms of retail selling. "You get to know your customers well and learn from them," he said. "For instance" he pointed out, "women are not nearly so hard to fit as you might think. They take more pains in properly fitting their youngsters than they do themselves."

Tennis is the favorite pastime of Donaldson. However, he is engaged to be married soon and most of his spare hours are spent in planning for the big day.

New Board Members Are Installed At Annual 'Y' Dinner

SWORN IN—Eight men were sworn in as board members of the South Side Branch, YMCA, during the Y's 41st annual dinner Monday evening, held at St. Paul E. and R. Church, 225 E. Gates. Paul Langdon, far left, past president of the Columbus Board of Education, gave the oath of office to the new members. Taking office are, front row, left to right, R. W. Olson, O. R. (Jim) Woodyard, Jr., Ed Findley, and William Fornof. Back row, Ed Becker, Fred Erfurt, Lloyd Perry and Norman E. Gatsch.

Entertainment Is Topflight During Yearly Banquet

Topflight entertainment and the installation of 1959 board members were high spots in the 41st annual dinner of the South Side branch, YMCA, which was held last Monday evening at St. Paul E. and R. Church.

The Junior Optimist Boys' Glee Club performed flawlessly under the direction of director Paul Ward. Comic relief was added with the appearance of the "Dog Patchers," a pseudo-hillbilly combo which satirized musically on the rigors of life of "genyuwine" mountain men.

Installation

Preceding the entertainment was the installation of the new board members for '59. Three incumbents remain with the board this year. They are E. F. Baker, superintendent of the auditing department, Ohio Inspection Bureau; Norman E. Gatsch, Gatsch Insurance Agency; and R. W. Olson, salesman with Investors Diversified Services.

New members elected to this year's board include: Fred Erfurt's Market; William R. Fornof, president and manager of P. Fornof and Sons; and Lloyd K. Perry, president of Smith-Dodson Lumber Co.

Two other members were appointed to the board: Ed Findley, partner in Foregin Grocery Co.; and Omar R. (Jim) Woodyard, Jr., vice-president, O. R. Woodyard Co.

Recognition was also given the program committee which planned the dinner. The committee was comprised of chairman Rowland Hepner, Don Lund, Dr. Ray Leupp and Joe Davis.

The following groups were acknowledged during the affair for their parts in making the Columbus "Y" program possible: Community Program Council, made up of ministers and representatives of the churches; Marion District Young People's Council; Community Center Committee; Church Bowling League; Principals and advisors of the Gra-Y, Jr. Tri-Hi-Y and Sr. Hi-Y; Council of South Side Organizations; Downtown Optimist Boys Glee Club Committees; and the Teen Age Council.

C. J. Dyer, general executive of Columbus Metropolitan YMCA, gave a report on the progress of the Capital Funds Drive to the 235 persons attending the banquet. Capital Funds Drive is the campaign directed towards gaining the necessary finances for a new YMCA building.

Beef, Beer And 'Butts'

Cops Nab Burglar Suspects

FORCIBLE ENTRY—Sgt. James Faris of Columbus Police Dept. shows jagged hole in front door of the Southwood Market, 208 Southwood-av, which he says a burglar entered, then admitted two compatriots through the rear door to burglarize the grocery. Three men held for the burglary, one a father of seven, claimed families were hungry and needed the food. Three sides of beef, cigarettes and beer were taken, say police.

Dad Of Seven One Of Three Caught In Store

City police, tipped off by a neighbor lady whose suspicions were aroused by a broken tail-light, swooped down on three men who officers say forcibly entered a market on Southwood-av early Tuesday morning, and attempted to make off with 230 pounds of meat, cigarettes and an undisclosed amount of beer.

Police are holding on suspicion of burglary James Litteral, 32, 271 S. Washington-av; his brother-in-law, Willis Harper, same address; and Harold Andrews, 27, 265½ Miller-av. They allegedly broke into the Southwood Market, 208 Southwood-av, and had loaded their automobile with three sides of beef, 21 cartons of cigarettes and the beer before police apprehended them in the act.

12 Children

Detective Ralph Culp of the burglary squad said Litteral was the father of seven children, and Harper, the father of five. Both men live with their families at the Washington-av address. Culp said neither man was employed, although the third suspect, Andrews, was engaged in construction work.

Culp said the only explanation the suspects gave for the incident was that their families were hungry, they were out of work and needed the food.

It was the third time in three months the market, owned by brothers Lawrence (Mike) and Robert Hartman of Groveport had been robbed. Mrs. Lorna Borror, operator of the market, said the store was burglarized

Mothers' March Chairmen Are Named For South Side

Two South Side women were appointed chairmen of their respective districts for the 1959 Mothers' March as district mothers prepare to launch their annual fund drive on polio, arthritis and birth defects, next week.

Mrs. Joseph H. Banks, Jr., 2064 Rathmell-rd, and Mrs. Thomas White, 816 E. Fulton-st, will lead volunteer workers against the dread diseases in this area.

The appointments were announced by Mrs. Mary Jane Powell, Franklin County chairman of the Mothers' March. The two-hour long March will take place here on Jan. 29 from 7 to 9 p.m.

During the March, mothers in all sections of the county will call on their neighbors for contributions to launch the National Foundation's expanded program.

The success of the Mothers' March, climaxing the March of Dimes, will determine the effectiveness with which the four-target attack on disease can be carried out. Polio and other virus dieseases, arthritis, birth defects and disorders of the central nervous system are the initial specific targets. Only by expanding our ranks and increasing volunteer participation in the Mothers' March can we hope to launch an effective attack in this broad field of battle.

During the March, home owners will be asked to contribute to the March of Dimes. Each marching mother will be responsible for visiting homes in her immediate neighborhood during the two-hour long March.

Fire departments were on special alert for dangers created by flooded furnaces, water heaters, etc.

At noon Wednesday the rain showed some signs of letup, after 14 hours of fall.

EUCHRE PARTY

St. Mary's PTA and PCCW will co-sponsor a euchre party Tuesday, Jan. 27, at 8:30 p.m. in the high school, 685 Mohawk-st.

Primary Battlefield Shifts To West Side

With a volley of endorsements, city political leaders last week drew up their November election attack plans with the Hilltop apparently chosen as the primary battleground.

Countering the Democrats' certain endorsement of incumbent Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner for reelection, the Republican Franklin County Central Committee tapped Hilltop motel and glass factory owner W. Ralston Westlake as their candidate for the city's chief political post.

The endorsement was made "unanimously and enthusiastically" at a Wednesday night meeting of the party's central committee held at the Fort Hayes Hotel.

Cites Westlake's Integrity

William Schneider, county Republican chairman, speaking for the committee said:

"His record in City Council, his proven knowledge of city affairs, his honesty and integrity and his desire to serve all the people of Columbus will win for him support from voters of all political parties and citizens of all walks of life."

A resident of 3294 W. Broad-st, Westlake is presently chairman of the Council Zoning Committee. Sensenbrenner lives at

South Side Pastors Back Sunday Ban

In a letter to Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner, South Side Ministerial Association said it unanimously approved the mayor's enforcement of Sunday closing laws.

The association met early last week, and after some discussion decided to forward the letter of confidence to Sensenbrenner. Most of the ministers, while commending the mayor's action, said the real trouble lies not so much in the merchants staying open on the Sabbath, but in the public dealing with the merchants during "God's Day." They agreed that it was one of their responsibilities as ministers to try to persuade their congregations not to deal with merchants on the day set aside for worship.

Said Rev. Paul Kaefer, pastor of the St. Paul E. and R. Church, "If people would refuse to go into such stores on Sunday, the merchants would have no reason to stay open. I think it's up to us to ask our church people not to patronize business places on the Sabbath."

Young art students are donating their time and natural gifts to the posters, hoping to help make the service a big success.

TAX FACTS

Look For Non-Taxable Items When Preparing Tax Forms

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Columbus Society of Certified Public Accountants, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service).

You may think that listing your income is the easiest part of preparing a tax return. Actually, according to the Internal Revenue Service, this is where taxpayers make the greatest number of errors.

Not all of the money that you sidered taxable income and it may have come to you during 1958 needs to be reported on your tax form. For example, don't report

(1) "Dividends" received on an insurance policy. They are considered merely a refund of part of the premium you paid

(2) Social Security benefits, Railroad Retirement Act benefits, or payments received under Workmen's Compensation laws.

(3) Property or cash gifts received from other people, although the giver may have to pay a gift tax. Tips and other compensation for services must be reported, however.

(4) Inheritances and bequests. The estate may be taxed, but not the recipient.

If you were injured and received damages, this is not considered taxable income. It makes no difference whether your damages were awarded by a court or settled out of court.

When listing income you can also forget about most government benefits to veterans and their families. Dividends paid on veteran's Government insurance is not considered taxable income, but non-disability retirement pay and the interest on terminal leave bonds must be included.

Sick Pay Benefits

If you were absent from work due to injury or sickness and received payments from your employer or his insurance company, these payments are nontaxable within these two limitations:

First, the maximum amount is $100 per week, plus any amounts which came from your own contribution to the plan.

Second, unless the absence was for sickness during which you were hospitalized for one day or a personal injury, the payments are not tax free until after the first seven calendar days of absence.

If these payments are included in the wages shown on your withholding slips, you should subtract the proper amount from your income in the place provided on the first page of the tax return (Form 1040). Attach an explanation as described in the official instruction book. You are entitled to exclude this amount even if you do not itemize deductions.

Rules on Prizes

There is an interesting rule on prizes. Generally all prizes and awards are taxable. However, prizes awarded for scientific, literary or other achievements without any action by you to bring about your selection, are not considered as taxable income to you. Most scholarships granted to college students are not taxable, and the value of the award does not have to be included in the student's contribution to his support.

The official instructions contain a list of the types of income which should or should not be included in your tax return. It is important to check this list carefully.

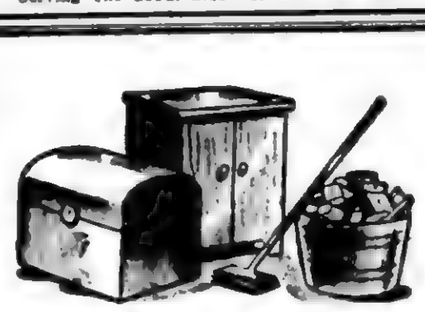
Joint Account — An account where one person does the depositing, the other the withdrawing.

Strictly Fresh

Spring is more a state of mind than a condition of weather, in these parts.

Simile: as unfunny as a so-called "practical" joke.

Fellow across the desk from us says he's the unluckiest man in the world. He won a five-pound box of caramels the same day he got his dentures.



Most fellers who are fired with enthusiasm usually have a lot of steam.

Most politicians needs to be air conditioned.

When a feller kin say: "My Secretary" he feels like a big shot.

South Siders Participate In Germany Exercise

Two South Side soldiers, Sergeant First Class Gordon R. Longmire and Pfc. James A. Berry recently participated in a field training exercise with the 8th Infantry Division's 8th Signal Battalion in Germany.

Longmire, a platoon sergeant in the battalion's Company B in Bad Kreuznach, entered the Army in 1945 and arrived in Europe in October 1956. The sergeant, 30, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Longmire, 500 Deshler-av.

Berry, a switch board operator in the battalion's Company B in Bad Kreuznach, entered the Army in May 1957, completed basic combat training at Fort Riley, Kan., and arrived in Europe the following January. The 21-year-old soldier, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Berry, 1183 Lockbourne-rd, is a 1955 graduate of Central High School and attended Ohio State University.

Here's the Answer

Abraham Lincoln Said:

"What constitutes the bulwark of our own liberty and independence? It is not our frowning battlements, or bristling seacoasts, our army and navy. These are not our reliance against tyranny. All of those may be turned against us without making us weaker for the struggle. Our reliance is in the love of liberty which God has planted in us. Our defense is in the spirit which prized liberty as the heritage of all men, in all lands everywhere. Destroy this spirit and you have planted the seeds of despotism at your own doors."

Food Markets This Week by Mrs Estelle B. Franks

Vegetables—potatoes, lettuce, celery, cabbage, canned tomatoes, frozen peas.

Fruits — orange, grapefruit, apples.

GET THE MOST FROM FROZEN FOODS

We are now in the season when the great variety of frozen foods available are truly appreciated. They offer convenience, food value and diversity in meals at the time fresh fods are more limited than in warmer months.

To get all the satisfaction possible from the frozen foods you buy, proper storage temperature, appropriate care and operation of storage space, and the effects of time and temperature on quality must all be considered.

At the Store—Notice whether frozen food cabinets are kept at zero degrees F. or lower, with easy-to-read indicators. Also notice if all frozen foods are kept below the fill line on the cabinet so that all items are effectively cold. Select from displays where these two conditions prevail. Tell your retailer if you get poor quality. Good merchandisers want to keep the quality of their foods high, and appreciate knowing about such failures. They can take corrective action in a hurry.

Read Labels Carefully—Check package size. Check package condition. Buy frozen foods last when shopping so they will be out of the freezer the shortest time from store to home refrigerator. Ask that they be put in double thickness or insulated bags.

Care of Frozen Foods at Home—If you have a freezing compartment in the refrigerator in which temperatures of near zero Fahrenheit may be maintained, frozen foods may be kept satisfactorily for several weeks, possibly up to three months. Frozen foods may be stored in the home freezer at zero or below temperatures up to one year. If your storage is limited to the ice cube compartment of the refrigerator where the temperature ranges from 10 to 25 degrees F., your probably should not try to keep frozen foods more than a week before using them.

FROZEN OZAHOE CONCENTRATE

Florida processors announced new pack prices last week for frozen orange concentrate. The new pack price is down somewhat from the high-priced short stocks of last year. This reduction in cost will probably be reflected in retail stores within the next two or three weeks.

GREAT SOUTHERN BUSINESS

Manager Of Harmony House Expects South Side To Grow

Reed Davis, manager of the Harmony House, at 105 Great Southern-blvd, in the Great Southern Shopping Center, believes that the South Side is in a state of progress and development.

Reed Davis

"As the South Side flourishes, the center will grow, and as the center expands, Harmony House will expand, "he stated.

Davis has been manager of the music shop in the shopping center for the past three years. He has one assistant, Jane Thompson and two part-time helpers.

He pointed out that teen-agers buy more popular type records than they do classical numbers. He also deals in record players and gift cards.

Davis thinks that the stereophonic sound boom has rejuvenated the record business, and he is looking forward to an even greater increase in purchases of this item.

"Stereo gives a better distribution of sound," he said.

His home town is New Lexington, O. Before he became manager of Harmony House he was a specialty salesman.

Davis is married and the father of five girls. "Me and Eddie Cantor," is the way he put it. He and Mrs. Davis have been married for 12 years.

Davis's hobbies include fishing, swimming and all types of water sports.

BIBLE COMMENTS:

Some Hated Accusations Jesus Made

It is always safe to speak against sin theoretically.

It is only when one gets down to personalities and cases that sinners get nasty and strike back.

In the vigorous denunciations of sin, Jesus got down to both personalities and cases.

When He spoke of hypocrisy He named the Scribes and the Pharisees, the then official representatives and established authorities of religion. He attacked their specific acts of hypocrisy and evil-doing.

Those who had not erred had no cause for resentment, but there were many to whom His words applied.

"He taught as them as one authority, and not as their Scribes." Those words mark a strange fact and a striking contrast.

The Scribes were officially and ostensibly the repository of authority, the interpreters of the law; yet here was a young man with no official standing, presuming to teach, and finding a response in the people who heard Him gladly.

But authority alone does not necessarily guarantee either honesty or efficiency in those who possess it.

The mistake that the Scribes made was twofold: first, in not being and doing what by their claim of authority they professed to be and do; second, in their failure to judge Jesus by what He was and did.

Their errors gave rise to their resentment.

Details of individual sessions are as follows:

Jan. 30 — "Treasures Unearthed": A get-acquainted tour of all public and non-public departments of the library, together with a sound-color film concerning library services and discussion.

Feb. 6 — "Both Sides of the Fence": A closer look at books for parents and pre-school children. Two patrons will describe their individual experiences with instructional books for parents and children's books, followed by a resume by Miss Lillian Skeels, Children and Young People's Librarian. Discussion, question and answer period. The session will cover the types of books of assistance to parents in such problems as the psychology of child-rearing, behavior, care and feeding and proper environment as well as to explore the many types of books for the non-reading pre-schooler.

Feb. 13 — "World of Sound": Featuring phonograph records for pre-school children and the rest of the family, too. Demonstration of music and talking book records for the pre-schooler, relation of books to records, music for the entire family, and specialized recordings such as language instruction and adult literature. Discussion of recommended books for the family on music and suggested recordings for various age levels. With the assistance of Miss Emily Logan, Fine Arts Librarian.

Feb. 20 — "Books, Paper and Paste": How mothers can teach handicraft to young children with the aid of library "how to" books. Mrs. William Lakin, library staff member who has conducted hundreds of story-craft sessions, will demonstrate teaching of simple crafts with the assistance of children of mothers attending. Discussion of recommended handicraft books suitable for use with young children.

Feb. 27 — "Wider Horizons": A discussion of how books can broaden the parent by opening new windows to adventure, recreation, relaxation, information and education. To be conducted by Miss Mary Hand, chief of the library Circulation Department.

Mar. 6 — "A Community of Interests": Showing how agencies other than the library stand ready to assist the parents of pre-school children. Panel members will include a representative from the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts, the City Recreation Department, and the United Community Fund. To be followed by a sound-color film, "Ohio USA", discussion, evaluation of entire workshop and concluding coffee break.

Participants will receive a number of booklists and bibliographies relating to each subject area under consideration.

City Okays Golden Age Housing, Recreation

SOMETHING NICE for older folks of the city who need low cost housing is on the drawing boards and was given the blessing of Columbus City Council Monday. This is an architect's presentation of a Senior Citizen's recreation center and public housing project to be built in the West Side. The $2.5 million project will rise on a 3.5 acre site bounded by McDowell and Gift-sts, Cherry-dr and Sunshine Recreation Center. Earmarked for persons in need, over 65 years of age, the residence will contain no less than 173 dwelling units. A 10-story structure is projected. Rentals would probably not exceed $35 a month, depending on size, said Harry Drake, of the Columbus Metropolitan Housing Authority. City's share of the costs will be about $250,000 and the first payment of $50,000 is to be put aside this year. The recreation center (right) would be a central meeting place for oldsters from all over the city, said N.J. Barack, city recreation director. CMHA is acquiring the land, and hopes to advertise for bids by fall. Completion target is in 1961.

Hello!
The majority of our work this past month has been for funerals. We are always sorry when one of our friends and customers has lost a loved one; but we know that a beautiful floral offering at this time brings comfort to the aching heart of the bereaved, and will express the sympathy we all find so hard to put into words. We, therefore, try to make each floral piece as fresh and tastefully designed as possible. We grow most of our own flowers, and make sure that those we buy are the freshest available. Give us a call the next time you need flowers . . . we will give your order our best attention.
Get well wishes to Beulah Smith, Erma Mae Barnes, Leroy Green, Mrs. Mary Toth, Elsie Pearson, Mrs. Bertha Stump, Mrs. Robert Sabo, Miss Rose Sandbrink and Frances Fritz . . . also, Cameron Kinkear, Mrs. Virginia Leonard, Hazel Moshier, Mrs. Dick Anderson, Mrs. Polly Sherritt, Mrs. Evelyn Martin. Congratulations on their golden wedding anniversary to Mr. & Mrs. Everett Hess . . . Congratulations also to Rev. & Mrs. Carl Dawson who have a new baby, and to Mr. & Mrs. James Bush, Ms. & Mrs. Carl Sexton, Mr. & Mrs. Richard Hett and Mr. & Mrs. John Faris, who have new baby daughters.

South Sider Jerry Green Electrocuted

Jerry Green, 634 E. Markison-av was electrocuted Thursday, Jan. 8, while repairing an air conditioning unit at DuPont Mylar plant two miles south of Circleville.

The 29-year-old father of four was employed as an air conditioning mechanic by the Julian Speer Co. of Columbus. According to Pickaway County coroner Raymond Carroll, Green apparently was trying to connect the unit up after repairs he and a fellow worker had just made. Plier marks were found on a wire carrying 420 volts.

Plant dispensary personnel attempted to revive Green for two hours after the accident.

Green's wife, Patricia, is expecting her fifth child in August. Besides his wife, Green is survived by three sons, Jerry, Jr., 6; Patrick, 4; and Daniel, 2; a daughter, Kathleen, 9; brother, John; sister, Mrs. Mary Lou Owen; and a half brother, Wayne Tillman.

He was a graduate of Barrett Jr. High and South High Schools, and was active in athletics in Columbus.

Funeral services were held at Woodyard Funeral Home. He was buried in St. Joseph Cemetery.

Nab Burglars—

last Nov. 12 and Dec. 4. The three men denied having any part in the preceding burglaries, however, and Detective Culp said evidence so far confirms their denial.

Broken Tail Light

The neighbor lady, whose identity was not disclosed, said she saw a car circling the block prior to the incident, and would not have noticed anything out of the ordinary had not one tail-light on the auto shone white. She recalled that the market had been robbed on two previous occasions and went to a rear window in her home, where she saw activity around the rear door of the store. She then phoned police who arrived on the scene about five minutes later.

Culp reported that in questioning the suspects Tuesday afternoon, he learned that Litteral and Harper had returned to Columbus from Baltimore about a week and a half ago. They said they had been working in the Maryland city, but left town when they ran into some legal difficulties. Culp said both men had served time for burglary in Maryland. They gave their occupation as plasterers.

No Trouble

Andrews, the youngest of the trio, had never been in serious trouble, said police.

Mrs. Borror said no cash was taken from the store. "All that was in the cash register, anyway, was $1.50 in pennies," she added.

Sgt. James Faris, who was at the scene of the burglary surmised the men broke the window out of the front door of the market, helped one man through the jagged hole, then he unlocked the rear door to let the other two in.

George C. Beery Honored By County Education Group

By Dave Hess

Franklin County Education Association payed tribute to its "elder statesman" last Wednesday night, reminding him that the banquet in his honor was not a farewell toast, but merely a token of its thanks for the many years service and instruction he put in as county superintendent of schools.

Over 200 county teachers gathered in the Ohio Union Ballroom at Ohio State University in a show of appreciation to George C. Beery, who resigned last September from the county school office after 34 years continuous service.

A Gentlemen

Many things about many times and places were said of Beery by numerous speakers during the program, but perhaps County Prosecutor Earl Allison summed it all up when he said, "It was always a profound pleasure to see a gentleman — and I emphasize, gentleman — day after day in the halls of the courthouse, serving so well the people of this county, especially its children." It was Allison who alluded to the gray-haired Beery as the "elder statesman" of Franklin County educators.

E. R. Beck, who served for three decades with Beery as assistant superintendent, doted on the creative and administrative ability of the retired educator, saying that there never was an obstacle which Beery seemed unable to overcome.

Breckenridge Speaks

Orin Breckenridge, former mayor of Grove City and Southwest School District educator, commended Beery on his tolerance and moral fiber, stating, "In the many, many years I have known George Beery, I've never heard him gossip. Nor

Awarded Plaque

J. J. Rychener, FCEA president, awarded Beery a plaque in recognition for his many years of service. Rychener commented on Beery's efforts in helping to establish the FCEA.

Other speakers were Loretta Zettler, Smith-rd School's elementary music teacher, who has worked closely with Beery for many years; and Martha Hall, from the Southwest District, who recalled many of the highlights of the 40 years she has known the former superintendent. Mrs. Zettler repeated the phrase which she says became a byword during Beery's time—"Mr. Beery's here, exerything is okay!" She said the phrase had been used from elementary classroom situations to high-level board of education meetings, signifying the respect and confidence people had for Beery in all phases of educational work.

Beery Speaks

After accepting the plaque from Rychener, Beery took the podium and in a brief address emphasized the need for teachers to belong to education organizations such as the FCEA. He said not only can teachers gain great personal benefit from such groups, but most importantly, they can learn what their colleagues are doing in furthering the technical and moral aspects of education.

Former Sen. John W. Bricker scheduled as principal speaker at the banquet, had to cancel out at the last moment due to illness.

Thomas J. Quick, while not on speakers' rostrum, was on hand to greet many of the banqueteers in his capacity as new superintendent of county schools.

Main-Federal, with offices at 24 E. Main-st and 891 S. James-rd, enjoyed a 10 percent increase in savings during 1958. Security-reserves for depositors were increased 13⅓ percent. Mortgage loans on homes increased more than 22 percent.

Patti Hampton, Bill Bugh Speak At Barrett Exercises

During Barrett Junior High School's graduation exercises Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 28, two of the several speakers will be members of the graduating class—Miss Patti Hampton and William Bugh.

Patti Hampton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Hampton, 190 Jenkins-av, came to Barrett from Southwood Elementary School three years ago. She has been active in the Future Teachers of America and busy as lunchroom worker, hall monitor, office helper and representative in the South Side Teen-Age Council. Recently she was chosen by vote of her schoolmates to receive the American Legion Citizenship medal, presented by Southway Post to the outstanding girl graduate of her school.

William Bugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Bugh, 478 Stewart-av, came from Siebert Elementary School three years ago and has an activity and service record which includes Barrett Student Council (president, 1958-59), South Side Teen-Age Council, Boys' Glee Club, entertainment in Barrett auditorium and at Central High School, and duty in Barrett's office, lunchroom and halls.

Both of these young people have records of high scholarship. They are Knights in the Court of Honor (an academic award). Their names are regularly on the Honor Roll, usually in the higher categories. Both have the approval of teachers and the respect and liking of classmates. They are worthy representatives and spokesmen for the student members of the graduation program.

Home Study Plan Pays Off For Girl

Columbus school system's home teacher program paid big dividends this week when a 15-year-old muscular dystrophy patient received her junior high diploma after long months of labored study.

Helen Shaffer, 2653 Parsons-av, was awarded the diploma by assistant superintendent C. L. Dumaree after successfully completing requirements for the city junior high school program.

Helen had been confined to her home since last March as a result of an unsuccessful operation to alleviate her partial paralysis. She lives with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Casto.

She studied with teacher William Barnetson, from Mohawk School, who spent about five hours each week tutoring her.

Her ailment, which doctors describe as not usually fatal, requires that she use crutches to walk. However, Helen will undergo another operation in about a month, which is hoped will ease her problem to the point where she can get around without artificial aids.

Girl Cage Play Is Underway

Both Intermediate and Senior Girls' basketball teams are in progress on Monday and Wednesday nights at Schiller Recreation Center in regular season league play.

In the Intermediate league, the Schiller team is leading with two wins and no losses. High scorer for Schiller is Linda Stevens with 20 points for the two games played.

Two teams are tied for first place in the Senior league. St. Mary's and the Aragonettes both list two wins and no losses. Becky Conner of St. Mary is leading scorer with 30 points for the two games.

The Schiller "Hot Shots" Junior girls team played and won their first game with Glenwood Recreation Center last Saturday.

Crafton Miller Will Retire At Gas Co.

Crafton Miller

Crafton J. Miller, 90 E. Gates-st, crew foreman for the Ohio Fuel Gas Company, will retire Feb. 1.

Miller, 65, has been in the natural gas business 37 years. He started in 1931 as a mechanic, and worked on pipeline construction in Indiana and throughout Ohio.

He was transferred to Ohio Fuel's Columbus District Plant department as an equipment operator in 1936. Later he became foreman of a crew extending gas service to new homes and industries in the Columbus area.

Miller is a member of Ohio Fuel's Quarter Century Club, and the Gasco Club.

Born in Ross County, he moved with his family to Columbus as a boy and attended Columbus public schools.

Action Hot In Church Loop Tilts

Action was the keynote of games played in the South Side "Y" Church Leagues last week.

In the Junior Circuit, St. Paul E. and R. continued its winning ways by easing past the small but aggressive Livingston Methodist cagers, while St. John E. and R. staged a brilliant second half comeback to eke out an 18-17 win over Emmanuel Lutheran. J. Middendorf's 11 points paced the Lutheran attack while J. D. Karns and Paul Hunt were the big guns in the Mound Streeters' victory.

In another thrill packed game Ohio Avenue EUB, making its initial start in league play, nosed out Prebis Church of God, 12-11.

In the Intermediate Division, Hungarian E. and R.'s Green Wave continued to roll on undefeated as they downed a real scrappy St. Paul E. and R. five, 55-40. Norman Woods led scorers with 21 points, but was closely followed by Harold Barton's 19. Accurate shooting from Stanley Robinson and Roger Donley on long shots kept the Saints in contention throughout the fray.

South Methodist displayed a well-balanced attack in scoring a 38-33 win over Gates-Fourth Methodist in the middle game of the evening's bill. Gates-Fourth scoring twins, Dick Peiplow (18) and Harvey Thompson (14) scored all but one of their team's total.

In the evening's final, Clair Chapel scored its second straight win by outscoring Oakwood Methodist, 27 to 18, in a match that found both teams having "off-nights" offensively. Clair's victory set the stage for its clash with Hungarian E. and R. next week for the league leadership.

Beery Jr. High; and Sue Feil, South High School, all members of the South Side YMCA Teen-Age Council, as they plan for their fifth annual roller skating party at Rollerland on Wednesday night, Jan. 28. The party is exclusively for the young people of South Columbus. Doors for the affair will open at 7 o'clock and skating will be from 7:30 to 10:30. Tickets are 40 cents each and will be available only from Council members at George C. Beery, Roosevelt and Barrett Junior High Schools; South and Marion-Franklin High Schools; and the South Side YMCA. No general admissions will be sold at the door.

Tight Cage Clashes Spotlight Schiller League Basketball

Basketball leagues at Schiller Recreation Center are developing into tight races, with well played games.

In the Monday Senior League the Skidrows won a squeeker from the Falcons by a score of 18-17. Al Jackson scored 12 points for the Falcons to pace scorers.

The Aces defeated the Six Hicks in a battle of unbeaten teams to claim first place by the score of 37-25. Tom Noble and Tom Lyle paced the Aces attack with 12 and 10 points respectively.

The Tuesday Senior League had two games on the docket with the Gunners nipping Obetz Business Men's Assn. 27-24 in the first game. Tim Brogy of Obetz scored 13 points.

In the second game the Celtics ran away from Margulis Dept. Store by a score of 54-30. Louis Byrd, Lewis Brown and Alton Harshaw of the Celtics dominated the game with 17, 12 and 11 points respectively. The Jokers, the other undefeated team, had a bye for the evening.

The night's best play was the Senior Church League on Thursday night. The first contest went right down to the wire with Jim Roberts making the winning basket with two seconds of play, giving the Aragons a victory over Corpus Christi, 41-40. George Campbell and Charles Carter paced the Aragons with 12 and 11 points respectively. Gus Burnett scored 10 points for Corpus.

The second game was a battle between the co-leaders with Terry St. Clair's basket, with two seconds left on the clock, deciding the game in favor of Wilson Avenue over Livingston Methodist by the score of 48-46. Don Bressler of Livingston paced the game scorers with 25 points. The balanced scoring of Wilson Avenue made the difference with Dick Johnston, Dick Minnear and Bob Click scoring 13, 10 and 12, respectively.

Final game of the evening pitted St. John's E&R against South Methodist in a game with the score tied at the end of the regulation time 24-24.

In the overtime period South Methodist pulled the game out of the fire by scoring on St. John's 7-4 for a final score of 31-28. Don Wishon of South Methodist paced the scorers with 15 points. Dave Elerick of St. Johns led his team by scoring 10 points.

The Intermediate League had only one game on the slate this past week, with Margulis defeating the Aragons by a score of 17-12. Jeff Kredel of Margulis scored seven of the winning points.

West Cagers Hit Bulldogs In 64-50 Tilt

South's Bulldogs allowed the Cowboys of West High to jump off to an early lead, then were never able to catch up as they lost another City League battle, 64-50.

Late in the contest South pulled to within a single bucket, 37-35, but the Cowboys, led by stellar pivot Jerry Spears, pulled away to a comfortable margin.

Spears' 21 markers more than offset the balanced Bulldog attack which saw three men in double figures. Twelve of the Cowboy stalwart's points came in the final period.

Jim Marshall topped South point-makers with 14, followed closely by Bob Carver and Waldo Drake, who hit the cords for 13 each.

Easily the difference in the tilt was South's inability to get the rebounds. Cowboy skyscrapers cleaned the boards consistently throughout the game.

Gra-Y Opening Competiton Keynoted By Sportsmanship

South Side Branch YMCA Gra-Y Basketball Leagues opened last Tuesday and Thursday, showing some good basketball and highly graded sportsmanship. Both leagues have nine teams this year, two over the number of last year, with approximately 200 boys participating at the Schiller Park court.

Sportsmanship has shone brightly so far throughout the practice sessions and first set of games, as each team is putting its bid in for the trophy which one team from each league, having accumulated the most points throughout the season, will receive. This year's referees, Dick Harris, Bill Warren and Fred Wilhelm of South High School, are being mighty particular about the grading of each team after every game in accordance with the sportsmanship displayed.

Getting to last week's games: In the Tuesday league, the Reeb Musketeers opened the year by defeating the Stewart Dribblers 41-5 in a runaway led by Steve Jackson and Clarence Bowens.

In the second game the Heyl Terriers put one over on their sister team, the Heyl Vampires, by a 14-8 score. Larry Whitt led the Terriers with nine points. Another "intra-squad" game between the Seibert Sputniks and Seibert Scorpions was won by the Scorpions 5-4 by Don Heery's last effort foul shot. Livingston's two teams, the Hawks and Be-Boppers, saw the Hawks coming out ahead, 19-3. Jim Neale, club president, led the scoring with nine points.

Thursday's games saw the Lincoln Park Grays opening with a 14-7 victory over the Lincoln Park Scarlets. The Southwood Neutrons came back after a half-time score of 2-2 to defeat Southwood's Electrons, 5-3, with the help of David Blair's basket late in the game. Beck's Bulldogs beat Beck's Rinkydinks, 10-2, with the help of Bob Hoersdig's four points. Deshler Hornets and Southwood Protons showed the best game of the week with Deshler finally coming out on top, 8-7.

Following Westlake's endorsement, East Sider Albert Gregg withdrew from the race saying he would not run without party support.

The only other candidates who have already taken out petitions are Lorenzo Verduce, 1604 N. Starr-rd, a perennial independent aspirant; and Mrs. Vivian Suarez, 1215 Fishinger-rd, who unsuccessfully sought the Democrate nomination for Governor last May.

Some speculation persists that Republican Coroner Robert A. Evans may enter the May primary as an independent candidate for mayor. Evans policy in demanding mass flu and polio vaccinations and the numerous cleanup drives in the county are pointed to as evidence of his administrative ability.

Republicans also outlined a full slate of councilmen including Hilltopper Ronald Devore, 329 S. Terrace-av, and South Side civic leader William H. Hicks, 1105 Sunbury-rd, currently serving his first term.

Council Endorsement Made

Other Republican council candidates are Mrs. Golda May Edmonston, 59 W. Dominion-blvd, and Ragland Reid, 141 Brunson-av.

Incumbent Republican councilman Dewey Garner, told the central committee at their Wednesday night meeting that "increasing duties and responsibilities" would not permit him to seek reelection.

Although no candidates have been officially named by the county Democrat organization, preferential treatment Thursday night at a meeting of the Young Democrats Club indicated that four had been selected.

They included incumbent Councilman William P. Hoermle, South Side businessman who lives at 2434 Beverly-pl; Robert T. Forman, 1484 Highland-st; John T. Gordon, 5361 Stock-rd; and Charles Meeks, 66 Clark-pl.

Endorsed by the Republicans for the Municipal Court were Judge William T. Gillis, appointed to the city bench by Gov. C. William O'Neill, and Bruce Jenkins, 279 Piedmont-rd, assistant city attorney.

The Democrats are expected to endorse incumbent Judge Alan Schwarzwalder, 292 Northridge-pl, as one of their Municipal Court candidates.

Preacher-Athlete Is Guest Speaker For Lenten Event

Ed Beck, a determined young man who has known both tragedy and fame during his 24 years, will be the guest speaker at the "South Side Community Lenten Service" to be held Thursday evening, Feb. 12, at South High School.

Beck, 6'7" center for Kentucky's NCAA champions last season, is currently enrolled in Asbury Theological Seminary, Wilmore, Ky., preparing for the life of a missionary.

The young minister-to-be, captain of the Wildcats for two years, has known a great deal of praise and adulation during his time, stemming from his tremendous ability as a basketball player. But he also has known profound tragedy.

Beck Marries

In 1956 Ed Beck married a pretty nurse called Billie Ray. The couple planned to carry Christianity into the mission field, Ed as a preacher, Billie as a doctor.

Prior to their marriage, Billie became ill with Hodgkin's disease, a killer for which no cure is known. Despite this setback, the couple said their wedding vows, hoping for a miracle. Five days after the wedding, Mrs. Beck became seriously stricken.

The bereft Beck seemed unable to sustain interest in anything — especially basketball. With Billie's urgings, from her sickbed, he returned to the university and continued to play basketball. Each weekend he traveled from Lexington, Ky., to her bedside in Macon, Ga.

Billie Dies

Finally, in March of 1957 Billie died. Her husband was at her bedside.

Many persons often wondered how Beck had the psychological and physical strength to play basketball and maintain a vigil at his wife's bedside, knowing that she was going to die. In Ed's own words, "It was part of our marriage vows. Before we were married, Billie made me promise that if she became critically sick, I would not give up basketball. She knew that my basketball playing was a witness for Christ. And since I had put her on the altar, I felt that it was God's will that I should be playing rather than helplessly waiting for her death."

It is this devoted man whom people will hear at the lenten service. Theme of the service, as decided by the South Side Ministerial Association — sponsors of the pre-Easter program —will be "Christ for Today's Living."

Choir To Sing

A 300-voice choir will present four numbers during the service. The choir members will come from Marion-Franklin High School, South High School and Barrett, George C. Beery and Roosevelt Junior High Schools.

The service will get underway at 8 p.m., but the minister's association urges folks to arrive a few minutes early to enjoy the special organ music which will precede the regular service.

Bulldog Mentor Answers Critics

Why Can't South Win?

(Editor's note — Over the past months a good deal of controversy has been stirred up over the apparent inability of South High School's athletic teams to win the "big" ones. Basketball Coach John Colmery, outspoken young Bulldog mentor, hopes to quiet some of the rumblings in the following defense of South's athletic program).

By John Colmery

Below are questions often asked of me, particularly when our football team lost three in a row last fall after a good start, and we lost in a basketball overtime to Eastmoor recently.

What is wrong with South athletics?

Nothing! We have capable leadership and good youngsters. We have 10 quality young men on the squad which edged Linden two weeks ago. Our quality would be even higher had we not lost several through football injuries, including our center, Jerry Daily. They represent the best of South High in all respects.

Why has South not won a football title since the twenties?

I think our problem is lack of confidence, poor tradition, and an unsustained morale. Robert Duncan has done much to strengthen confidence. We have had good football material the past few seasons. This trend will continue, but I doubt if we'll be of championship calibre soon. I want to be here the day we win the football title.

Why has South not been a basketball power lately?

I feel one good big boy can make a high school basketball team succeed, as one schoolboy pitcher. For a cycle, up until two seasons ago, we had good big boys. We have lost students to Marion-Franklin, Eastmoor, Whitehall and suburbs. Some schools have yet to experience this.

If the leadership is capable and the youngsters doing their best, how could you lose to Linden after having a two-touchdown lead? To Eastmoor in overtime after leading 14 points with three minutes to go?

In the basketball case, I was responsible. In early practice, I thought I put first things first. I had told the boys when to play possession ball, but we had not yet drilled on it at that time. When told in timeouts not to shoot unless with an open bunny, they continued shooting, and missed every shot, including five free throws. Eastmoor played inspired ball. Woody Hayes, scouting their Dick Shultz, was a part of that inspiration, along with the fact that some of their seniors had not been picked for our reserve team as sophomores at South. They really had blood in their eyes!

Why has South no Friday home basketball games early?

We happened to be assigned Tuesday home dates by the league.

Why does South play so many out-of-town games?

First, it is a matter of money. We draw well for the home Friday league game only.

Second, I want to play the best outside the league. We lost $75-$80 a night bringing good outside or local non-league teams in.

Third, our buildings are closed over holidays, and week-ends our staff wants to be elsewhere.

COACH SPEAKS—South High School cage coach John Colmery points up the arguments against those who are overly critical of Bulldog athletes, and the athletic program in general. The outspoken young mentor blames poor tradition and unsustained morale for South's inability to win city loop football crown for 30 years.

Swollen Waters Drive Thousands From Homes Into Bitter Weather

First came the rain—nearly two days of it. Next it was water gone wild—millions of gallons that rushed through a break in the Dry Run dike on the West Side. Across town, mad Alum and Big Walnut creeks were doing the same.

Then came the cold. No heat, no light, and ice froze all around some 2600 families.

Now its mud, on top of, inside of and underneath practically everything some families own.

For a long time folks have been talking about the Flood of 1913. Some say 1936 was bad — but now they have another one to tell their grandchildren about.

The 1913 deluge was a killer . . . 93 perished in the city. This last one destroyed property, and spared the people.

Last week's waters found a much bigger city than before.

Extensive housing developments, particularly in the East and to the South were submerged and damaged to figure up in the millions. Less estimates, covering homes, businesses and public property in the county run as high at $10 million.

People have been wet as muskrats all week but they're drying off now and rehabilitating their homes.

By Saturday, most areas had begun mop-up operations. Streets were lined with basement pumps, drawing dirty water from one basement only to have it run down the street into someone else's. Sewers were overflowing and still not able to do the job.

Police Hear Complaints

Residents in several sections complained to police that they were victimized by some of the workers. They reported that they were being charged double for pumping fees and plumbers "overtime" rates too. Some costs averaged out to as high as $20 an hour. And some "jobs" lasted four or five hours. Police can do little except warn homeowners to be wary before hiring help.

Fire departments were flooded with calls from persons who wanted their basements pumped out but had to be turned down. Department equipment was reserved for only the biggest emergencies and crews had to be conserved for their main purpose — fighting fires.

Stores lost thousands of dollars worth of merchandise. Some of the items, such as hardware, were salvageable. But dry goods were no longer dry and food touched by water had to be thrown out. The Big Bear Supermarket, 1805 E. Main-st, reported losing one-third of its stock.

The story was the same everywhere — basements were flooded. More than just a place for the furnace, many housed recreation rooms, representing sizeable investments. Typical was John H. Brown, 71 Schultz-av, whose home was one of the first hit by rampant Dry Run. "I spent $1100 on my recreation room just before

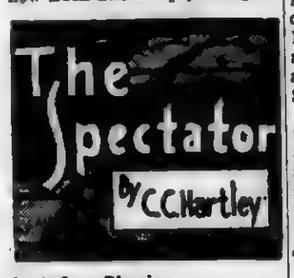
Slum Project Must Begin To Get Aid

In order to maintain eligibility for federal aid, the city must soon initiate action to purchase, raze and redevelop a 22 block tract south and east of the Market-Mohawk area, which was authorized almost three years ago on a $5 million slum clearance bond issue.



The area in question would be bounded on the north by Fulton-st, on the south by Livingston-av, on the east by 18th-st, and on the west by Third-st.

$1.5 million has been allocated to the project, and federal funds should bolster that figure by about another million dollars. President Eisenhower's budget for the coming year, provided it is acceptable to Congress, has allowed for a substantial amount to be allocated throughout the nation for slum clearance programs.

The Market-Mohawk area is in the final property appraisal stage now. When the federal government approves property evaluations, the city will move to acquire the property.

EUCHRE PARTY

St. Leo Holy Name Society will sponsor a euchre party Saturday, Feb. 7, at 8:15 p.m. in the school hall. Frehs-av and Bruck-st. Bill Moore, chairman, said there will be attendance and game awards. The public is welcome.

Let's Stop Blaming And Start Building

Just as a lot of water has flown over the dams this past week, a lot of words have flown over Central Ohio on the subject of the 1959 flood.

Many of the words have been those of persons trying to place the blame.

Not much can be accomplished by trying to place the blame for an act of God.

We think it is time to stop blaming and start building!

Last year on the occasion of the 45th anniversary of the 1913 flood the Hartley Newspapers produced nearly a full page of photos and stories of the extensive damage to the West Side of Columbus. At that time and on other occasions we have reported the claims of competent engineers that the West Side and other areas of Columbus are today in danger of a greater tragedy than that of 1913.

Today, a week after the multimillion dollar loss and attending hardships that hit our communities so severely, many who are competent to speak are pointing to the need of immediate steps being taken to prevent such future recurrence of the floods.

It would seem apparent at this point that there is real merit in reconsideration of the judges of the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District in their very recent decision to dissolve the district.

There is a real need for some kind of a district program getting under way immediately. It is time for a renewed look at what needs to be done and how to proceed with it.

Men of action need to be found to direct such an activity and the public should spare no force in insisting that proper protection of our communities be developed as soon as physically possible.

While the memories of this past week are so vivid we should stop talking and start building.

Mothers March Tonight Against Dread Diseases

South Side Mothers will march tonight against three dread diseases which cripple, maim and kill.

Wearing white gloves of mercy, hundreds of mothers will solicit funds from door-to door to replenish the treasury of National Foundation which is laboring to defeat the diseases polio, arthritis and birth defects.

Residents of the South Side are requested to turn their porch lights on and keep pets tied so that mothers may safely wend their ways over the area to get the much-needed monies which underwrite research against the diseases.

Mrs. Joseph H. Banks, Jr., district chairman of the area north of Livingston-av, has announced the following officers in the Mothers' March for her area:

Colonels — Mrs. Richard W. Chaney, 1621 E. Main-st; Mrs. Ralph W. Smithberger, 1356 E. Rich-st; Mrs. Joel W. Travis, 302 Lyman-av; Mrs. Mary Sellers, 788 Lyman-av; and Mrs. Elmer Reed, 635 Oakwood-av.

Mrs. Fornof, campaign chairman of the South Unit, Columbus Symphony Orchestra, Inc., said the drive will last from Jan. 27, until Mar. 10. Members of the campaign committee will be asking donations from businesses and private individuals all over the South Side.

Red Devils Are Blasted By Bears

North's defending City League champs fought off a pesky Marion-Franklin first half attack, then pulled away after intermission to take a decisive 66-39 victory on the Red Devils' floor.

Marion-Franklin was down only eight points, 24-26, at half time, but could not find the range in the second half as the superior height of the Polar Bears took its toll. The Devils only managed 13 points in the final two periods.

Rod Buccilla topped Marion-Franklin scorers with 11.

In the preliminary game, the Red Devils saved some face with a 36-32 win over North's JayVees.

Marion-Franklin will battle Linden-McKinley this Friday evening on the home floor

The loss gives the Devils a 1-6 City Loop record.

YMCA Play Was Light Last Week

Only Tuesday games were played last week in the South Side Branch YMCA Gra-Y League, due to the dismissal of school on Thursday.

Tuesday saw good play in all games, the Siebert Sputniks highlighting the afternoon with a victory over the Heyl Vampires, 12-11. Larry Dicks' eight points in the first half was enough to help withstand the Vampires' last half advance.

In other games, the Heyl Globetrotters beat their sister team, 15-6, with Ronnie Valentine putting in nine points for the winners. The Livingston Be-Boppers defeated the Siebert Scorpions 19-2 as Livingston's captain, Roger Harper, scored nine points.

Livingston's other team, the Hawks, also won, downing Siebert's Dribblers, 9-3.

In one of the best played games in the history of the South Side "Y" basketball leagues, Clair Chapel's speedy cagers upset the dope bucket by downing the highly favored Hungarian E. and R. quint, 24-21, to grab undisputed possession of the first place in the Intermediate circuit.

Robert Gilchrist led scoring with nine markers. Ron Williams played an important part in Clair's victory with a tremendous rebounding job. Steve Butsko and Dick Bishop scored highest for E. and R. with seven and six points, respectively.

In other games played in the Wednesday night loop, Oakwood Methodist returned to its winning ways by outscoring Gates-Fourth Methodist 24-19. South Methodist continued to show a well balanced attack in downing an undermanned St. Paul E. and R. team.

Action in Tuesday night Junior play also produced an undisputed leader as St. John E. and R. took a thriller from Oakwood Methodist, 18-13, and Emmanuel Lutheran stunned the previously undefeated St. Paul E. and R. team, 16-4.

Ohio-av EUB displayed a fine passing attack to keep its pennant hopes alive with a win over Livingston Methodist.

East Tigers Sock South In 84-60 Tilt

Big Jim Marshall seared the nets for 22 points last Friday night, but his great individual effort went for naught as East's powerful Tigers ripped him and his Bulldog teammates, 84-60, on the Tiger floor.

East ran off to a 23-15 first period lead, got into high gear in the second canto, scoring 22 points to South's 11, and led at intermission 45-26. Larry Jones spearheaded the second period runaway, scoring 10 of his 21 points in that quarter.

The loss put Coach John Colmery's Bulldogs in sixth spot in City Loop play, with a 3-4 league mark.

This Friday night the Bulldogs will host Aquinas in an attempt to move up a notch in league play. Aquinas now occupies fifth place in the loop.

New Books Available At Library

Parsons Branch Library, 945 Parsons-av, has just received a number of exciting new mystery and suspense books

"Our Man in Havana," by Graham Green, is a melodrama that concerns the activities of a British Secret Service agent stationed in Cuba. It is a tale of intrigue, and is humorous, too.

"The Eighth Circle," by Eltin is the fast moving story of detective Murray Kirk's investigation of the case of a policeman who has been accused of taking bribes from gamblers.

Other new mystery titles available at Parsons Branch Library are, "Gideon's Month" by Marrie, "The Alington Inheritance" by Wentworth, "Lightning Strikes Twice" by Potts, "The Case of the Triple Twist" by Bush, "The Big Gamble" by Coxe, and "The Burning of Troy" by Gair.

Keep books from your Columbus Public Library on hand always. They help you relax and they bring pleasure and knowledge in moments which otherwise might be wasted.

World Bank and Fund plan rise in resources.

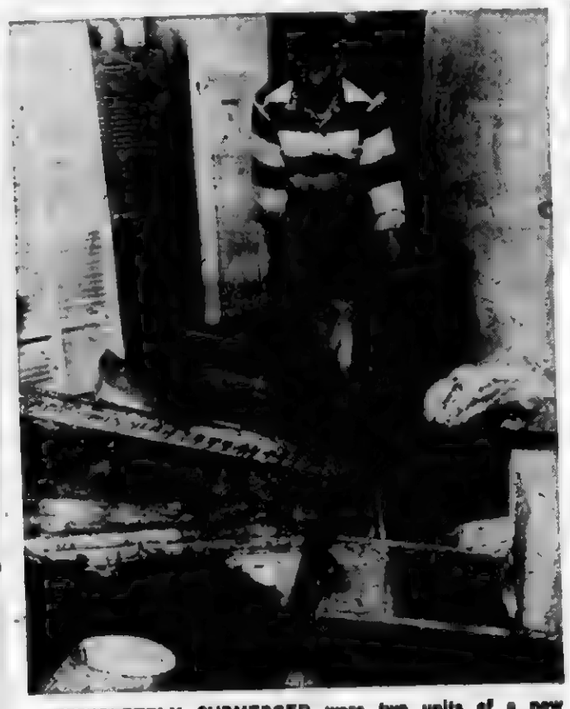
The Flood Hits Home

A Pictorial Review Of A Bad Week



AN ELDERLY WOMAN in tooless shoes is rescued by National Guardsmen after being marooned three days in the dark and heatless home of Thomas Alfon, 1134 Thomas-av. Ice surrounds the house.

OUT OF CONTROL water that backed up from the Scioto River and drained out of the West Side isolates Jets Stadium, Sullivant Gardens, trailer parks and many other homes. (Photo by Groom, courtesy Robert Butche and Sullivant Airport)

MANY FAMILIES such as this were among the 1500 persons given first aid, food and shelter at the Naval Reserve Training Center, Sandusky-st. The Reservists furnished much emergency rescue equipment.

COMPLETELY SUBMERGED were two units of a new apartment at Dana-av and W. Rich-st. Owner Jack Carpenter of Hilliards surveys the ruined furniture.

MAYOR SENSENBRENNER and his assistant, Les Schrimger, witness the sudden flooding of W. Broad-st, near Central, soon after Dry Run levee broke.

WASHOUT DAMAGES estimated at $75,000 to $100,000 are seen at the C&O Railroad underpass on Bixby-rd, near Reese. Both county and railroad property is involved here.

WATER SPURTED from the ground in some places. This oddity was seen at the cistern in the hillside near Glenwood Recreation Center. The boys are Mike Lute, Bill Prilleman, Steve Tanner and Jeff Koehler.

COSTLY CAVE-IN—A pond in the backyard broke down the basement wall of the Al Cacchione home, 677 S. Brinker-av, and filled the recreation room with water.

NEW CARS at Spitzer Motors, 2010 E. Main-st, never will reach owners' hands because of the complete dunking they received last week. The swirling flood tossed them like logs in a river. The company reported the cars were sold for salvage.

Ohio Bell Plans Local Program Of Improvement

Ohio Bell Telephone Company plans to spend $8,580,000 in Columbus and Franklin County during 1959 to maintain, expand and improve its telephone service.

This compares with $7,980,000 spent here during 1958 when direct distance dialing was brought to Ohio Bell subscribers.

Heading the list of improvement and expansion projects is a $3,000,000 list of 19 outside cable projects, to provide additional trunk lines between various exchanges and more lines for subscribers' use.

Dial equipment additions are slated for seven exchanges — Belmont, Broadway, Capital, Clearbrook, Hickory, Amherst, and Axminster in a $2,400,000 program.

Another $180,000 will go into building additions and alterations. Construction program includes additions to the Hickory and Hudson exchange buildings and alterations to the building at 110 N. Fourth-st.

Many electrical items using 115 volts are not grounded. The principle danger, say Ohio State University Extension agricultural engineers, lies with old equipment where worn insulation on wires and connections allows a charge to build up on the frame of the equipment.

Flood Victims Face Disaster Ordeal Squarely

IT WAS HIGH and dry in Robert Butcho's plane but wet below when this general view of the flooded West Side was snapped. At far left is vicinity where Dry Run levee broke, flooding state lands (center) and nearly all streets to the east. S-curve of the swollen Scioto is visible in the background. At far right in the distance is the Leveque-Lincoln tower.

A FAMILY BOAT was a mighty handy thing to own when more than 100 cars were trapped under water in the West Side last week. Here's one doing taxi service in an alley between Central and Brehl-av, looking toward Rich-st. Four submerged cars can be seen in the background.

SWIRLING SCIOTO looked this way at Grandview-av bridge last Wednesday. At right, one of its victims, Richard Roe, 1026 N. Hague-av, shovels up debris from his 1272 W. Town-st grocery. His estimated loss to stock and equipment at $15,000.

Commissioners Cancel Coffee Counter Contract

A Jackson Township Republican trustee had his contract for operation of the coffee counter at the Franklin County Courthouse canceled by the Democratic controlled Board of County Commissioners, Jan. 21.

Commissioner D. J. Kunz declared that a contract made in March 1957 was invalid. The contract was made for a period of three years. Kunz said that such contracts can be made only for one year.

WELCOME WAGON MEET

West Franklin Welcome Wagon Club will meet at Mann Furniture Co., 3440 Sullivan-av Feb. 3, 8 p.m. Doris Ferrell will discuss juvenile delinquency.

Soil drainage is an important factor for farmers to consider in choosing a forage seeding mixture say Ohio State University agronomists.

Girl's Screams Rout Molester

A 20-year-old South Side woman was molested Friday night at the rear of her home by a man with a paper bag over his head, who fled when he couldn't muffle her screams, police reported.

The woman told police she was accosted at the side of the garage at the rear of her home on Hinman-av, at 10 p.m. The man stepped from behind the garage as she was walking towards her home after she had parked her car and told her she wouldn't be hurt if she kept quiet. When she continued to scream, he ran east in an alley behind the house.

As the man fled, she told police, wind blew the paper bag, perforated with eye and nose holes, off his head. Although he stopped to retrieve it the woman said she could not identify him.

Club Leaders Are Guests Of Kiwanians

Newly-elected presidents of Central Ohio's 13 Kiwanis Clubs were guests of Southern Kiwanis last night at the Maennerchor.

The dinner, dance, and party marked the official beginning of a new year for the South Kiwanians, who, since their organization was founded in October 1957, have taken an increasing interest in South Side youth activities.

Officers for the new year also were installed last night. Capt. Al Justus, chief of squads, Columbus Fire Department, became president — a respite and few hours relaxation from the high water emergencies that began last week. Justus also is an official of the Booth Fire Equipment Co., Harmon-av.

First vice president for 1959 is Don Grant, Cussins and Fearn's Parsons-av store manager. Columbus' traffic committee chairman, Otto Meier — a long time South Sider — and insurance executive with Atkinson-Dauksch and Trafford Tallmade agencies, became second vice-president. John Howald, an Ohio National Bank executive, is treasurer, and the personable and popular principal of George C. Beery Junior High School, Michael Lower, was returned to the secretarial post.

The Southern Kiwanians announced an activities prospectus drawn from International Kiwanis 1959 base objective: "To Build Individual Responsibility." Little League baseball will benefit directly, as will Scout and other youth activities.

Dad's Club Backs Square Dance

St. Mary's Dad Club will hold a round and square dance Jan. 31 in the school gym, 700 S. Third-st, from 9 p.m. to 12 midnight.

The Rhythm Jesters Band will provide music for the dance, which is open to the public. Chairman of the project is Vince Newton, co-chairman, Leroy Stein. Admission is $1.50 per couple.

IN MEMORIAM

I often sit and think of him
When I am all alone.
For memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own.

Deep in our hearts lies a picture of a loved one laid to rest.
In memory's frame shall we keep it. Because he was one of the best—our dear father.

Flood—

'We Weren't Warned!'

Mrs. Florence Dudley, who was trucked from her home at 283 Dakota-av summed up sentiments of most of the West Side when she asked: "Why didn't they warn us? Why didn't more of those officials leave their warm cars and offices and keep an eye on that levee? If we'd had hours, instead of minutes to leave, we might have saved a few things."

Damage to homes was exceptionally heavy in the Wonderland and Rainbow Park additions and several trailer parks. A levee break at Alum Creek, near St. Charles Academy took a heavy toll in the Bexley area. Msgr. George Wolz, rector of St. Charles ordered the school and seminary closed until Monday, Feb. 2.

Not far downstream water poured into the new gymnasium at Columbus Academy.

At noon Wednesday, after about 14 hours the rain let up some. Many workers went home to check basements. The mayor was in the West Side (he had attended a West Side Kiwanis meeting at noon) and a little later was on the scene when W. Broad-st was strangled at the State Hospital bottoms.

It was then that the emergency really became apparent.

'Dry Run' Revolts

Rupture of the Dry Run levee behind the Columbus State Hospital spawned most of the West Side's troubles. Torrents of water from the 5.1 inch rain surged down from the Hilltop and Valleyview and met in a sharp bend with backwater from the swollen Scioto. The pressure was too great and the flooding was sudden.

A communications center was set up in the mayor's office. Much of the rescue work was directed from there.

It was many hours before heavy equipment could be secured and driven through sucking mud to drop heavy boulders from the quarries into the hemorrhaging Dry Run levee.

The same thing happened in the East and to the South when Alum Creek and Big Walnut Creek lost all sense of direction and took their toll. Two spectacular instances of property damage in these areas were seen. Spitzer Motors, 2010 E. Main-st, had 40 new autos under water. After the flood left, they were found in tangled heaps around the lot. Damage was placed at $150,000.

The Michael Torchick family, 6130 Parsons-av, lost $25,000 worth of cattle and hogs valued at $850.

Misery Sets In . . .

The city was in pall of gloom Thursday. Just before noon the river was at its crest. More than 2000 had been evacuated. One invalid West Side woman, Mrs. Betty Montgomery, 948 Sullivant-av, shot and killed herself as waters swirled around her home. Her second-story tenants, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Sampson, were preparing to evacuate the house when they came downstairs and discovered her slumped near her wheelchair. The body was removed in an amphibious "duck."

Nine bus routes had been shut down, isolating the East and West Sides. All major roads into the city were closed except Route 23 north. Stores downtown closed. Public and parochial schools were closed everywhere except northern suburbs and Canal Winchester. Hospitals soon filled with the cold, the wet and invalid.

One or two small roads around the flood areas were jammed with traffic both Thursday and Friday. Cars were backed up for miles out Trabue-rd and down Hague-av.

The Red Cross took care of about 600 of the first evacuees at Starling Junior High School. But water crept up to the school and early Thursday they were moved on to Central High School, Veteran's Memorial and the Naval Reserve Center on Sandusky-st. The Elks Club, 1045 S. High-st, took care of 150. During the weekend more than a hundred families were moved a fourth time to the State Fairgrounds Youth Center.

Trailer Park Swamped

From the Caravan Trailer Park alone (1049 Jackson-pk) more than 500 people were pulled from their trailers about 3 a.m. Thursday. Police and firemen woke everybody, giving them 10 minutes to get ready. The evacuees first went to the South Franklin School, then to Central. Hundreds were moved from Greenlawn and Sullivant Gardens housing projects. Across town, the whole Hanford Village area was evacuated by the National Guard and volunteers from Lockbourne Air Base. There was little looting.

In some places the rescuers found resistance. As one airman volunteer said, "If folks had left when they were first asked Wednesday, the job would have been much easier. As it was, they waited until water was about to come through their doors and ice was freezing." Some couldn't be reached by truck, so amphibious "ducks" were used. The sick had to be rushed to hospitals.

Red Cross volunteers handled the gargantuan task of keeping families in touch. Some children were apart from their working parents — in babysitters' homes, in playschools or with relatives elsewhere in the city. They weren't reunited for several days.

Bus service to both extremes of the city stopped Wednesday night. Lines to the Hilltop weren't restored until Saturday.

Disaster Is Declared

Governor Michael DiSalle's declaration of the state as a major disaster area was backed up by President Eisenhower on Friday and federal relief funds were made available. Much will go to replacement roads and public buildings. The Red Cross was placed in charge of all disaster relief work and was empowered to draw on its national funds.

The Small Business Administration, a federal agency with regional headquarters in Cleveland, will handle loans to stores and small manufacturers who were hurt.

On the family level, State Relief funds, already set aside by legislature were ordered made available immediately. The Red Cross opened a disbursement office Sunday at Central Point Shopping Center, 691 Harrisburg-pk, to serve all county flood victims. The phone number is BR. 9-7341.

Following application, the families are given swift investigation and are contacted by a case worker. They receive as outright gifts, purchase orders good for food, clothing, and whatever basic furniture is needed to begin housekeeping again.

Sightseers Impede

Sightseers hampered the return of families to their homes Saturday and Sunday, police reported. Pumping crews, fire trucks, ambulances and utilities vans were slowed by streets choked with lookers. Men, women and children "rubbernecked" from their cars and drew sensitive glances from homeowners who were scraping mud from their steps.

A number of other agencies gave out aid to flood victims. Included were Volunteers of America, 379 W. Broad-st and Salvation Army, food, shelter and clothing; Columbus Home Builders Association, emergency repairs; City Health Department, inspection of foodstuffs in stores and homes and processing plants; Columbus Retail Grocers Association, helped some grocers to clean up stores; fire department, gas and electric companies, inspection of homes and check of appliances.

By Tuesday many homes in the stricken areas looked fairly normal from the outside, under a shroud of snow. But inside they were miserable. Woodwork is warped, mud stretches from wall to wall and appliances are working poorly.

Throughout the past week teams of inspectors have been checking gas and electric lines, looking for weakened foundations and plaster and watching for signs of disease and sanitation hazards. Some gas lines, left open, had to be blown free of water.

The work continues, but it will be some time before things can be called normal again.

Symphony

The drive officially got underway Tuesday with a tea at Ilonka's, a restaurant at 4040 E. Broad-st. Guest speaker was John Edwards, manager of the Pittsburgh Symphony.

Held Luncheon

Mrs. Fornof said a luncheon will be held for South Unit members only, at the Deshler-Hilton, Feb. 6, for a general report on the progress of the drive.

General chairman of campaign for the city is Miss Evelyn MacDonald. Members of the South Unit fund drive committee include:

Mrs. William P. Hoermle, Mrs. Arthur Puetz, Mrs. John Mallernee, Mrs. Paul Brady, Mrs. Eugene Martin, Mrs. Lester Newkirk, Mrs. D. T. Gilbert, Mrs. William Hicks, Mrs. Lloyd Ballenger, and Mrs. Sturgis Northup.

According to a pamphlet circulated by members of the South Unit, 43 percent of the total amount collected from the public goes to the orchestra musicians; 22 percent to the conductor and soloists; 10 percent for concert expenses; four percent for supplies and rent; five percent for promotion; and 16 percent for administration costs.

People's Orchestra

Columbus Symphony Orchestra is financed for the most part through the generosity of the people of Columbus, to whom the symphony actually belongs. In order to keep ticket prices within the reach of all, seats are priced at less than half of actual production costs. It is because of this that the annual fund drive is a necessity to keep the orchestra alive, so that it may contribute to the cultural growth of the city.

PTA Fathers Take Charge At Meeting

"Father's Night" was observed Monday, at the Deshler-av PTA meeting. Invocation was given by John Westlake.

A humorous skit entitled "The Wedding" was presented by the fathers. The cast, Carl Cannon, Mark Paxton, Ralph Mitchell, Fred Roeger, Dick Todd, Herb Rowland, Gene Bramel, Ned England, Vanse Shannon, Larry Bennett and Richard Miller, James Ford, Jack Wardlow, Ben Hauch, Paul Shaner.

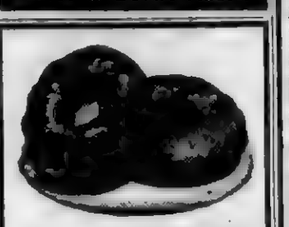
Pot Luck Dinner Held At Siebert Street School

Siebert Street held its room mothers potluck dinner Wednesday, Jan. 28 at the school. Teachers were guests at the dinner.

Plans for the children's valentine party to be held Feb. 13 were completed.

Tickets for the annual valentine dance to be held Feb. 6 in the school auditorium were distributed.

Siebert School collected 13 baskets of food for needy families in the community over the holidays. A special collection was made to purchase meat for all baskets.



South Side Man Robbed At Gunpoint

Bartender Simpson Newport was robbed of $70 early Tuesday at the High-Morrill Cafe, 1566 S. High-st.

Two young men with a .22 rifle forced the 54-year-old bartender to hand over the cash. There were no customers in the tavern at the time.

Mental, Physical Gymnastics Keep Kids, Adults Active At Schiller

GIMPERS GALORE—Boys and girls in Mrs. Thora Gatwood's arts and crafts classes learn a multitude of instructional items including woodcraft, puppetry, and gimp craft. The latter is done by lacing plastic used in making inexpensive jewelry and lanyards for athletic whistles. Adults, too, take advantage of the center's many activities in leather craft and copper enameling departments. Ceramics is on the docket for fall if electrical work is finished for the kiln by then, according to Mrs. Gatwood. Between 4000 and 5000 people take part in the center's activities during an average week. Director Tom Crawshaw stated. Left to right, Steven Caplinger, Mrs. Gatwood and Dale Brown straighten out a gnarled gimping problem.

PUPPETS PREMIERE — Another basic part of the arts and crafts program is that of puppetry. Enthusiasts make the puppets, then present shows with the finished products. From here, youngsters graduate into the marionette class, manipulating puppets on strings instead of by hand. During the day, a variety of programs are geared for youngsters 13 years old and under from 2 to 6 p.m. Director Crawshaw says that this is to coincide with the city's curfew laws of having small youngsters off the street by night fall. From 6 to 10 p.m. classes are geared for teenagers and adults. Frank Miller and Diane Kise, in front of the "Schiller Shocase," listen to Mary Beth O'Ryan explain animation of puppets.

PAWN'S PLAY—Mental gymnastics is also an integral part of the training received at Schiller. Both chess and checker tournaments are conducted according to Director Tom Crawshaw, with the youngest entrants participating around the age of 10. Crawshaw wants other centers to engage in these activities in order to stimulate inter-city competition. So far, none has accepted the challenge. John Dziakecki, 10, right, contemplates a surprise attack against brother Casimer, 13, seated left. Dramatics is also offered to the aspiring actor and actress. Athletic director at the center is LeRoy Wine.

GIRL GYMNASTS — Hi-jinks on the parallel bars are being performed by these two young ladies in Instructor Fletcher Gilders' class. Youngsters learn tumbling, wrestling (for boys), how to perform on the flying rings and on the trampoline. Intra-mural boys and girls basketball is also one of the subjects stressed. Taking an upside-down view of the world is Janet Fee. Her partner, with a heads-up attitude, is Mary Thissen. Shuffleboard and ping-pong are also offered. Schiller had two city champions in the junior girls and senior boys city-wide shuffleboard tournament.

Hoermle Return Voted; Westlake Named Prexy

Apparently intent on entering the election campaign with clean hands, city councilmen compromised Thursday night returning South Side appliance dealer William P. Hoermle his council seat and naming W. Ralston Westlake as the group's president

The city's political machinery, momentarily stalled when the Ohio Supreme Court ruled 4-3 that Mayor Sensenbrenner had overstepped his bounds in appointing Hoermle, was once again running smoothly

The compromise ended a battle for the city's seventh council seat which had existed since the death of Wesley Llewelyn last Sept. 12

Making the motion which gave Westlake the council's presidency and Hoermle the vacant position in one vote was Republican Dewey Garner, who had previously announced he would not seek re-election this fall

Councilman Robert H Smith, who had held the council gavel on virtue of Hoermle's disputed vote, stepped down from the president's chair before the Thursday meeting

Republicans who had objected to such a compromise when proposed earlier by the Democrats, insisted that with Westlake running for mayor the president's chair assumed more importance

Following the appointment of Hoermle Westlake named the East Side resident to head the zoning committee Smith, ousted from the president's post resumed his position as head of the city's finance committee formerly held by Hoermle

City Attorney Russell Leach said that he knows of no legislation which would be voided by the court's decision

Both Westlake and Sensenbrenner filed petitions Tuesday at the county board of elections for the mayoralty race of the May primary

Republicans filing for the councilman races were Golda May Edmonson 59 W. Dominion blvd, William M Hicks, 1105 Sunbury rd, Ronald E DeVore, 329 S Terrace-av, and Ragland Reid, 141 Brunson-av

Democrats entering the same race were Charles P. Meeks 68 Clark pl, financial secretary treasurer of Local 969 United Auto Workers at the Teinstedt plant, Harold Hickman 1163 F Weber-rd, and William P Hermle, 2123 B verly rd

Democrat Judge Alan A Schwartzwalder and Republican assistant city attorney W. Bruce Jenkins, 279 Piedmont rd, filed the municipal court bench

Fred J. Shoemaker, incumbent Democratic councilman, filed to seek the nomination to fill the unexpired term of Judge Henry L. Holden, who resigned to become a common pleas judge Jan. 4

BOY SCOUTS CELEBRATE 49TH ANNIVERSARY

The fourth point of the Boy Scout Law reads, "A Scout is friendly. He is a friend to all and a brother to every other scout

Now as the Boy Scouts of America celebrate their 49th anniversary during Boy Scout Week Feb. 7 to 13, let us see how this friendliness is fostered

Friendships form readily in the Cub Scout pack, Boy Scout troop, and Explorer unit as their programs promote democratic ways of living together.

The weekly neighborhood den meetings of the Cub Scouts who are eight, nine, and ten years old are full of fun as they take on themes of American history, geography, natural science, and safety. At monthly pack meetings where they put on interesting demonstrations and program features, the Cub Scouts meet and know the parents of members of the other neighborhood dens.

The Boy Scouts, over eleven, make friends as they form patrols in the troop, elect their own boy leaders, and plan their programs. These friendships are strengthened as they camp and hike together.

The new Exploring program for high-school age young men provides a series of social experiences that help Explorers increase their skill in working and living with others.

World Scouting today in 67 nations finds 7,589,183 enrolled.

America's Scouts make friends with those of other lands at the world Scout jamborees usually held every four years. Several hundred American lads will camp together with about 12,000 others from all parts of the world at the Tenth World Jamboree in the Philippines next July 17 to 26.

Through the World Friendship Fund of voluntary contributions since 1944, Boy Scouts of America have helped less fortunate brother Scouts of other lands.

We congratulate the Boy Scouts on their 49th milestone.

We Must Go With Jesus To Calvary

The cup in Gethsemane that Jesus prayed so earnestly might pass, did not pass.

We know how He drank it and drank to the very lees of sacrifice and suffering.

It is the mystery of God and the universe that the lifegiving powers, alike of nature and of grace, are intimately bound up with suffering and death.

It is one thing to recognize a general law of sacrifice, but how different when we are faced with a real, insistent danger, or demand for sacrifice ourselves.

Then comes the real testing. Many find the faith and power.

Out of Gethsemane the Master came with the serenity of a profound faith in the destiny that the Father had for Him, and with a quiet sublime courage.

That serenity and courage endured alike the buffetings of His aggressors, the taunts of the cowardly and the cynical contempt of the worldly minded Pilate.

From Gethsemane to Calvary! We must go with Jesus all the way, if we could get the inspiration of that divine tragedy and its fulfillment of blessing for mankind. Thus will the message of that divine tragedy come to us personally, pointing the way to triumph and glory.

It is the way of prayer, in discovering and obeying the will of God, and in finding the strength that God supplies.

Panthers Trip Marion-Franklin By 59-55 Score

Marion-Franklin's Red Devils staged an eight-point rally in final two minutes of play against Linden-McKinley last Friday night, but the thrilling effort was not enough as the host Panthers topped the Devils, 59-55.

The Devils tenaciously dogged McKinley throughout the contest, but could never garner the go-ahead points. The Panthers' spurt in the third period, after leading by only two points, 26-24, at intermission, was actually the telling blow in the game. Marion-Franklin scored only 14 points to the Panthers' 19 during this exchange.

Dan Dailey's 16 points led the Devil cause.

Stewart Scores First Gra-Y Victory In Two-Year Span

South Side YMCA Gra-Y Basketball leagues continued in regular set up following a week of disturbance due to the flood and excusing of schools.

In the Tuesday league, the Reeb Musketeers remained in the win column, but this time with a little tougher battle. The Musketeers won over the Livingston Hawks, 12-3 with Steve Jackson's 8 points leading the way.

Livingston's other team, the Be-Boppers, turned out another victory by defeating the Heyl Vampires, 18-14 with Captain Roger Harper scoring 8 points for the winners.

Despite scoring only one point in the last half of play, the Heyl Globetrotters managed to defeat the Siebert Sputniks 6-5 in a thriller. Jim Henry of the Sputniks took the scoring honors by scoring all of Siebert's points.

The Siebert Scorpions also lost their game by one point to the Stewart Dribblers in a double overtime. Tim Gall's foul shot in the sudden death gave Stewart its first win in 2 years and helped give this game the honor of being the best of the week.

The Thursday League games were all close. Beck's Bulldogs continued in a bid for the championship by beating the Lincoln Park Bucks, 7-2. Larry Van Houton scored four points for the winners.

The Lincoln Park Grays looked mighty good in their win over the Southwood Protons 14-8. No individual stood out on either team as good team play was evident throughout the game.

The Beck Rinkydinks were defeated by the Lincoln Park Scarlets 11-7 behind Glenn Blackburn's shooting eye. Southwood's Neutrons defeated the Deshler Hornets 3-2 in a thriller to keep in their bid for a perfect season.

Bulldogs Nip Aquinas As Drake Shines

South's Bulldogs, leading by a comfortable margin through most of the game, were half scared out of their wits in the final canto as Aquinas nearly pulled one out of the fire before falling, 68-66, at South last Friday.

The 'Dogs were ahead 33-26 at halftime, and held a 55-48 lead at the beginning of the last period. Aquinas, however, ripped into the South defense during the final minutes of play to tie up the game, 62-all, with a minute and a half to play.

Waldo Drake, indomitable when the chips were down, pulled the Bulldogs up by their bootstraps, counting a field goal and a pair of free throws as the clock ran out, to save the day.

Big Jim Marshall, high scorer of the game with 22, had fouled out with five minutes to play. It was then that Drake, who scored 18, took charge.

South's reserves made it a clean sweep with a 24-22 victory over Aquinas' Jay Vees.

Barrett Wins; Still Unbeaten In Loop Play

Barrett Junior High topped Eastmoor Junior High School last week by a 30-17 score. The game was important to both schools, as both had been undefeated in league play.

Ron Bell led Barrett with 15 points. Co-captain Ferd Gaulke led in rebound play, and scored 10 points.

Barrett has a non-league game to-day, Thursday, at Champion Junior high school.

Mrs. J. R. Shank, the teacher, is a member of the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs, past president of the Upper Arlington Garden Club, and active as a demonstrator and lecturer.

The workshop will deal with both dry and fresh arrangements. The mechanics of corsages, ribbon roses, and wreaths will also be learned. A nominal charge is made to cover expenses.

Reservations should be made at once since the group will be limited for workshop convenience. Call the YWCA, CA. 4-9121 for information.

Food Markets This Week

by Mrs. Estelle B. Franks

Fruits — Grapefruit, oranges, apples, canned fruit cocktail.

Vegetables—Potatoes, celery, cabbage, peas, canned tomato products.

Protein Foods — Pork loins, poultry, bacon, cheese, large eggs.

ON FEBRUARY MARKETS

Headliners on the food list for February are potatoes and canned peas.

Potato production during 1958 was the fourth largest on record. The late or fall crop made up much of this year's crop. These late-crop potatoes keep well in storage. In February they made up the bulk of all potatoes on markets. Remember that potatoes offer high return in nutritive value for money spent. They offer vitamin "C" and two important "B" vitamins, plus other nutrients.

Canned peas are even more plentiful than last year . . . and their quality runs high because the areas where they were grown had just the right weather to produce peas fine in flavor, tenderness and color. To make the most of canned peas, use the liquid in the can. Drain liquid into a saucepan, cook down with a little chopped onion or other seasoning, add peas, heat, and serve. Try peas with celery or tiny onions, with sliced mushrooms, or with rutabagas, cauliflower or potatoes.

Pork, both fresh and cured, will be on the market at favorable prices, as will eggs. Turkey also deserves a place on your February shopping list.

Two fresh vegetables are appearing in quantity—celery and new cabbage. Supply depends much on future weather conditions in Florida, California, Arizona and Texas. For a February slaw, consider a combination of chopped celery, cabbage and apples. Or team cabbage with grated carrots and peanuts.

Other plentifuls are peanuts, peanut butter, walnuts. And for the sweet tooth, there's honey in ample supply, and so good on hot breads or drizzled on fresh grapefruit. Try warm honey with chopped walnuts as a topping for ice cream.

And a special February fish item—California sardines. After being scarce for several years these little fish are back on the market in good supply.

Canned Foods

Crowd Expected Tonight At Community Lenten Service

GOD AND COUNTRY—Five Boy Scouts, members of the Benfield Avenue Church of Christ (Disciples), were honored in ceremonies at the church last Sunday evening, Feb. 8, when they received the highest award in scouting—the God and Country award. Ministers Urge All South Siders To Attend Event

Weeks of preparation will culminate tonight at South High School gymnasium when people of all faiths flock to the South Side Community Lenten service, sponsored by the South Side Ministerial Association to promote tolerance and understanding among religious groups all over this area.

The regular service will get underway at 8 o'clock with the theme "Christ For Today's Living" being expounded by the guest speaker, Ed Beck, a young minister-to-be who captained Kentucky's Wildcats to the NCAA championship last year.

Special Music

Special organ music will begin at 7:30 for those who wish to enjoy the beauty and spiritual solace of traditional hymns.

Rev. Henry Ellis of the Church of God will wind up a 24-hour continuous prayer service about half an hour prior to the service. The prayer service is being supported by members of the congregations of most of the churches on the South Side, each group taking its turn in praying for the success of the Lenten program as a worthy community project.

Choral music will be furnished by a 300-voice choir comprised of members of the choirs from South and Marion-Franklin High Schools and Roosevelt and Barrett Junior High Schools. Kenneth Keller, director of music education in Columbus schools, will direct the choral ensemble with the aid of music instructors from each of the above-mentioned schools.

Spokesmen from the ministerial association invite persons from all over the city to participate in the pre-Easter event.

They also expressed their sincere appreciation to all those groups and individuals who contributed in any way toward making the Lenten service a success.

South Side schools, particularly the music and art departments, were especially commended for their all-out support of the program. School officials have worked tirelessly in preparing the posters announcing the service, and in preparing for the musical portion of the event.

Is Boosters' Club Needed At South?

By Dave Hess

During the past two weeks, the South Side Leader has received considerable comment on the article published in the Jan. 29 edition by South High basketball coach John Colmery, entitled "Why Can't South Win?"

To Coach Colmery's credit the vast majority of the comment has been favorable.

A subject which came as a mild surprise to the Leader staff was mentioned this week when Mrs. Edith Martin, an enthusiastic South High Bulldog rooter, asked that a South High Athletic Boosters Club be formed, the surprise being that South did not have such a group. In the following letter, Mrs. Martin comments:

"I would like to congratulate John Colmery on making his statements about South High. I am a graduate of South High and have two children attending South at present.

"I attend some of the games myself, although I have no son on the team.

"I think one of South's problems could be solved if more parents were enthusiastic about sports. I enjoy seeing the games and think if more parents would attend just one game they would go back and see more.

"How about a South High Boosters Club? Other schools have them — why not South?

"Let's all boost South and raise the boys' morale!"

According to official sources, South High has never had a Boosters' Club. Up to now a strong Alumni Association has provided much of the impetus behind the athletic teams, but the association has necessarily concerned itself with projects other than athletics.

This, of course, is not to be condemned for there are many extracurricular activities in schools of South's size which merit all the support they can get.

In this light, it seems that there is a definite need for a Boosters' Club which would serve to further the interests of athletics at the school, and, at the same time, provide a mechanism which would sustain the pride and morale which goes with winning teams everywhere. This group would also have as its function the building up of a strong school tradition, founded on both academic and athletic prowess.

These were the problems of which John Colmery spoke when he answered the question, "Why Can't South Win?"

This article is not intended to be critical of the present school groups which, in their own ways, contribute to the athletic program at South. But, it appears that if South High School ever wants to maintain a position of superiority in city and Central Ohio athletics, it will need the support of every parent or other interested party who is willing to actively participate in an organization aimed at sustaining morale, nurturing pride in accomplishment, and building a tradition of clean, winning sportsmanship which South's graduates can carry into future life.

No Primary For Mayor

Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner and Council President W. Ralston Westlake will be the two November mayoralty candidates without having to clear the preliminary primary election hurdle.

The two Hilltoppers were left alone in the race Tuesday when the Franklin County Board of Elections disqualified Mrs. Vivienne Suarez, Ackerman-rd housewife, because she didn't have enough valid signatures on her nomination petition.

This means that there will be no primary election for mayor.

SLATE DANCE

Barrett School will hold a Valentine Dance Friday, Feb. 13, from 7 to 10 p.m. This is a closed dance for Barrett students only. PTA members act as chaperones for all school dances.

Five Benfield Avenue Church Of Christ Boy Scouts Get God And Country Award

Special services were held last Sunday evening at the Benfield Avenue Church of Christ (Disciples), 146 Benfield-av, during which five Scouts were presented the God and Country award, the highest award in Scouting.

Scouts of Unit 243 (Boy Scouts and Sea Explorers) took part in the service that was dedicated to the interests of the Scouting movement. Scouts served as ushers, doormen, deacons, singers, and one boy led the congregation in the responsive scripture reading.

President of the Columbus South Side Ministerial Association, Rev. Clarence D. Mulkin gave the invocation, and greeted those present on behalf of the association.

Guest speaker for the evening was Rev. Kenneth Coy, of the Wilson Avenue Christian Church, who gave an inspiring message on the theme, "Be prepared."

Representing the Boy Scouts of America was Edward J. Bourdrie, district Scout executive from the Mohawk District of the Central Ohio Council of the Boy Scouts of America. He presented a talk on Scouting since its inception to the present. He pointed out how important the God and Country award is, and the honor ascribed in receiving it. He added that only 43 boys out of a possible 17,000 received the award last year in Central Ohio.

The five Benfield Church lads receiving the award were Danny Antle, Adam Crum, Jr., Gary Antle, David Smith and Dennis Antle. The boys' parents pinned the medals on their sons' uniforms. The award can be conveyed only through the church.

Letters of congratulations were forwarded to the boys from James L. Ballinger, director of youth for the 800 Churches of Christ (Disciples in the United States.

Charter Should Provide For District Representation

Voters of Columbus will be called upon to approve or disapprove a revised city charter in the near future, perhaps at the May primaries.

Little fault is to be found with the revisions being proposed. We do feel that council should delete that portion of the charter that would make the city auditor an appointive officer. We believe the public generally likes the idea of electing this official.

For many years we have contended that there should be some kind of district representation in city council assured all sections of the city. We had hoped that the charter committee would come up with such a proposal. It was considered but because of lack of an actual map showing the boundaries of such districts seems to have had no further consideration.

It is not too late for city councilmen to make such representation possible by including this revision in the charter before it is submitted to the public for approval. Our contacts with individuals and groups all over the city cause us to believe such a plan would be popular with the public.

HITS THE JACKPOT!!—Mrs. Jack Howell, 342 Reinhard-av, is the lucky winner of the $70 jackpot in the last "Confederate" money game to run in the South Side Leader. The game, a weekly feature of the Leader for several years, was discontinued with Mrs. Howell's claim. She happily displays the "Confederate" bills being presented her by South Side Leader's Isabelle Coslett, with a copy of the paper tucked under her arm for guidance in selecting purchases with her winnings.

Mrs. Jack Howell Claims $70 Jackpot To End Money Game

South Sider, Mrs. Jack Howell and her husband were $70 richer last week after claiming the final jackpot in the South Side Leader's "Confederate" money game. "I couldn't believe it," Mrs. Howell claimed upon sighting the jackpot insignia printed in bright green ink in last week's edition of the Leader.

Mrs. Howell said she and her husband are avid puzzle workers and though she has won "a couple little things" she has never won anything this big, before. She immediately called up her lawyer husband at the office and told him the news and she says all he could say was "Well, I'll be switched."

The Howells plan to take a shopping trip soon and buy "groceries and other things." Advertisers appearing in last week's issue will accept "Confederate" cash at face value in payment for any merchandise in their stores.

Ex-Official Defends Need For Scioto Conservancy District

Pretzman Says Area Citizens Lulled Into False Security

What has the Conservancy District done? Why has flood control in this area been delayed? What can be done about it?

These and numerous other questions have become controversial issues following the recent Central Ohio floods.

In an effort to inform readers of the Hartley Newspapers as to what happened to the Conservancy District, the following article was prepared by Allen I. Pretzman, until recently the secretary of the district.

By Allen I. Pretzman

Official Plan of the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District was finally approved in July of 1952, after a futile attempt in three courts by Clyde Lewis to reject the plan and dissolve the district.

After this decision the district was without funds, and in April of 1953 an injunction was issued by the Common Pleas Court of Franklin County, which restrained the district from collecting or attempting to collect any funds with which to proceed.

This injunction was in full force and effect until August of 1956, thus halting any progress by the district for over three years.

Flood control projects included in the official plan of the district are as follows:

The Mill Creek Reservoir, a tributary of the Scioto entering the Scioto River from the west at approximately Bellepoint; a reservoir on Big Darby about four miles northeast of Harrisburg; a reservoir on Deer Creek approximately a mile northwest of Crownover Mills in Pickaway County and about nine miles upstream from Williamsport; a reservoir on Paint Creek about two miles above the confluence of Paint Creek and Rocky Fork Creek approximately on the line between Ross and Highland Counties; a reservoir on Rocky Fork Creek in Highland County approximately 8.6 miles above the confluence of Rocky Fork and Paint; the Delaware Reservoir, now completed and having been built by the Corps of Engineers about six miles upstream from the city of Delaware.

In addition to these flood control reservoirs, channel improvements were provided at five different locations in Columbus, some in Chillicothe and some in Fremont. One flood control reservoir was located on the Sandusky River above Tiffin.

In all the hearing on the official plan and in the plan as adopted and approved by the Conservancy Court the flood control reservoirs were to be constructed in whole or in part by the Federal Government, depending upon whether the flood control benefits in a given reservoir equalled or exceeded the costs.

In Committee Document No. 1, 75th Congress, as approved by the Federal Flood Control Act of 1938, in the survey of Darby, Deer, Paint and Rocky Fork Reservoirs it was determined that they were economically justified for flood control in 1950 and 1951 the Corps of Engineers were then engaged in a re-survey of these reservoirs, and at the request of the Conservancy District, the new Mill Creek Reservoir, developed by the Conservancy District Engineers for protection to Columbus and points south was to be included in the Army survey.

In March of 1948 the City of Columbus being in desperate straits for water asked the Conservancy District to see what could be done about a multiple-purpose project on Walnut Creek, and this demand was so urgent that the District asked the Army Engineers to hold up their Scioto Survey long enough to make a project survey on Walnut, all of which was done.

The multiple-purpose reservoir was ready and the first appropriations for this reservoir were obtained from Congress through the efforts of Ohio Congressional representatives and officials of the Conservancy District and against the opposition of Clyde Lewis and Congressman J. Harry McGregor.

The Walnut Reservoir would have furnished substantial flood protection for sections on the east side of Columbus but, more particularly, for Pickaway and Ross Counties and points south.

After the appropriation was obtained Columbus decided to build the reservoir itself, and rejected any participation by the Army Engineers or the Conservancy District. The project survey had used up all of the available funds for the continuation of the Scioto Survey, and after the conclusion of the litigation in Franklin County and the dissolution of the injunction in August, 1956, representatives of the district together with Senator Bricker, Congressmen Vorys and Polk, Mayor Sensenbrenner, and Allen Pretzman, appeared before the Subcommittee on Appropriations of the Senate in May and June of 1957 to procure funds sufficient to enable the Corps of Engineers to resume their studies in the Scioto Survey for the current fiscal year.

The first appropriation was obtained and the survey was ready to start. In May and June of 1958, before the Subcommittee on Appropriations of the U.S. Senate, Senators Bricker and Lausche and Allen Pretzman representing the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District again appeared before the Senate Committee to procure the remainder of the funds necessary to continue

Special services were held last Sunday evening at the Benfield Avenue Church of Christ (Disciples), 146 Benfield-av, during which five Scouts were presented the God and Country award, the highest award in Scouting.

Scouts of Unit 243 (Boy Scouts and Sea Explorers) took part in the service that was dedicated to the interests of the Scouting movement. Scouts served as ushers, doormen, deacons, singers, and one boy led the congregation in the responsive scripture reading.

President of the Columbus South Side Ministerial Association, Rev. Clarence D. Mulkin, gave the invocation, and greeted those present on behalf of the association.

Guest speaker for the evening was Rev. Kenneth Coy, of the Wilson Avenue Christian Church, who gave an inspiring message on the theme, "Be prepared."

Representing the Boy Scouts of America was Edward J. Bourdrie, district Scout executive from the Mohawk District of the Central Ohio Council of the Boy Scouts of America. He presented a talk on Scouting since its inception to the present. He pointed out how important the God and Country award is, and the honor ascribed in receiving it. He added that only 43 boys out of a possible 17,000 received the award last year in Central Ohio.

The five Benfield Church lads receiving the award were Danny Antle, Adam Crum, Jr., Gary Antle, David Smith and Dennis Antle. The boys' parents pinned the medals on their sons' uniforms. The award can be conveyed only through the church.

Letters of congratulations were forwarded to the boys from James L. Ballinger, director of youth for the 800 Churches of Christ (Disciples in the United States.

Ministers Urge All South Siders To Attend Event

Weeks of preparation will culminate tonight at South High School gymnasium when people of all faiths flock to the South Side Community Lenten service, sponsored by the South Side Ministerial Association to promote tolerance and understanding among religious groups all over this area.

The regular service will get underway at 8 o'clock with the theme "Christ For Today's Living" being expounded by the guest speaker, Ed Beck, a young minister-to-be who captained Kentucky's Wildcats to the NCAA championship last year.

Special Music

Special organ music will begin at 7:30 for those who wish to enjoy the beauty and spiritual solace of traditional hymns.

Rev. Henry Ellis of the Church of God will wind up a 24-hour continuous prayer service about half an hour prior to the service. The prayer service is being supported by members of the congregations of most of the churches on the South Side, each group taking its turn in praying for the success of the Lenten program as a worthy community project.

Choral music will be furnished by a 300-voice choir comprised of members of the choirs from South and Marion-Franklin High Schools and Roosevelt and Barrett Junior High Schools. Kenneth Keller, director of music education in Columbus schools, will direct the choral ensemble with the aid of music instructors from each of the above-mentioned schools.

Spokesmen from the ministerial association invite persons from all over the city to participate in the pre-Easter event.

They also expressed their sincere appreciation to all those groups and individuals who contributed in any way toward making the Lenten service a success.

South Side schools, particularly the music and art departments, were especially commended for their all-out support of the program. School officials have worked tirelessly in preparing the posters announcing the service, and in preparing for the musical portion of the event.

Is Boosters' Club Needed At South?

By Dave Hess

During the past two weeks, the South Side Leader has received considerable comment on the article published in the Jan. 29 edition by South High basketball coach John Colmery, entitled "Why Can't South Win?"

To Coach Colmery's credit the vast majority of the comment has been favorable.

A subject which came as a mild surprise to the Leader staff was mentioned this week when Mrs. Edith Martin, an enthusiastic South High Bulldog rooter, asked that a South High Athletic Boosters Club be formed, the surprise being that South did not have such a group. In the following letter, Mrs. Martin comments:

"I would like to congratulate John Colmery on making his statements about South High. I am a graduate of South High and have two children attending South at present.

"I attend some of the games myself, although I have no son on the team.

"I think one of South's problems could be solved if more parents were enthusiastic about sports. I enjoy seeing the games and think if more parents would attend just one game they would go back and see more.

"How about a South High Boosters Club? Other schools have them — why not South?

"Let's all boost South and raise the boys' morale!"

According to official sources, South High has never had a Boosters' Club. Up to now a strong Alumni Association has provided much of the impetus behind the athletic teams, but the association has necessarily concerned itself with projects other than athletics.

This, of course, is not to be condemned for there are many extracurricular activities in schools of South's size which merit all the support they can get.

In this light, it seems that there is a definite need for a Boosters' Club which would serve to further the interests of athletics at the school, and, at the same time, provide a mechanism which would sustain the pride and morale which goes with winning teams everywhere. This group would also have as its function the building up of a strong school tradition, founded on both academic and athletic prowess.

These were the problems of which John Colmery spoke when he answered the question, "Why Can't South Win?"

This article is not intended to be critical of the present school groups which, in their own ways, contribute to the athletic program at South. But, it appears that if South High School ever wants to maintain a position of superiority in city and Central Ohio athletics, it will need the support of every parent or other interested party who is willing to actively participate in an organization aimed at sustaining morale, nurturing pride in accomplishment, and building a tradition of clean, winning sportsmanship which South's graduates can carry into future life.

No Primary For Mayor

Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner and Council President W. Ralston Westlake will be the two November mayoralty candidates without having to clear the preliminary primary election hurdle.

The two Hilltoppers were left alone in the race Tuesday when the Franklin County Board of Elections disqualified Mrs. Vivienne Suarez, Ackerman-rd housewife, because she didn't have enough valid signatures on her nomination petition.

This means that there will be no primary election for mayor.

SLATE DANCE

Barrett School will hold a Valentine Dance Friday, Feb. 13, from 7 to 10 p.m. This is a closed dance for Barrett students only. PTA members act as chaperones for all school dances.

HITS THE JACKPOT!!—Mrs. Jack Howell, 342 Reinhard-av, is the lucky winner of the $70 jackpot in the last "Confederate" money game to run in the South Side Leader. The game, a weekly feature of the Leader for several years, was discontinued with Mrs. Howell's claim. She happily displays the "Confederate" bills being presented her by South Side Leader's Isabelle Coslett, with a copy of the paper tucked under her arm for guidance in selecting purchases with her winnings.

Mrs. Jack Howell Claims $70 Jackpot To End Money Game

South Sider, Mrs. Jack Howell and her husband were $70 richer last week after claiming the final jackpot in the South Side Leader's "Confederate" money game. "I couldn't believe it," Mrs. Howell claimed upon sighting the jackpot insignia printed in bright green ink in last week's edition of the Leader.

Mrs. Howell said she and her husband are avid puzzle workers and though she has won "a couple little things" she has never won anything this big, before. She immediately called up her lawyer husband at the office and told him the news and she says all he could say was "Well, I'll be switched."

The Howells plan to take a shopping trip soon and buy "groceries and other things." Advertisers appearing in last week's issue will accept "Confederate" cash at face value in payment for any merchandise in their stores.

Charter Should Provide For District Representation

Voters of Columbus will be called upon to approve or disapprove a revised city charter in the near future, perhaps at the May primaries.

Little fault is to be found with the revisions being proposed. We do feel that council should delete that portion of the charter that would make the city auditor an appointive officer. We believe the public generally likes the idea of electing this official.

For many years we have contended that there should be some kind of district representation in city council assured all sections of the city. We had hoped that the charter committee would come up with such a proposal. It was considered but because of lack of an actual map showing the boundaries of such districts seems to have had no further consideration.

It is not too late for city councilmen to make such representation possible by including this revision in the charter before it is submitted to the public for approval. Our contacts with individuals and groups all over the city cause us to believe such a plan would be popular with the public.

Ex-Official Defends Need For Scioto Conservancy District

Pretzman Says Area Citizens Lulled Into False Security

What has the Conservancy District done? Why has flood control in this area been delayed? What can be done about it?

These and numerous other questions have become controversial issues following the recent Central Ohio floods.

In an effort to inform readers of the Hartley Newspapers as to what happened to the Conservancy District, the following article was prepared by Allen I. Pretzman, until recently the secretary of the district.

By Allen I. Pretzman

Official Plan of the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District was finally approved in July of 1952, after a futile attempt in three courts by Clyde Lewis to reject the plan and dissolve the district.

After this decision the district was without funds, and in April of 1953 an injunction was issued by the Common Pleas Court of Franklin County, which restrained the district from collecting or attempting to collect any funds with which to proceed.

This injunction was in full force and effect until August of 1956, thus halting any progress by the district for over three years.

Flood control projects included in the official plan of the district are as follows:

The Mill Creek Reservoir, a tributary of the Scioto entering the Scioto River from the west at aproximately Bellepoint; a reservoir on Big Darby about four miles northeast of Harrisburg; a reservoir on Deer Creek approximately a mile northwest of Crownever Mills in Pickaway County and about nine miles upstream from Williamsport; a reservoir on Paint Creek about two miles above the confluence of Paint Creek and Rocky Fork Creek approximately on the line between Ross and Highland Counties; a reservoir on Rocky Fork Creek in Highland County aproximately 8.6 miles above the confluence of Rocky Fork and Paint; the Delaware Reservoir, now completed and having been built by the Corps of Engineers about six miles upstream from the city of Delaware.

In addition to these flood control reservoirs, channel improvements were provided at five different locations in Columbus, some in Chillicothe and some in Fremont. One flood control reservoir was located on the Sandusky River above Tiffin.

In all the hearing on the official plan and in the plan as adopted and approved by the Conservancy Court the flood control reservoirs were to be constructed in whole or in part by the Federal Government, depending upon whether the flood control benefits in a given reservoir equalled or exceeded the costs.

In Committee Document No. 1, 75th Congress, as approved by the Federal Flood Control Act of 1938, in the survey of Darby, Deer, Paint and Rocky Fork Reservoirs it was determined that they were economically justified for flood control in 1950 and 1951 the Corps of Engineers were then engaged in a re-survey of these reservoirs, and at the request of the Conservancy District, the new Mill Creek Reservoir, developed by the Conservancy District Engineers for protection to Columbus and points south was to be included in the Army survey.

In March of 1948 the City of Columbus being in desperate straits for water asked the Conservancy District to see what could be done about a multiple-purpose project on Walnut Creek, and this demand was so urgent that the District asked the Army Engineers to hold up their Scioto Survey long enough to make a project survey on Walnut, all of which was done.

The multiple-purpose reservoir was ready and the first appropriations for this reservoir were obtained from Congress through the efforts of Ohio Congressional representatives and officials of the Conservancy District and against the opposition of Clyde Lewis and Congressman J. Harry McGregor.

The Walnut Reservoir would have furnished substantial flood protection for sections on the east side of Columbus but, more particularly, for Pickaway and Ross Counties and points south.

After the appropriation was obtained Columbus decided to build the reservoir itself, and rejected any participation by the Army Engineers or the Conservancy District. The project survey had used up all of the available funds for the continuation of the Scioto Survey, and after the conclusion of the litigation in Franklin County and the dissolution of the injunction in August, 1956, representatives of the district together with Senator Bricker, Congressmen Vorys and Polk, Mayor Sensenbrenner, and Allen Pretzman, appeared before the Subcommittee on Appropriations of the Senate in May and June of 1957 to procure funds sufficient to enable the Corps of Engineers to resume their studies in the Scioto Survey for the current fiscal year.

The first appropriation was obtained and the survey was ready to start, in May and June of 1958, before the Subcommittee on Appropriations of the U.S. Senate, Senators Bricker and Lausche and Allen Pretzman representing the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District again appeared before the Senate Committee to procure the remainder of the funds necessary to continue

Special services were held last Sunday evening at the Benfield Avenue Church of Christ (Disciples), 146 Benfield-av, during which five Scouts were presented the God and Country award, the highest award in Scouting.

Scouts of Unit 243 (Boy Scouts and Sea Explorers) took part in the service that was dedicated to the interests of the Scouting movement. Scouts served as ushers, doormen, deacons, singers, and one boy led the congregation in the responsive scripture reading.

President of the Columbus South Side Ministerial Association, Rev. Clarence D. Mulkin, gave the invocation, and greeted those present on behalf of the association.

Guest speaker for the evening was Rev. Kenneth Coy, of the Wilson Avenue Christian Church, who gave an inspiring message on the theme, "Be prepared."

Representing the Boy Scouts of America was Edward J. Bourdrie, district Scout executive from the Mohawk District of the Central Ohio Council of the Boy Scouts of America. He presented a talk on Scouting since its inception to the present. He pointed out how important the God and Country award is, and the honor ascribed in receiving it. He added that only 43 boys out of a possible 17,000 received the award last year in Central Ohio.

The five Benfield Church lads receiving the award were Danny Antle, Adam Crum, Jr., Gary Antle, David Smith and Dennis Antle. The boys' parents pinned the medals on their sons' uniforms. The award can be conveyed only through the church.

Letters of congratulations were forwarded to the boys from James L. Ballinger, director of youth for the 800 Churches of Christ (Disciples in the United States.

Charter Should Provide For District Representation

Voters of Columbus will be called upon to approve or disapprove a revised city charter in the near future, perhaps at the May primaries.

Little fault is to be found with the revisions being proposed. We do feel that council should delete that portion of the charter that would make the city auditor an appointive officer. We believe the public generally likes the idea of electing this official.

For many years we have contended that there should be some kind of district representation in city council assured all sections of the city. We had hoped that the charter committee would come up with such a proposal. It was considered but because of lack of an actual map showing the boundaries of such districts seems to have had no further consideration.

It is not too late for city councilmen to make such representation possible by including this revision in the charter before it is submitted to the public for approval. Our contacts with individuals and groups all over the city cause us to believe such a plan would be popular with the public.

Is Boosters' Club Needed At South?

By Dale Hess

During the past two weeks, the South Side Leader has received considerable comment on the article published in the Jan. 29 edition by South High basketball coach John Colmery, entitled "Why Can't South Win?"

To Coach Colmery's credit the vast majority of the comment has been favorable.

A subject which came as a mild surprise to the Leader staff was mentioned this week when Mrs. Edith Martin, an enthusiastic South High Bulldog rooter, asked that a South High Athletic Boosters Club be formed, the surprise being that South did not have such a group. In the following letter, Mrs. Martin comments:

"I would like to congratulate John Colmery on making his statements about South High. I am a graduate of South High and have two children attending South at present.

"I attend some of the games myself, although I have no son on the team.

"I think one of South's problems could be solved if more parents were enthusiastic about sports. I enjoy seeing the games and think if more parents would attend just one game they would go back and see more.

"How about a South High Boosters Club? Other schools have them — why not South?

"Let's all boost South and raise the boys' morale!"

According to official sources, South High has never had a Boosters' Club. Up to now a strong Alumni Association has provided much of the impetus behind the athletic teams, but the association has necessarily concerned itself with projects other than athletics.

This, of course, is not to be condemned for there are many extracurricular activities in schools of South's size which merit all the support they can get.

In this light, it seems that there is a definite need for a Boosters' Club which would serve to further the interests of athletics at the school, and, at the same time, provide a mechanism which would sustain the pride and morale which goes with winning teams everywhere. This group would also have as its function the building up of a strong school tradition, founded on both academic and athletic prowess.

These were the problems of which John Colmery spoke when he answered the question, "Why Can't South Win?"

This article is not intended to be critical of the present school groups which, in their own ways, contribute to the athletic program at South. But, it appears that if South High School ever wants to maintain a position of superiority in city and Central Ohio athletics, it will need the support of every parent or other interested party who is willing to actively participate in an organization aimed at sustaining morale, nurturing pride in accomplishment, and building a tradition of clean, winning sportsmanship which South's graduates can carry into future life.

No Primary For Mayor

Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner and Council President W. Ralston Westlake will be the two November mayoralty candidates without having to clear the preliminary primary election hurdle.

The two Hilltoppers were left alone in the race Tuesday when the Franklin County Board of Elections disqualified Mrs. Vivienne Suarez, Ackerman-rd housewife, because she didn't have enough valid signatures on her nomination petition.

This means that there will be no primary election for mayor.

SLATE DANCE

Barrett School will hold a Valentine Dance Friday, Feb. 13, from 7 to 10 p.m. This is a closed dance for Barrett students only. PTA members act as chaperones for all school dances.

HITS THE JACKPOT!!—Mrs. Jack Howell, 342 Reinhard-av, is the lucky winner of the $70 jackpot in the last "Confederate" money game to run in the South Side Leader. The game, a weekly feature of the Leader for several years, was discontinued with Mrs. Howell's claim. She happily displays the "Confederate" bills being presented her by South Side Leader's Isabelle Coslett, with a copy of the paper tucked under her arm for guidance in selecting purchases with her winnings.

Mrs. Jack Howell Claims $70 Jackpot To End Money Game

South Sider, Mrs. Jack Howell and her husband were $70 richer last week after claiming the final jackpot in the South Side Leader's "Confederate" money game. "I couldn't believe it," Mrs. Howell claimed upon sighting the jackpot insignia printed in bright green ink in last week's edition of the Leader.

Mrs. Howell said she and her husband are avid puzzle workers and though she has won "a couple little things" she has never won anything this big, before. She immediately called up her lawyer husband at the office and told him the news and she says all he could say was "Well, I'll be switched."

The Howells plan to take a shopping trip soon and buy "groceries and other things." Advertisers appearing in last week's issue will accept "Confederate" cash at face value in payment for any merchandise in their stores.

Ex-Official Defends Need For Scioto Conservancy District

Pretzman Says Area Citizens Lulled Into False Security

What has the Conservancy District done? Why has flood control in this area been delayed? What can be done about it?

These and numerous other questions have become controversial issues following the recent Central Ohio floods.

In an effort to inform readers of the Hartley Newspapers as to what happened to the Conservancy District, the following article was prepared by Allen I. Pretzman, until recently the secretary of the district.

By Allen I. Pretzman

Official Plan of the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District was finally approved in July of 1955, after a futile attempt in three courts by Clyde Lewis to reject the plan and dissolve the district.

After this decision the district was without funds, and in April of 1953 an injunction was issued by the Common Pleas Court of Franklin County, which restrained the district from collecting or attempting to collect any funds with which to proceed.

This injunction was in full force and effect until August of 1956, thus halting any progress by the district for over three years.

Flood control projects included in the official plan of the district are as follows:

The Mill Creek Reservoir, a tributary of the Scioto entering the Scioto River from the west at apreximately Bellepoint; a reservoir on Big Darby about four miles northeast of Harrisburg; a reservoir on Deer Creek approximately a mile northwest of Crownover Mills in Pickaway County and about nine miles upstream from Williamsport; a reservoir on Paint Creek about two miles above the confluence of Paint Creek and Rocky Fork Creek approximately on the line between Ross and Highland Counties; a reservoir on Rocky Fork Creek in Highland County apreximately 8.6 miles above the confluence of Rocky Fork and Paint; the Delaware Reservoir, now completed and having been built by the Corps of Engineers about six miles upstream from the city of Delaware.

In addition to these flood control reservoirs, channel improvements were provided at five different locations in Columbus, some in Chillicothe and some in Fremont. One flood control reservoir was located on the Sandusky River above Tiffin.

In all the hearing on the official plan and in the plan as adopted and approved by the Conservancy Court the flood control reservoirs were to be constructed in whole or in part by the Federal Government, depending upon whether the flood control benefits in a given reservoir equalled or exceeded the costs.

In Committee Document No. 1, 75th Congress, as approved by the Federal Flood Control Act of 1938, in the survey of Darby, Deer, Paint and Rocky Fork Reservoirs it was determined that they were economically justified for flood control In 1950 and 1951 the Corps of Engineers were then engaged in a re-survey of these reservoirs, and at the request of the Conservancy District, the new Mill Creek Reservoir, developed by the Conservancy District Engineers for protection to Columbus and points south was to be included in the Army survey.

In March of 1948 the City of Columbus being in desperate straits for water asked the Conservancy District to see what could be done about a multiple-purpose project on Walnut Creek, and this demand was so urgent that the District asked the Army Engineers to hold up their Scioto Survey long enough to make a project survey on Walnut, all of which was done.

The multiple-purpose reservoir was ready and the first appropriations for this reservoir were obtained from Congress through the efforts of Ohio Congressional representatives and officials of the Conservancy District and against the opposition of Clyde Lewis and Congressman J. Harry McGregor.

The Walnut Reservoir would have furnished substantial flood protection for sections on the east side of Columbus but, more particularly, for Pickaway and Ross Counties and points south.

After the appropriation was obtained Columbus decided to build the reservoir itself, and rejected any participation by the Army Engineers or the Conservancy District. The project survey had used up all of the available funds for the continuation of the Scioto Survey, and after the conclusion of the litigation in Franklin County and the dissolution of the injunction in August, 1956, representatives of the district together with Senator Bricker, Congressmen Vorys and Polk, Mayor Sensenbrenner, and Allen Pretzman, appeared before the Subcommittee on Appropriations of the Senate in May and June of 1957 to procure funds sufficient to enable the Corps of Engineers to resume their studies in the Scioto Survey for the current fiscal year.

The first appropriation was obtained and the survey was ready to start. In May and June of 1958, before the Subcommittee on Appropriations of the U.S. Senate, Senators Bricker and Lausche and Allen Pretzman representing the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District again appeared before the Senate Committee to procure the remainder of the funds necessary to continue

PENNEY'S STAFF PLANS—Pictured are "key" members of the sales and managerial staff of the J. C. Penney store, located in the Great Southern Shopping Center, 3811 S. High-st, at a weekly planning meeting. According to Earl Wilson, manager, the staff meets every Friday morning to plan for store operations three months in advance. Right now they are planning "what people will be needing and wanting in April," said Wilson. Seen seated, left to right, are Jim Banta, Wilson, Charlie Lockhart. Standing, left to right are Rush Floyd, Jack Moore, Fred Outcalt and Dick Herman.

Penney's Manager Forecasts Men's 1959 Fashion Trends

Earl Wilson, manager of the Penney's store at Great Southern Shopping Center, believes that men's fashions are as changeable and variable as women's. Each year something new comes into focus as a fashion must. This year, cotton cord, a wash and wear fabric, promises to be a popular material, and "antelope," a new medium-dark shade of brown, will be "the" color for this spring and summer.

His store, located in a central position in the Center, boasts one of the largest patio display areas in the Columbus Penney stores. The patio lies to the rear of the store and is used for the display of unfinished furniture and a new line of lightweight aluminum lawn furniture. This furniture is unique in having the nylon strips forming the seat and back attached to the aluminum frame by means of screws, making it easy to replace when necessary.

Wilson opened the new store Oct. 10, 1957, having served as manager of Penney's in Welch, W. Va. Since then, two men have been promoted from his store. Wilson feels this is indicative of his belief that "there is a good opportunity for young men to advance in our company." He pointed out with pride the caliber of young men who are now helping guide the operation of the Great Southern Penney's store. All have worked at Penney's for some time and two are college graduates.

Fred Outcalt, a Penney's trainee, hails from Pleasantville, O., and attended Capital University for four years, majoring in general business. Outcalt says he joined Penney's "because the opportunities with them looked better than with any other retailing company." He enjoys working at the Great Southern Penney's because "it's just like home. So many of the people who shop here are from surrounding rural communities."

Charlie Lockhart, a 1955 graduate of Marshall College in business management, worked his way through college by working part-time at Penney's. He is a section manager over the men's and boys' department, work clothes and shoes, and helped to open this store. He is married and has two children, a three-year-old boy and a girl, six months old. He resides in Obetz.

Jack Moore, section manager over housewares and home furnishings, is a graduate of Upper Arlington High School and attended Ohio State University for almost three years. He has been with the company one year and five months. He is married and his hobbies are golf and hunting "when I have time." He says he "enjoys working in a brand new store. I feel we have a good future because the South end of Columbus is building up so rapidly."

Rush Floyd, section manager over infants' and girls' departments, women's furnishings and foundations, started with Penney's when he was in the 10th grade of high school at Welch, W. Va., under the management of Wilson.

After graduating from high school Floyd went full time with Penney's and came to Columbus to help open the new store. He and his wife will be parents for the first time in two weeks.

Dick Herman, Penney's display manager, things the Great Southern Shopping Center is the most active in the city. "The Great Southern Businessmen's Association is always sponsoring a carnival, or circus, or rodeo, at the center," he said. Herman is a 1953 graduate of Central High and went to California after graduation, where he worked for a Penney's store one and a half years. He is married and is the father of a little boy who will be one year old this month.

Jim Banta, assistant manager, believes that "security is the greatest advantage in working with Penney's." He's been with the company seven years. According to Banta, Penney's employees are first trained "to get to know the merchandise." Banta said he wanted to work with Penney's when he was just a little kid, and he started with them part-time when in high school. He and his wife are parents of a little girl, four months old.

Ex-Official—

the Scioto Survey through fiscal year 1959.

In the fall of 1958, Congressmen Vorys and Polk and Allen Pretzman representing the Conservancy District appeared before the Subcommittee of the House on Appropriations, 85th Congress, and as a result of the two appearances in 1958 funds were procured sufficient to see the survey through to its completion.

Directors of the district then took all steps possible to hasten this survey, which the Corps of Engineers had estimated to take a year and a half for completion or, in other words, the early part of 1960. The district was anxious to have no delays in this survey, and to procure the government conclusions as to what reservoirs were economically justifiable and which ones would be eligible for construction in whole or in part by flood control appropriations from congress.

We have been roundly abused by our opponents for going to Congress and lobbying for these appropriations. Throughout the preparation and hearing on the plan, the Conservancy Board of Directors intended to take advantage of possible Federal assistance in the construction of reservoirs too expensive to be paid for by local interests.

This was especially advantageous since most of the projects in the Official Plan of the District were part of the overall Federal plan for reservoir control for the benefit of the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers, which reservoirs would likewise control floods on the local watersheds.

Since 1938 conditions have materially changed in these river valleys; more expensive construction and development has taken place and in order to make an up-to-date determination as to economic advisability, the Scioto Survey was undertaken by the Corps of Engineers.

In order to cut down the over-all time of this survey so that the district officials could go to Congress for appropriations for the construction of these reservoirs, particularly Mill Creek north of Columbus, the directors of the district, in the fall of 1958, had conferences with the Chief of Engineers in Washington, the Division Headquarters in Cincinnati, and the District Office in Huntington, all aimed at the adoption of steps in cooperation with the Corps of Engineers to hasten the completion of this survey.

Various methods were suggested and certain cooperative procedures were arrived at between the Conservancy District and the Army and this survey by the Corps of Engineers was in full swing when a majority of the judges of the Conservancy Court voted to dissolve the District and to refund all of the money to the counties. This procedure has seriously impaired and definitely delayed the schedule for the establishment of these flood control projects.

In view of the catastrophe caused by the flood of Jan. 21, the district would have again gone to the Corps of Engineers to see if priority in this Scioto Survey could not be given to Mill Creek and Darby Creek, in the order named, for the purpose of enabling the district to take the necessary steps in Congress to secure appropriations for the early construction of the Mill Creek Reservoir, this reservoir offering the greatest flood control benefits of all of the reservoirs in the district.

The Corps of Engineers has a policy under normal circumstances of not giving priority to any one project in a watershed survey, but owing to the heavy losses in the recent flood, the Conservancy Board felt that it might persuade the Corps to make an exception to this rule.

With the dissolution of the district all of the proceedings will be at an end, one section of the watershed will be working against the other, the Board of Directors is now under the control of persons who have desperately endeavored to destroy this district for the last eight years, and the hope for flood control projects only approximately a year to a year and a half off will now be completely abandoned if some steps are not taken to revive the district and retain this flood control plan.

It is significant that no better plan or even an alternative plan has been suggested by any opponent of the District or any judge voting to dissolve the same. It is the considered opinion of the former officials of the district that had it not been for the constatent attacks both upon the official plan and the financial administration of the district by Delaware and Union Counties and their county offi-

A space-age problem is being anticipated by the Federal Communications Commission. It is seeking comment on a proposal to set aside a band of frequencies in the international radio spectrum specifically for space communications. cials strongly assisted by certain interests in Columbus, the district would have had the Mill Creek Reservoir built and the channel improvements constructed in Columbus prior to the advent of the recent flood of Jan. 21.

To Consider the specific problem of flood protection for the West Side of Columbus, it must be clearly understood that insofar as the loss of life and property on the West Side is concerned in the 1913 flood, the primary cause of that loss was from the Scioto River and not the Olentangy.

The people of Columbus, and particularly West Side residents, have been lulled into a false sense of security that the Delaware Reservoir on the Olentangy constitutes the final answer for protection to the West Side and all other parts of Columbus.

Remarks by public officials from time to time when the Hoover Reservoir was being considered as a multiple-purpose project has added to the erroneous conception. This is not intended to belittle the magnificent performance of the Delaware Reservoir in the flood of Jan. 21, 1959.

Without the operation of the Delaware Reservoir and the tremendous amount of flood water it safely impounded, some parts of Worthington and sections in the north end of Columbus, and especially the University Hospital, would have been put out of commission. This reservoir reduced the crest at Columbus 4-2/10 feet and at Chillicothe very nearly three feet (2.9 feet to be exact). The severity of the inundation at Chillicothe would have been increased to a disaster point had the Delaware Reservoir not been in operation.

In 1913 approximately 85,000 cubic feet of water per second (c.f.s.) struck the levees near Grandview-av in Columbus' West Side at a point where the Scioto River turns from a northerly direction into an easterly one. These levees were only capable of handling approximately 60,000 c.f.s. and, of course, with the excess volume of water and the velocity behind it the levees deteriorated rapidly sending this water into the West Side, causing the loss of 93 lives and untold millions in damages.

The Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District in its plans provided for the Mill Creek Reservoir and five separate units of channel improvements in Columbus to enable Columbus to be safe from a repetition of the 1913 flood, plus a slight margin in excess thereof. These five channel units must be constructed in connection with the Mill Creek Reservoir because without the reservoir the units may well be a waste of money and not afford the maximum protection.

It is the duty of any flood control district to afford maximum protection against the largest flood of record, and this is what was planned for, taking 1913 as the criterion. The channel improvements were to be done by the City of Columbus at an approximate cost of a million and a half dollars, and because of the extreme value of the Mill Creek Reservoir from the standpoint of benefits to costs it is fairly certain that the Federal Government will construct the same insofar as the flood control aspects are concerned, entirely at Federal cost. This will all be determined at the end of the Scioto Survey.

The levees at Grandview-av are still capable of holding back only 60,000 c.f.s against the 85,000 that came down in 1913. The five local channel and levy units in the District's Official Plan are "A" to "E" inclusive. Unit "A" is the one designed to take care of the difficulty at Dry Run where the flood of last month broke through. The proposed new expressway will substantially take care of Units "B" and "C", probably making those unnecessary to build, thus leaving "A," "D" and "E" to be done.

Much criticism has been leveled against the present administration for not doing the improvement called for by Unit "A" but this criticism is unjustified in that the present city administration has joined with the Conservancy District in attempting to procure from Congress the funds necessary to complete the Scioto Survey so that both the Mill Creek Reservoir and the channel improvements can be done in conjunction with each other.

It was not contemplated that proper protection could be procured from one without the other. Without fear of contradiction we can say that had the district been permitted to proceed with its program back in 1953 without the opposition of Clyde Lewis, recently appointed head of district, assisted by certain interests in Columbus and some of Columbus public officials at that time, all of these recriminations and attempts to pass the blame from one place to the other would have been absent.

No plan of any kind, good, bad or indifferent, has been suggested to replace the Conservancy District Plan which was prepared by a nationally known hydraulic engineer ably assisted by engineers formerly with the Corps of Engineers of the U.S. Army. Extensive hearings were held on this plan before the Conservancy Court, at which time Clyde Lewis offered every objection which he could think of. These objections were rejected and the plan was adopted by the district as the best and most feasible program for flood control of this valley.

Abraham Lincoln Said:

"That the late interference of Russia in the Hungarian struggle was, in our opinion, such illegal and unwarrantable interference. That to have resisted Russia in that case, or to resist any power in like case, would be no violation of our own cherished principles of non-intervention, but, on the contrary, would be ever meritorious, in us, or any independent nation."

Spectator—

It would appear logical that a councilman be elected from each of about five districts: East, South, West, North and Northeast, with four councilmen to be elected at large from the entire city.

Such a plan would encourage better candidates from each area to run for council because of the fact they would not have to campaign over such a wide area.

As Columbus continues to expand rapidly the residents of any section will feel nearer their city government if there is assurance that at least one councilman lives in their area. It will make it possible for local matters to get better consideration than otherwise might be true.

The fact that four councilmen would be elected at large certainly would counteract any criticism of the possibility of the city being run by ward politicians.

There are a lot of points in favor of this plan. We sincerely hope both the Republican and Democratic councilmen will reconsider this matter and see that it is included in the revised charter.

After the luncheon, the club will dispense with the usual business meeting and spend the remainder of the time in preparing decorations for the Japanese Tea Room. Schiller Club is responsible for this project in the County Wide Rally of Golden Age Clubs, to be held at Schiller on Wednesday, Mar. 18.

Officers of the Schiller Club stress the importance of each member being present for this meeting so that the completion of the project may be carried out.

Time of this luncheon meeting is being changed to 11 a.m. instead of the usual noon meeting time.

PTA TO MEET

St. Mary PTA will meet on Thursday, Feb. 12, at 8 p.m. in the high school. Father John Wolf of St. Charles Borromeo College will be guest of the evening and will show slides of his visit to Rome.

Dinner Held For Members At Settlement

Board members and their husbands and wives were entertained at a dinner preceding last month's board meeting of the South Side Settlement board.

After approving the secretary's report, the board learned that the Community Chest had cut $400 from the November budget and that the settlement probably would have to take another cut in December.

Harry Vorrath reported that a new worker had been engaged to investigate a new, tougher territory.

Following the meeting the group adjourned to the gym where they heard the Gas Co. Chorus.

Those attending the meeting were Mrs. C. B. Harrison, Miss Martha Bucke, Nelson Hennis, Mrs. R. W. Edwards, Mrs. Karl Kuhn, Mrs. Harry Linebaugh, Mrs. Donald Wilkerson, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lowman, Vorrath, Mrs. Paul Benner, John Hansel, and guests, Rev. C. B. Harrison, Miss Roberta Woodrow, Mrs. Hennis, Miss Linebaugh, Karl Kuhn, Harry Linebaugh, Donald Wilkerson Paul Benner and Mrs. John Hansel.

South Nips Red Devils In 42-39 Tilt

South High won its second straight City Loop contest Tuesday night when the Bulldogs turned in a ragged 42-39 victory over host Marion-Franklin.

The low-scoring affair saw the lead change hands many times, with the score knotted 9-9 at the end of the first canto, and 19-19 at intermission.

South slid ahead in the third quarter, 30-28, but with the beginning of the final period the Red Devils flipped in five quick points and enjoyed a short-lived 33-31 lead.

South's Jim Marshall was up to the task, however, and measured two free throws to put the Bulldogs ahead for good mid way in the final chukker.

Waldo Drake was high point man for South with 18 tallies. Marshall netted 12.

Dan Dailey, with 14, and Rod Buccilla, with 10, paced the Red Devil offensive.

South High Officials Okay Boosters Club

By Dave Hess

School officials and coaches at South High School voiced their approval last week of a South High Boosters Club, with the provisos that the school would have a controlling voice in the venture, and that the club should boost not only the athletic program, but the entire student body.

In a personal interview, Principal H. D. Swain said he would approve any such organization whose aim it was to support school spirit, in general, as well as athletics. "We have 1400 pupils here at South," said the principal, "and they are entitled to a 'boost' just as much as the 150 or so who engage in the interscholastic athletic program."

Closer Ties

Swain emphasized that a Boosters group should include in its functions the promotion of closer ties between the school and the community, as manifested by its support of the student body even though its primary emphasis might be on athletics.

Basketball Coach John Colmery, whose recent editorial in the South Side Leader prompted much constructive discussion about South's athletic program, said Saturday that he was interested in a Boosters Club, so long as it contributed to the good of the school and community, and was not merely "pressure group" aimed at "winning all the time, regardless of cost."

Football mentor Bob Duncan came out in favor of a Boosters Club "along the lines of the Grandview High School Boosters, who are not only a credit to the school and its athletics, but to the community as well."

Will Meet

Swain said he is willing to meet at any time with representatives of the South Side community who are genuinely interested in such an organization, in order to come to some sort of understanding regarding the composition and goals of a possible Boosters group.

William Henry, president of the Council of South Side Organizations, remarked that he personally is "definitely interested in a Boosters Club, and would feel honored to be able to contribute to the formation of it."

Open Membership

Coach Colmery said he felt a Booster's Club should have completely "open" membership: that is, not restricted to "select few," who would represent a faction rather than the South Side people.

The South Side Leader has offered to take the responsibility of acting as a communications medium between the school and community members who are interested in the formation of a Boosters Club. All interested parties may feel free to contact the Leader, or Coaches Colmery and Duncan on the question.

Moral Responsibility Is Stressed By Flood Experts

"Flood control is a moral as well as a practical responsibility."

This was the thought presented to local civic leaders who heard two nationally famous water control experts speak last Thursday.

A gathering of 150 persons, invited by the Community Services Council, listened to Bryce Browning, secretary-treasurer of the Muskingum Conservancy District, and Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, originator of several of the world's most successful flood control projects.

Browning in reviewing the success of both the Muskingum and Miami Conservancy projects strongly emphasized three points:

- Flood control and water conservation programs must be planned on a watershed basis, following natural drainage areas instead of political boundaries.
- The necessary reservoir sites for both flood control and conserving our water supply are limited by nature. Many of these are no longer available due to costly industrial, utility, highway and municipal developments. Only as they are acquired at an early date and are later developed on a multiple-use basis may we assure ourselves of adequate water supply in time of drought, flood protection and water recreation at the minimum of cost.

Future development of Columbus and the Scioto Valley may be greatly dependent on water supply and control action taken now, Browning asserted.

•Local initiative and support is essential if a program such as the Scioto-Sandusky district is to proceed.

Dam Saved Millions

Browning quoted figures given by the U.S. District Engineers which showed that the

Seven Hundred South Siders Will Go Calling Heart Sunday

Volunteers will knock at the door of every home in the area this Sunday to give every family an opportunity to join the Heart Fund's fight against heart disease.

Heart Sunday will mark the high point of a month-long campaign for heart research funds to find the answers to the nation's number one health problem.

Some 700 South Side volunteers will conduct the Heart Sunday door-to-door canvass from noon until 3 p.m.

Mrs. William R. Truax, 1110 S. Champion-av, is south area chairman with Mrs. Chares E. Clifton, 735 Hanford-st, assistant.

Ward chairmen and assistants include Mrs. Paul Resch, 833 Siebert-st, and Mrs. William McGovern, 906 S. Champion-av, (Ward 1); Mrs. James P. Leonard, 1182 Wilson-av, and Mrs. Edmund McCloskey, 908 Carpenter-st (Ward 2); Mrs. Samuel Broidy, and Miss Stella Miller, both of 892 Carpenter-st (Ward 3) and Mrs. Ray A. McDowell, 2499 Fairwood-av (Ward 29).

Drive leaders emphasized that Sunday will be the one time that residents will be asked to give since the Heart Association does no on-the-job solicitation of employees. Club and company contributions are solicited separately.

During the canvass each family will receive from the Heart Sunday volunteer a free booklet entitled "Strokes."

The pamphlet tells of the development of strokes and how stroke victims and their families can work together for recovery.

Residents need not be home or contribute to the Heart Fund in order to receive the pamphlet. It is being given as a public service of the Central Ohio Heart Association which sponsors the Heart Fund campaign here.

Heart Sunday volunteers calling on homes Sunday afternoon will wear identification badges and will carry official buff-colored envelopes.

Contributors may seal their checks, bills, or coins in the envelopes without revealing the amount of the donation.

When a volunteer finds no one at home, she will leave the "Strokes" booklet and a pre-addressed envelope designed for mailing contributions to Heart Fund headquarters.

Major portion of Heart Fund contributions are used to advance heart research, education and community services in the 51-county area which makes up the Central Ohio Heart Fund.

Seventy-five percent of all funds collected remain in Ohio to carry on these programs.

In the past 10 years, Central Ohio Heart has sponsored nearly $700,000 in heart research in Ohio hospitals and universities. This year alone $185,000 has been budgeted for 25 important study projects and other programs.

Stray Dog Bites Child

Ricky Hamler, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Hamler, 947 S. Ohio-av, was bitten by a stray dog on his way to school Tuesday noon.

His mother reported that he had just finished his lunch and was returning to classes when the dog jumped at him.

Ricky was bitten on the hand and received a scratch on his forehead. A witness reported that the dog has been seen in the neighborhood.

The dog was described as small, with short, brown hair.

Flood Aid Applicants Urged To Register For Relief Now

Dan Bachman, Red Cross disaster relief director, planned to suggest a Monday, Feb. 23, deadline for flood aid applications when he met Tuesday night with the local advisory committee of the organization.

Bachman urged immediate filing of requests for aid. At the same time, he underlined the fact that every application filed is being investigated.

So far, 1,061 applications have been received. The advisory council, comprised of 15 local community leaders, last week allocated $4,060 for furhiture repair and replacement. This was included in $70,585 spent by the Red Cross for emergency mass care, such as food, clothing, and medical needs.

Families wishing to apply to the Red Cross for aid should visit the disaster office at Central Point before the Monday, Feb. 23, deadline. The telephone number is BR 9-7341.

Promptness in filing applications for rehabilitation also is urged by the field office of the Small Business Association, which plans to remain in the city for at least ten more weeks.

The headquarters, in Room 207 of the Old Post Office building, is handling low-interest, long term loans in the lower Ohio disaster areas.

Owners of flood-damaged businesses, churches, and homes may apply for SBA loans, either through their banks or directly to the Federal agency. SBA field, office manager George F. Baker reported scattered applications coming into his office, with the bulk of them being processed by Columbus banks. He commended the banks for doing a good job with both participating and non-participating loans.

Father Takes Gun From Irate Barrett Student

A South Side father had to disarm his son, a Barrett Junior High School student, after the youth came home for a shotgun Tuesday afternoon following a disagreement with teachers.

The father was called from work by Juvenile Bureau officers. The parent took the gun from the boy. Officers said the gun was not loaded.

Following the incident at school, the principal called the youth's mother. The 16-year-old youth appeared with a shotgun in his home while his mother was talking to the school official, according to police.

Officials felt the boy was too disturbed to place in the Detention Home and the youth was held in the County Jail.

School Society Names Officers

The Philomathean Society of South High School recently elected new officers.

Kay Hussey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hussey, 679 Thurman-av, was elected president.

Luna Cooper, 1230 Ann-st, was elected vice-president. Sue Edwards, 693 Thurman-av, is secretary and Sally Paulus, 68 E. Welch-av, treasurer.

SouthKiwanis Will Publish Paper In May

South Side Columbus' newest service club, the professional and businessmen's Kiwanis Club of Southern Columbus, announced this week the publication of a newspaper to be distributed to all homes in the South Side about May 1.

Once-a-year advertising salesmen — the Kiwanians themselves — already are calling on their friends, the merchants and industrial firms of the South Side. Their purpose is simple: a moderately priced subscription for advertising space.

The Kiwanians are relatively new in the South Side. They were organized barely a year ago to bring to the South Side what other Columbus communities have enjoyed for a number of years. That is, a dedicated interest in the welfare of their community youth, their senior citizens, and an interest in other beneficial activities that might be passed over and gone unnoticed and unhelped without Kiwanis interest.

The Southern Kiwanis is not a welfare agency. It primarily attempts to become an informal agency whereby youths, and others, can be given individual opportunity to identify themselves with benefiting projects. The Kiwanians have committees interested in conservation, vocational guidance, fellowship and education. They also contribute to Scouting activities and school programs.

Little League Baseball is an activity customarily guided and sponsored by Kiwanis Clubs in most parts of the United States and Canada.

This year's programs will be administered by Albert S. Justus, 1447 Wilson-av, Captain of Emergency Squads for the Columbus Fire Department, and an executive with the Boothe Fire Equipment Co., Harmon-av. He is the president of Southern Kiwanis.

Editor Gearhart

Edwin Gearhart, past president and principal of Marion-Franklin High School, has been named editor of the Kiwanian's welfare paper. Advertising sales are team enterprises headed by Donald Grant and John Titus. Circulation manager is Joseph Potenza; distribution manager is Donald Dill. Heading the industrial sales division is Omer Bohl and Henry Siefert. Advertising manager is Michael Lower; Kiwanian treasurer, John Howald, will head the newspaper business affairs committee.

The newspaper committee is comprised of Norm Altaman, Earl Wilson, and Lloyd Wilkinson.

AL JUSTUS

Affairs Head

Otto C. Meier, Kiwanian Public Affairs Committee chairman and second vice-president, will also head the newspaper public affairs. South Side groups who desire editorial coverage in the Kiwanian's paper are urged to contact Meier at his insurance offices, 40 W. Gay-st.

The Kiwanian's first paper will spotlight community enterprises already successfully conducted by other community groups. Feature stories about the South Side Branch YMCA, Boy Scouts, Little League Baseball, Southeast Lions Club, and so on are expected to form a prominent part of the newspaper.

Friend's Arrival Saves Woman From Attacker

The arrival of her boy friend saved a local woman from further attack as a man attacked her in her S. 18th-st home early Friday.

According to the woman, the man, who was an acquaintance, forced her to the floor and tore off her clothes. The woman's boy friend arrived and the man escaped capture by fleeing to the second floor and jumping from the bathroom window, said police.

The woman identified a Lehman-st man as her attacker and detectives are seeking him. The suspect left his shoes and a coat at the scene, according to police. The woman was unhurt.

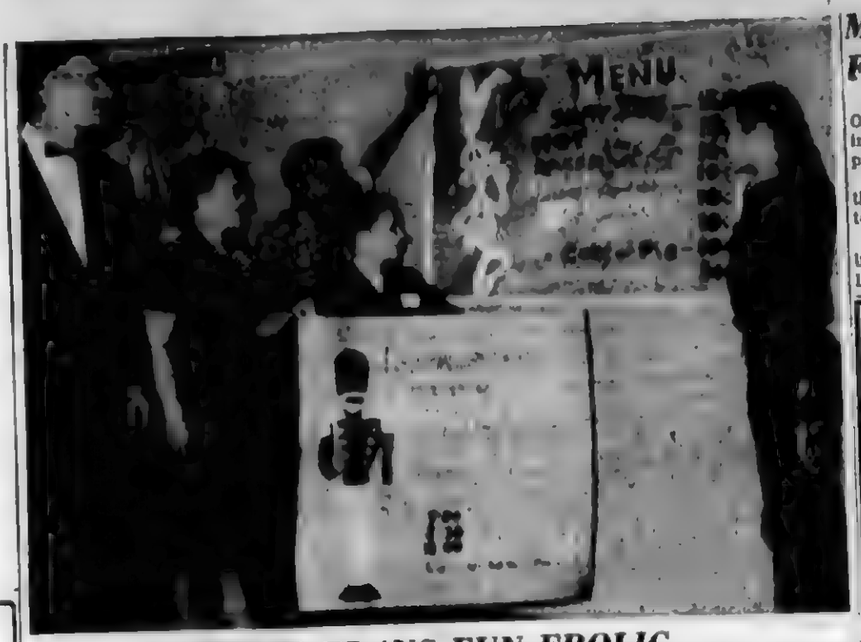
THIS IS NATIONAL BROTHERHOOD WEEK

AN AMERICAN is one who believes in the right of men and women of whatever creed, class, color or ancestry, to live as human beings with the dignity becoming the children of God.

AN AMERICAN is one who believes in the right to be free; free not only from crushing coercions and dictatorships and regimentation, but free for that way of life where men may think and speak as they choose and worship God as they see fit.



AN AMERICAN is one who believes in the right to vote, the right to work, the right to learn, the right to life, and —what is equally important—in the right to be different; for he knows that if we ever lose the right to be different we lose the right to be free.

AN AMERICAN is one who believes in democracy, not only for himself but for all his fellow-Americans. By democracy he means not simply the rule of the majority but the rights of minorities; and those minorities have rights, not because they are minorities, but because they are human beings.

AN AMERICAN is one who believes in the responsibility of privileges. What he asks for himself, he is willing to grant to others; what he demands from others, he is willing to give himself. His creed is not alone, "Live and let live," but "Live and help live."

AN AMERICAN is one who acts from faith in others, not fear of others; from understanding, not prejudice; from goodwill, not hatred. To bigotry he gives no sanction; to intolerance no support.

The only question THE TRUE AMERICAN ever asks is not, Are you Protestant or Catholic, Gentile or Jew, white or colored, but, Are you an American? If you are, then give me your hand, for I am an American too. (Written by Harold W. Ruopp, minister-at-large, Minnesota Council of Churches)

Coca Cola Names Cross The (T) Contest Winners

Indoor sports generally hold sway during fall and winter months, and right now a new game seems destined to join "Scrabble" and "Monopoly" as a leading indoor pastime for both juveniles and adults. Its name is "Cross the T" and oodles of prizes spur the players' interest.

"Cross the T" is played with caps from bottles of Coca-Cola. A gold or black letter is printed on each cap, under the cork. So, to play "Cross the T" all you need is caps from bottles of coke. That's the reason young folks, adults, club members, PTA groups and others are organizing parties to collect caps.

With the letters contestants seek to spell two key words currently found in advertising of Coca-Cola.

First prize winners will have their choice of either a brand new Westinghouse 17-inch portable TV, or the latest model Westinghouse portable Stereo Hi-Fi Six hundred second prize winners will receive Eastman Kodaks new Starflash camera sets. These sets include a camera, film, batteries and flash bulbs.

Lares TV Manager Says Makers Focus On Cabinets

William Lares

William Lares, owner-manager of Lares Television Sales and Service, 3881 S. High-st., Great Southern Shopping Center, believes that TV manufacturers are going into more cabinet design and that this trend will continue.

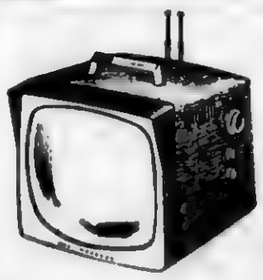
A veteran of the TV repair business for nine years, Lares repaired sets for seven years at his home, 1057 Williams-rd, before opening his own shop in October, 1957. Since then he bought out an adjoining shop in the center to double his facilities.

Lares handles five major makes of TV sets, radios, record players and hi-fi's, with or without stereophonic. His showroom-salesroom occupies the front half of the building, with a repair shop in the back half.

He is open Monday through Saturday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., and makes service calls on Sunday, 12 noon to 9 p.m.

Lares has been a resident since 1928 and has lived in the South End all that time.

His shop employs six people, including his son, Clarence, an associate.



His hobbies are hunting and fishing. Although he says his wife doesn't like to go along on such trips, his eight-year-old daughter, Joyce Ann, does. She is a student at Hamilton Elementary. Another daughter, Sharon Lee, 15, attends Hamilton High.

South Tops McKinley; North Wins

South High's Bulldogs, after drawing Utica (15-2) in the opening round of the District AA tourney, proceeded to warm up for that game by defeating Linden-McKinley, 56-48, on the latter's court last Tuesday evening in a City League tilt

Behind 29-21 at intermission, the 'Dogs rallied in the third and final cantos to wrap up the win. Waldo Drake and Jim Marshall dumped in 10 points each during the second half uprising.

Marshall finished the night with 21 tallies. Drake contributed 19.

Last Friday the Bulldogs were less fortunate, losing to league-leading North by a 57-47 margin

North's Eddie Clark staged a magnificent exhibition, scoring 28 points and bringing the fans to their feet with his splendid floor play.

South had hung tenaciously in the game during the first half, down only 20-17 at intermission. But the Polar Bears turned on the steam in the second half to win going away.

Jim Marshall was high man for the locals with 21 markers.

South's season record in loop play is 7-5.

South Cage Statistics Are Announced

After 15 games, the following South High cagers lead in the five phases of the game which Coach John Colmery regards as most important, statistically speaking:

Jim Marshall leads in the amount of points he has scored over the points his man-for-man opponents have scored, by 75.

Gene Harper is low in personal fouls, having fouled 17 times in nine games for an average of 1.88, and in free throw percentage with 18 of 25 for .72 percent.

Bill Young leads in field goal percentage with 45 of 100 for 45 percent.

Buddy Drake leads in rebounds with 124 and only 37 mistakes for a plus 87 in ball control.

Dan Dailey's 10 points led Red Devil scorers. The loss put Marion Franklin's season-ending City Loop record at 1-11.

Hot Finishes Predicted In Loop Play

Teams in the Intermediate and Junior Division of the South Side Y Church Leagues are going right down to the final night of play to select champions.

If games went true to form in Tuesday's play, St. John E. and R. will play Emmanuel Lutheran Feb. 24 for the Junior League title.

Clair Chapel, Hungarian E. and R. and South Methodist are in a real dog fight for Intermediate honors. These three teams finished in a three-way tie for first round laurels and were victors in first round tournament clashes to set the stage for a red-hot finish.

Award parties for the leagues will be held the first week of March.

Be-Boppers, Musketeers Keep Share Of Top Rung

South Side Branch YMCA Gra-Y Basketball Leagues have turned into a red-hot race.

All teams have shown excellent sportsmanship throughout the entire season to make it a real close choice between the teams to receive the trophy following the season's play.

The Tuesday League still finds the Livingston Be-Boppers and the Reeb Musketeers tied for the first place with another set of wins in last week's games. These two teams do not meet until the last game.

Capt. Clarence Bowens and Steve Jackson led the Reeb Musketeers to their fourth straight win by defeating the Heyl Vanguards 28-6. Both Bowens and Jackson contributed 12 points to the cause

Shaky Half

'Livingston's Be-Boppers came back after a shaky first half to keep their record perfect, beating the Heyl Terriers 15-4. Frank Watson's six points in the last half helped bring about the win.

Stewart Dribblers, after losing one of their key players, Dan Smith, who suffered a broken collarbone in the early part of the game, could not seem to get going and lost to the Heyl Globetrotters 15-0.

Livingston's Hawks defeated the Siebert's Scorpions in a close one 12-10 in spite of Bob Maust's six points.

Keep Tie

In the Thursday League, the Beck Bulldogs kept their tie for first place by drawing a bye. Lincoln Park's Grays defeated the Southwood Neutrons 10-6 to protect their perfect record.

Lincoln Park Bucks put one over on their "sister" team, the Scarlets, 9-5. Scott Brown led the scoring for the Bucks with four points.

Southwood Electrons could not withstand the Deshler Hornets' offensive push and lost 14-2. John Wardlow led the scoring for the winners.

Beck Rinkydinks scored a win to even up their season's record by defeating the Southwood Protons 15-9 behind Ken Hedrick's eight point splurge and good floor play.

Barrett Wins Twice, Keeps Clean Slate

Barrett Junior High School's basketball team had two good weeks when it took a non-league game from Champion Junior High School on Champion's floor last Feb. 5, and then grabbed a league game from Franklin Junior High on the home floor, last Thursday.

The game with Franklin was important to Barrett as both teams were undefeated to date Final score was 41-27. It was a team victory for Barrett, to which every player contributed a share. Gaulke led in scoring with 20 points and in rebounding. Ronald Bell did a concentrated job on defense. Martin with 7 points and Burford with seven were second in scoring. Martin was also second in rebound play. McDaniel set up the plays and worked the ball into the scoring area, besides playing an overall good game.

Final score in the Champion game was Barrett 37, Champion 30. Barrett took an early lead and won going away. Barrett plays Mohawk at Mohawk this Thursday. It is another crucial league tilt.

Flood Experts—

Delaware Dam (the only part of the Scioto-Sandusky plan to be built) was of great value during the January flood.

The report stated that flood crests were lowered 13.6 feet below the dam, 9.2 feet at Worthington, 4.2 feet at Columbus, and 2.9 feet at Chillicothe. Estimated reduction in flood losses totaled $6 million.

Browning was introduced to the group by C. Carlton Hartley, publisher of Hartley Newspapers, who said he was acting in the capacity of many communities groups interested in getting a true picture of flood control possibilities in this area. "Who can tell," Hartley said, "maybe we have taken the hint that Noah received long ago . . . to get [illegible] and go to work."

Urges Wide Vision

Dr. Morgan, whose appearance was a surprise, expanded on this thought when he said "seeing the whole job" was of prime importance. He recalled that [illegible] 1913 was the most heavily flooded of Ohio cities. "At first the people were concerned only with what was good for Dayton. But later they became concerned and the conservancy has meant great things for the whole valley."

Some people," he said, "can't see beyond Saturday night. Others see far into the future. That's what a conservancy district is—seeing into the future."

Guide Forms Booklet

Again in this issue, subscribers to the six Hartley newspapers will receive a weekly guide to the top television program on all four Columbus area stations. To fold the page into a handy booklet, follow these simple instructions: Taking the page as it is presented in the paper, fold it vertically in half. Then fold the top of the page to the botton twice until the front page of the section appears. The first three days then follow in order. By turning the page over, the other four days appear.

Fishng Map Will Help Fisherman At Hoover

Hoover Reservoir, one of the fishing hotspots in this area, can now be studied in detail on a large two-color map published by the Ohio Division of Wildlife. Fishermen have been asking for such a map of the popular lake located 14 miles northeast of Columbus for the last two or three years, and now it's available.

Even a beginning fisherman knows the importance of finding submerged stumps, gravel bars and deep holes. All of these are indicated on the map designed especially for fishermen. Boaters will find it helpful too.

When the first warm rays of spring sunshine give you fishing fever, it's best to fish shallow bays for bass. In the grassy shallows, from a foot to 18 inches deep, the water warms quickly and it puts fish on a feeding spree. Dozens of bays and shallow necks of water are shown on the fishing map.

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Stocking Record Listed

Additional information includes the fish stocking record from 1954 through 1958. It is interesting to note that over 14 million walleye fry have been planted in the lake. Muskellunge stocking has amounted to 29,500. Largemouth bass, bluegills, black crappies, white crappies, bullheads and channel catfish have all been stocked.

Carp, the fish that invites himself everywhere, is present in the lake, and provides sport for many anglers. The lake has produced good stringers of carp for the last few years and will continue to do so, even though it was not stocked by the state.

How does fishing at Hoover stack up with other lakes in the state? Clayton Lakes, fisheries biologist in central Ohio, says, "In my opinion Hoover is providing the best fishing of any lake in this area. Fishing was very good last year for crappies, walleyes and bass. Ice fishing for bluegills has been popular all winter when the ice has been safe. We expect excellent success for fishermen for the coming year."

Wildlife Division Assists

So, the city of Columbus in creating a 3300-acre lake for water supply, has provided a wonderful fishing lake. The city has an agreement with the state whereby the Division of Wildlife takes care of fish management on the body of water. Columbus is planning two large fisherman parking areas and boat ramps that are to be completed this year. Fishermen also enjoy the facilities of city parks around the lake.

With fishing prospects bright for this spring, area anglers are tuning up their outboards and checking over their fishing gear in preparation for a few trips to Hoover. A map of the area will help anglers who are unfamiliar with these waters. The maps may be obtained for 10 cents at Publications, Division of Wildlife, 1500 Dublin-rd, Columbus 12, O.

Hello!

Many of you no doubt received beautiful plants for Valentine's Day, and are wondering how to care for them. Bulb plants such as hyacinths and tulips will last longer if you place them in a cool, light place. Water them as the soil starts to dry out — probably every day. The bulbs can be removed from the pot and planted out of doors as soon as garden soil can be worked. Don't stop watering azaleas when the bloom is gone, but keep them damp. When danger of frost is over this spring, plant them out, adding some peat moss to the soil — bring azaleas in again in the fall.

Anniversary greetings to Mr. & Mrs. Frank Distelzweig, Sr. Our best wishes to Mrs. Everett Bishop, William Householder, Denver Lee Osborne, Lynn Bellomy, Herman Schmidt, Mrs. Elizabeth Gage, Bill Jacobs, Mrs. Earl Colgrove, Mrs. Cecil Kinnear, Mrs. Francis Rachford, Mrs. Maurice Fife, Mrs. William Farmer and Gertrude Aisel. All of these good people have been ill, and we do hope they are now feeling better.

Food Markets This Week

by Mrs. Estelle B. Franks

Fruits—oranges, grapefruit, apples, canned or frozen cherries.

Vegetables — broccoli, potatoes, cabbage, celery, frozen green beans.

GOOD PLANNERS ARE SHARP BUYERS

Are you a family food dollar manipulator? Do you ever juggle food allowance to save money for something else? This kind of manipulation happens sometimes, even in families practicing good management. It's a serious practice only when it happens regularly. For then, what is left from regular payments and purchases is made to do for the family's food.

As a first step to remedy this ailment, planning ahead is suggested. Before going to the food store, plan the needs for your family for a week or even longer. This will help you purchase a nutritionally adequate food supply for your family with money available. Paper, pencil, chair and food shopper make good companions for this sort of pre-shopping planning session.

Determine family food needs first. Use foods from these groups for each member of the family each day:

- Milk—Some for everyone: children—3-4 cups; teenagers—four cups or more; adults—two or more cups.
- Meat—Two or more servings. Includes beef, veal, pork, lamb, poultry, fish, eggs. Alternates are dry beans, dry peas, and nuts.
- Fruits and vegetables—four or more servings. Includes a citrus fruit or other fruit of vegetable for vitamin C, a dark brown or deep yellow vegetable for vitamin A—at least every other day, and other vegetables and fruits, including potatoes.
- Bread and cereals—four or more servings. Should be whole grain, enriched or restored.

There are other tricks that will save money, like planning ahead for special meals. Such meals can play havoc with any budget.

Taking time to study food ads in your local newspaper can save you both time and money. They are cues to good buys, especially in meat, poultry and fresh produce. These are also the largest investment items. Many homemakers find it helpful to decide on meat and poultry purchases first. Then the produce can better be selected as to which—fresh, frozen, or canned—to use.

Remember a good shopping list is general enough to allow for alternate decisions to be made after you see the merchandise. Then you can select items that best meet your family needs.

Barrett Junior High Students Use Facilities In New Addition

GIRLS' MODERN GYM — Eighth graders participate in a basketball game in the girl's new gym recently completed at Barrett Jr. High. The gym and two science rooms comprise the new facilities provided by a $210,000 building improvement and expansion of the school plant. The girls' old gym has been reconverted into four classrooms, remedial reading, a seventh-grade self-contained class, English and Spanish class and a room for general use.

LOCKERS, LOCKERS, EVERYWHERE — Barrett Jr. High girls can't complain about lack of places to put their clothes and equipment now. Both square lockers for gym clothes and long lockers for street clothes are available in the basement below the girls' new gym. Also housed here are modern shower stalls and a checkout towel booth for use after every gym period. Pictured are members of Pat Manetta's eighth grade gym class.

Booster Club Nears Reality At South High

Meeting May Be Scheduled After Basketball Season Ends

South Siders interested in "boosting" South High School will be furnished the opportunity this week to make their presence known, by filling out a special survey blank which is printed below this story.

Coaches and school officials feel that before a definite meeting time and place is selected for those interested in forming a Boosters Club, there should be some sort of rough estimate of how many people are truly interested in such an organization.

Basketball Coach John Colmery had previously stated that the proposed club would have "open" membership, and that anyone who is interested is eligible to help in the formation of the group.

South Principal M. D. Swain emphasized earlier that he was willing to meet with any group which would have as its aims the boosting of the high school as a means to closer school-community relations. Although the emphasis would be on athletics in the club, a secondary function would be to "boost" the entire student body of South, in keeping with scholastic as well as athletic achievement.

Coach Colmery suggested that a meeting between school officials and interested members of the community should take place some time between the end of basketball season and the beginning of track and baseball season. This would permit all of South's coaches to give their full attention to the endeavor.

South Siders already displaying a great degree of interest in a Boosters Club include Dr. Beryl Oser, Bill Hart, Ronald Dunham, Stu Jones, Mrs. Edith Martin and William Henry, president of the Council of South Side Organizations.

Others may show their interest by filling out the following form and forwarding it to the South Side Leader, 1542 Parsons-av:

EASTER SEAL CHILD—"Fritzie" Dilo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Dilo, 618½ S. Ninth-st, will represent the county's 67 cerebral palsy victims during the Easter Seal Campaign which gets underway today. The three-and-a-half-year-old lad is a spastic paraplegic, having a muscular handicap in his legs only.

City Charter May Contain District Councilmen's Clause

District representation will probably be part of the revised charter slated to be placed before Columbus electors perhaps as early as the May primaries.

Democratic city councilmen indicated they would support such a move following a hearing on the charter changes last Thursday night.

Councilman Fred J. Shoemaker, in making the policy statment, said the four Democratic legislators had practically agreed the councilmen should be elected from each of five districts: East, West, South, North and Northeast, with four councilmen to be elected at-large from the entire city.

While urging its inclusion with the other charter changes, the Democratic councilmen also pushed for an early May election on the proposals.

trict representations are expected to overcome this biggest block at Monday night's council meeting by outlining the boundaries of each of the five sections.

Earlier attempts to include district representation in the city charter were dropped when supporters were unable to draw boundaries.

Hartley Newspapers had urged councilmen to consider district representation two weeks ago in a front page editorial.

The editorial stated that:

"Such a plan would encourage better candidates from each area to run for council because of the fact they would not have to campaign over such a wide area."

"As Columbus continues to expand rapidly the residents of any section will feel nearer their city government if there is assurance that at least one councilman lives in their area. It will make it possible for local matters to get better consideration than otherwise might be true."

South Sider Fritzie Dilo Chosen As County's Easter Seal Child

South Sider Albert "Fritzie" Dilo has been chosen as the 1959 Easter Seal child for Franklin County.

Three-and-a-half-year-old Fritzie lives with his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Dilo, brother, Michael, and sister, Jacqueline Sue, at 618½ S. Ninth-st.

Fritzie is a tiny blue-eyed boy with blond curly hair and a happy grin despite braces on both legs. He will represent the 67 cerebral palsied children of the treatment center of the Franklin County Society for Crippled Children, 553 E. Town-st, during the approaching Easter Seal campaign.

He is an active, normal little boy with an intense interest in cowboys and toy automobiles. He is a spastic paraplegic, which means he has a muscular handicap in the legs only. He has good speech and hand use.

He started at the treatment cener in June, 1958, after a recommendation from Children's Hospital. He comes twice a week for a program of physical therapy and kindergarten. In spite of his braces, Fritzie can cruise around furniture, walk between parallel walking bars and walk with the support of specially constructed saw-horse canes.

The Easter Seal campaign is from Feb. 27 to Mar. 29. Easter Sunday. The treatment of crippled children depends upon public support of the seal drive. "He's yours, too. Help him walk," is the slogan for 1959.

Fast thinking by two youths saved a couple and their seven-year-old daughter from flames which raged in a two story duplex on the South Side early Wednesday morning.

Joseph Bryant, 20, and James Bryant, 16, 79 Southwood-av, carried an extension ladder to a side window of the 75 Southwood address to help the Marion Fritchen family down from the second floor, where they were trapped.

William Singer, resident of the 77 address, leaped through a window before the ladder came to him. He received cuts and was treated at Mercy Hospital. He has since been released.

His son and daughter, who live with him, dropped their two sons into the arms of another neighbor, Bob Collins, 83 Southwood-av. They were not injured.

Battalion Chief Charles N. Pugh estimated damage at $6500.

Cause of the fire was attributed by firemen to an overheated furnace.

It was with considerable shock that we learned of the death of former South High teacher Thomas Metcalf, last week. Our sympathy is extended to his family.

CRUTCHES SOUGHT

We're hoping that crutches or a walker can be located for a deserving woman at this time Virginia Hafer, helping friends who were stricken in last month's flood, slipped on the ice in the friend's home. A broken leg was the result of the fall. She had been in Mercy Hospital since Jan. 25, until recently. Her funds have been depleted, and she has been unable to purchase the needed crutches or walker. If anyone would like to help this lady, contact Isabelle Coslett at the Leader office, HI. 4-9262 until 5 p.m., or at HI 3-1568, after 5 p.m.

Twenty-five persons showed up at last week's meeting for 1934 South High Alumni. It was quite an inspiring meeting, and so much fun to renew acquaintances with some of the schoolmates we'd not seen for 25 years! Richard Metcalf and George Gray were elected chairman and co-chairman. Wilma Herrel was chosen secretary, and Alfred Hunter will be the treasurer.

A meeting was set tentatively for Thursday, Mar. 12 at 7:30 p.m., so we hope the 1934 alumni will circle that date right now, and plan to attend.

WANTS SMALL TOYS

Mrs. Bighouse, 1416 S. Ohio-av called us as we were writing this column, to report on the project her Air Force brother has undertaken. She suggested that small, used toys were quite acceptable. (The smallness is preferred because her cost of mailing the items mounts for the larger things, naturally.) She has sent 1,000 marbles, so feels that the 90 boys have a few marbles each, where before they had nothing.

She also had another fine idea which we'll pass along. All of us are "stamp-savers" these days, generally sticking to one or two varieties, but we do acquire "odds and ends" of other stamps. These stamps we personally don't use, if sent by enough people, would help her to get toys for these Korean orphans. She would like to get nine more dolls, then all 12 of the little girls would have a doll.

Happy Birthdays to Dorothy Husse, on Feb. 26, 95 Deshler-av; Juanita Berger on Feb. 28, 615 S. 6th-st; and Leota Green, 124 E. Gates-st, on March 2.

SULTRY SONGBIRD—Dianne Vargo, "blues" and ballad singer on the Ohio Jamboree, just recorded what she hopes will be a hit on Dot label. The South Side mother of two appears every Saturday afternoon and evening at the Little Theater, Ohio State Fairgrounds.

South Side Songbird Is Gal With Purpose

South Sider Dianne Vargo is a girl with a purpose.

Although she is the mother of two young daughters, she still finds time to pursue a career as a singer on the "Ohio Jamboree," which can be seen every Saturday afternoon and evening in the Little Theatre at Ohio State Fairgrounds.

The willowy brunette, wife of Dick Vargo, 1631 Kent-st, began singing in church groups at age nine. She was encouraged in a vocal career by her mother, two sisters and a brother, all of whom are endowed with fine voices. A graduate of Plain City High School, she was chosen for the All-State Chorus during her senior year.

Two-Year Pro

Dianne began singing professionally about two years ago. She says she likes ballads and "blues" numbers most, but added that "to get ahead these days one has to be able to do the rock 'n' roll stuff, to please the teen-age audience." She doesn't get to do much of this, however, on the Jamboree because she has been more-or-less "typed" as a blues-ballad songstress.

Husband Dick, a graduate of South High School, also holds down a spot with the Jamboree as an electric guitar player. Oldest daughter, Benita, at three years old shows promise as a dancer.

"Music just runs in the family, I guess," sighs Dianne. "In fact, it was music that brought Dick and me together. I was singing with the Jamboree when he came on as a guitarist there."

Records On Dot

Last Thursday Dianne recorded what she hopes will be a hit for Dot label. She says its "one of those psychological ballads about 'lost' love. I'm not sure what they will call it, but it might come out as 'What Kind of God Do You Think You Are?' "

She will sing the female lead in a duet with Jimmie John. The recording should be marketed in about a month.

Dianne reminds that the Jamboree is broadcast on 920 kilocycles every Saturday afternoon from 1:30 to 4:30 and in the evening from 9 to 10:30. She hopes South Siders will tune in to hear her.

PTA Council Sets Discussion On Student Art

"Educational Values In Individual Expression" will be the theme of the Columbus Council of Parent-Teacher Associations at the meeting Mar. 5, 1:30 p.m. at Central High School.

Miss Helen Sandfort, director of fine arts education, Columbus Public Schools, will present students from West High School. The students will discuss their views of art and its importance in their life. Color slides of the students' work will be shown.

Council wishes to remind its members that the nominating committee will be elected at this meeting.

Barrett Record Is Unblemished

Barrett Junior High School trounced Mohawk 42 to 23 Feb. 19 on the loser's court.

Mohawk threatened the Barrett lead until the fourth quarter. Gaulke and Martin led in scoring and rebounding.

Final game of the season will be played today in the Barrett gym. A win would give Barrett an undefeated season.

Witnesses Slate Spring Meeting

A circuit convention of Jehovah's Witnesses to be held Mar. 13-15 at Columbus at the state fairgrounds was announced by Dean G. Bourne, presiding minister of the South congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses last night.

Purpose of the meet will be to emphasize the need of each Witness minister-member to be a teacher of Christian works in the community, and to instruct convention delegates in latest teaching techniques developed by the Watchtower Society of Brooklyn, N.Y., through its international missionary training school of Gilead.

Pharmacists Plan To Test Statute On Sunday Closing

A citation issued against Tyler's Drug Store, E. Long-st at Taylor-av for the sale of a magazine on Sunday will be used as a test case to determine drug stores' position under the Blue Law, according to C. H. Campbell, 91 S. Westmoor-av.

Campbell, executive secretary of the Ohio State Pharmaceutical Association, said attorneys for the state group and Central Ohio Academy of Pharmacy will ask for a court decision on where drug stores stand when Tyler appears in court March 5.

"As of now," Campbell continued, "no decision has been made by a court of record regarding drug stores.

"Municipal Court in Cleveland ruled several months ago that drug stores are a necessity, and as such may remain open. Sale of other items in the store, if necessary to maintenance of the service for which the store is primarily intended is permissable."

Tyler was cited on Sunday, Feb. 15.

Food Markets This Week

by Mrs. Estelle B. Franks

Protein Foods—pork loins, lamb shoulder, frozen ocean perch, large eggs, cheese.

Vegetables—potatoes, broccoli, celery, frozen green beans, peas.

FOOD MARKETS CHANGING

All that you buy in today's grocery stores is not food; non-edibles account for about 15 cents of every grocery dollar we Americans spend. Retailers today are giving considerable thought to the future of non-foods in supermarkets.

How it happened—Supermarkets are an outgrowth of the depression years, when customers found their low prices appealing. These prices reflected cost savings from self-service and a rapid turnover of items. As these stores took on some of the functions of department, apparel, drug and variety stores and of discount houses, they become involved in the sale of items which a higher mark-up than that of food and with a slower rate of turnover.

Supermarkets or General Store?—When non-food items are sold under the same roof as food, they offer customers the convenience of one-stop shopping, but they also use valuable floor space. Whether the supermarket of the future will become a modern general store, a truly one-stop shopping center, or concentrate exclusively on the sale of food products remains to be seen. It depends on how the consumer votes, if non-food sales continue to expand in supermarkets, then the big general store will be here.

FOR FAMILY FREEZERS

Pork is in the spotlight these days, as prices continue their downward trend. Seventeen per cent more pork is the prediction for the first six months in 1959. So, if pork is a favorite at your house, now is a good time to freeze some while prices are low.

Fresh pork, is wrapped and stored under good conditions keeps good quality three to six months at zero degrees or below. One thing to keep in mind—salt speeds the development of rancidity in cured and salted pork. Therefore, salted products cannot be stored in the freezer as long as fresh pork. Do not store salted sausage in the freezer; unsalted sausage will keep longer — seasoning should be added when cooked.

We Still Have Pioneers

FAST WORK—Artificial lures are more deadly than live bait in taking fish, says a scientific report. The white bass above were taken in rapid succession with an orange-bodied spinner, but outdoor editor Rod Cochran advises fishermen not to throw their minnow buckets on the trash heap.

Argument Still Rages Over Live Bait vs. Artificial Lures

The universal argument of fisherman seems to be, "Which is more effective, live bait or artificial lures?"

This controversy is really making the rounds these days because mid-winter hot stove league meetings are now in session everywhere north of the Mason-Dixon line. Wherever fishermen gather this question will pop up.

If you're a "minnow man" don't scorn the fisherman who snaps an artificial lure on his line. The chances are he's catching largemouth bass as fast as you are. And, he may even take more lunkers.

The argument of live vs. artificial bait has ranged ever since an early-day "cane poler" ran out of crawdads. One story has is he ripped off a piece of his brightly colored shirt-tail and baited up, proceeding to astound his fellow anglers. This makes a good story, but the actual beginnings of artificial lures is lost in the dim pages of history. Primitive man used different artificial devices to lure fish.

But, sometime after fishing became a bragging sport instead of a way of life, began the dispute that has split the fishing fraternity into two warring factions. Ask the man the fish — you must give him what he wants at any particular time. Science has not yet been able to direct the whims and fancies of finny creatures, who dunks a worm or hellgrammite what he thinks about plug casters and he's likely to flip the lid clean off his bait bucket. The advocate of artificials holds his adversary in about equal contempt.

Artificials Have Edge

Actually, both methods catch fish. But man-made lures enjoy a better than two-to-one edge in effectiveness. This was found when scientists in Illinois conducted a survey to determine which technique caught the most fish. Artificials proved far superior, both in numbers and in size.

The style of fishing probably accounts for this wide difference. In casting, a man covers a lot of territory and exposes his lure to many fish. Live bait angling, on the other hand, is much more restrictive, depending mainly upon fish movement, but deadly when fish are finally located.

This doesn't mean that you should rush out and throw your minnow bucket on the trash heap. The wise fisherman uses both methods. First, perhaps he'll try floating a few soft craws under snags or undercut banks. If this does not produce, he will snap an artificial on his line. After all, the final choice is up to the fish — you must give him what he wants at any particular time. Science has not yet been able to direct the whims and fancies of finny creatures.

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Abraham Lincoln Said:

"This government must be preserved in spite of the acts of any men or set of men. Nowhere in the world is presented a government of so much liberty and equality. To the humblest and poorest amongst us are held out the highest privileges and positions. The present moment finds me at the White House, yet there is as good a chance for your children as there was for my father's."

Glick Annual Bonus Event Under Way

"Glick's original 19% bonus event, now in progress, offers the consumer three-fold savings," said Robert A. Glick, general manager of the Glick Furniture Co.

He described them as follows:

7. "Savings realized on the low 'bold action' prices which are available month after month at Glick's.

2. "Savings realized because these low 'bold action' prices are on merchandise purchased many months ago, before the current general rise in home furnishings prices began.

3. "Savings realized as result of Glick's 19% bonus, which gives the customer 19% in additional free merchandise of her own selections, during this event."

This event, conceived originally by Glick's in 1926, marks the 32nd anniversary of Central Ohio's largest furniture company, Glick said. "Buyers in all departments have scoured the factories of America, especially for this event. All of the associates have been trained to give the public the finest service possible."

"We know, without a doubt," he said "that our original 19% bonus event is the consumers best buying opportunity of the year.

"We offer our customers a 19% bonus in additional free furnishings of their own selection. Prices in all of our four stores are the same as last month and the many months before."

Glick's now operates four stores in Columbus, downtown at 65 E. Long-st. in the Great Western and Northern Lights shopping centers and in the Bargain Annex at 45 E. Long-st.

Glick's offers a complete selection of furniture, carpeting and appliances. Among the many styles featured at any of Glick's four stores are Early American, Danish, French and Italian provincial, traditional and modern.

BIBLE COMMENT:

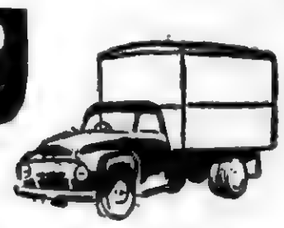
Jesus' Realm Is Different From World

It was of little children that Jesus said, "Of such is the kingdom of Heaven." He also said, "Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven."

It is good to think on the meaning of His kingdom during this Lenten season.

It is the child-like whose characters can be formed by God. Those whose very poverty of spirit makes possible their enrichment by being filled with the Spirit of God are fit subjects of Christ's kingdom.

Jesus said that His kingdom was here and now. It is "within you," or "in your midst," in whichever may we may translate His words.



His kingdom is not of this world, in the sense that its nature and principles are different from those of the kingdoms of the world, and the ideas, rules and principles that govern earthly kingdoms.

The principles of the kingdom that Jesus proclaims are love and service; not getting, but giving. "It is more blessed to give, than to receive."

To the materially minded this concept has always seemed visionary and impractical.

To those of greater vision it is quite apparent how different this strife-torn world could be, if we would all practice the Golden Rule, founded in the love of God and brotherly love.

GAS STATION MANAGER—Ed Damron, manager of Great Southern Pure Oil Station, checks the oil in a customer's car. Besides this and other services usual to a gas station, Damron and his four employes also provide free taxi service to and from the station and center for those patrons who wish to do a little shopping while waiting for their car.

GREAT SOUTHERN BUSINESS

Pure Oil Station Patrons Can Obtain Taxi Service

Great Southern Pure Oil Station, located on 3633 S. High-st, just north of the center, offers a special "station-to-store" service for Great Southern shopping center patrons.

Persons wishing to have their car fueled or checked can spend their time waiting, shopping or browsing in center stores. Ed Damron, manager, or one of his four employes will drive them to the store of their choice in the customer's or station's car and leave them off at the door. They are given a card with the station's phone number on it and can call the station for a free ride back. Damron says "We'll even be glad to reimburse anyone who has this service and calls us on a pay phone."

Damron opened the station Feb. 3, 1957 and leases it from the Pure Oil Corporation. Previous to this he worked one and a half-years as a service manager for Chevrolet, in West Va. His assistant, Roy Bayes, has eight years experience working in service stations. Damron says his station provides major tuneup, complete brake service, installation of mufflers and shock absorbers, car washes, batteries, generators and starters and a complete line of tires.

He and his wife live at 2401 Sullivant-av with their two children, Tom, 14 and Sue, 12. Tom attends West High and Sue, Hilltonia Junior High.

Gilbert Belt Is Winner In TB Essay Contest

Gilbert W. Belt, 91 Hanford-st, has been awarded a football autographed by Ohio State University's famed Buckeye team for his letter on "Why I Buy Christmas Seals."

Three footballs were presented for the outstanding letters by Dean Boyer, WBNS-TV newscaster who conducted the contest in behalf of the Tuberculosis Society.

Belt's letter follows:

"For many years, because of a foolish fear of what might be found, I had backed away from trying to learn the cause of an annoying cough.

"Then someone persuaded me to have a chest X-ray. The result was that, after years of worry, it was determined that my cough was not from a tubercular condition.

Because of the great mental relief I enjoyed and the probability that my small contribution would lead to similar peace of mind for others we shall always buy Christmas Seals."

Sincerely,
Gilbert W. Belt

Filling Station Group Sets 'Blue Law' Talk

West Side and Hilltop service station operators, teetering between opposing pressure from Blue Law enforcers and their supplying oil companies, plan a meeting to discuss the problem Thursday night.

Members of the Columbus and Franklin County Independent Service Dealers, Inc., will meet at 7:30 p.m. with their attorney, Vernon Kertzinger of 2542 W. Broad-st at City National Bank, 3100 W. Broad-st.

Conflicting opinions on service stations' status under the Sunday closing law have caught operators in a squeeze between two powerful forces.

CLOSE UP! OPEN UP?

Law says they must close—oil companies insist they must open.

Any service station remaining open on Sunday is liable for citation by agents of the Ohio Independent Merchants Association or the police for violation of the Blue Law.

Oil companies, pointing to leases that call for seven-day operation of stations by operators, urge them to remain open, contending stations may legally do so by selling only gasoline and oil.

Haunted with the thought of losing their leases for violation of contract, but unable to afford the stiff penalties for disobeying the law, most operators plan to continue closing on Sunday. About 20 were closed here last week end.

They hope at Thursday night's meeting, to gather their forces, agree on certain issues and prepare a united front. Plans are to urge either complete enforcement of the present Blue Law on a state-wide basis or lobby for legislation to revise the statute.

Attorney Kertzinger will explain the law fully to the group and outline possible courses of action.

Glenn Howell of Howell's Sunoco Station, 2035 Sullivant-av, described the tour he and a number of other station operators made of Franklin County, Sunday.

"With our own stations closed because of possible citations, we made purchases in many other business establishments. This law is state-wide; they should be closed as well as we."

Can't Afford Fines

Explaining their dilemma, Howells continued, "Most of us just can't afford to be cited.

"First offense is $25 plus $8 court costs, approximately $25 attorney fees and $12 to $15 wages for a man to tend the station while we're in court.

"Second offense rates a $100 fine and maybe ten days in jail.

"As for confining sales to gasoline and oil, stations have a lot more to sell. A customer's tire is just as flat, and he wants it fixed just as much on Sunday as on Monday."

Members of the Service Dealers group feel, as Howells does, that the public and businessmen alike should express their opinions of the Blue Law in its present form.

They urge everyone who has an idea on the subject to write their six representatives and two congressmen expressing their wishes on the matter.

Catholic Schools Slated For Tuberculin Tests

Its first experience at mass tuberculin testing out of the way, the Tuberculosis Society begins administering the needle-type Mantoux test to its 20th Catholic school Wednesday, Mar. 4.

At 9 a.m. 48 first-graders at St. Mary School, 686 Mohawk-st, will receive the new Christmas Seal service.

On schedule at 9:45 are 76 pupils at St. Ladislas, 295 Reeb-av, while at 10 a.m., 71 students at St. Leo School, 213 Hanford-st will be tested.

Friday, the Tuberculosis Society will skin test 106 at Corpus Christi, 1249 Linwood-av at 9 a.m. and at 10 a.m. an additional 61 at St. John School, 630 S. Ohio-av.

There will be no tests Thursday, because tests given then would normally be read Saturday or Sunday, when school is not in session.

A total of 1900 first graders in 28 Catholic schools in all parts of the city will have been skin-tested by Mar. 10.

The Mantoux test involves an injection of protein derivative between the outer layers of the skin of the arm.

Those who have been infected with TB germs will be determined 48 to 72 hours later by the size of the swollen area on the arm. This group will then be X-rayed and their household contacts either skin-tested or X-rayed for possible TB.

Meanwhile, the Tuberculosis Society's Christmas seal X-ray program, valuable for finding non-TB as well as tuberculous ailments in adults, continues. Monday through Thursday, 1400 employes of Federal Glass and Hercules Box Company, 521 Marion-rd, will be X-rayed.

Recollection Day Set At St. Mary

St. Mary Parish Council of St. Mary Church, 684 W. Third-st, will have a day of recollection to be held at the church Saturday, Mar. 7. The day will begin with the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass at ten o'clock closing with benediction at 3 p.m.

Moderator for the day will be Rev. Patrick Griffin of St. Joseph Cemetery parish.

Ladies are asked to bring their own lunch. Coffee will be served.

There will be a free will offering taken up at the close of the services.

Matches Take Child's Life

Funeral services were held Wednesday at Oakwood Methodist Church for a little two-year-old girl severely burned Feb. 2 when a book of matches set fire to her dress.

Little Nancy Elizabeth Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Miller, 869 Lockbourne-rd, died Monday at Children's Hospital.

Besides her parents, she is survived by three brothers, Rodney L., Neil C. and James M.; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Comer and Mr. and Mrs. Clay Miller.

Interment was at Forest Rose Cemetery, Lancaster.

South Sider Graduated From Officer Academy

Army Sgt. Jim G. McGlone, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tivis McGlone, 3207 Lockbourne-rd, recently was graduated from the non-commissioned officer academy in Bad Tolz, Germany.

McGlone received four weeks of refresher training in map reading, combat tactics and leadership.

Sergeant McGlone, a scout squad leader in Company C of the 11th Armored Cavalry, entered the Army in 1956 and arrived in Europe in March, 1957. The sergeant attended Marion Franklin High School.

Big Bucks Club Is Organized By Deer Hunters

The Buckeye Big Bucks Club, newest Ohio sports group, was looking for new fields to conquer Wednesday. It is composed of 30 men, each of whom has killed a trophy buck deer in Ohio over the years.

The club was formed after the Ohio Division of Wildlife had sponsored a recognition dinner in connection with the annual meeting of the Outdoor Writers of Ohio. Each of the new members was given a certificate of membership by Hayden Olds, chief of the division.

The Big Bucks is a counterpart of the nationally noted Boone and Crockett Club, New York, formed 70 years ago by Teddy Roosevelt and a group of trophy hunters. To be eligible, a hunter must kill an Ohio buck with antlers which meet the minimum measurement requirements of the organization. Then they may enter the heads in the national competition.

SEEKS TOYS FOR ORPHANS—Mrs. W. L. Bighouse, 1416 S. Ohio-av, displays some of the toys she has received from friends and neighbors in response to a request from her brother stationed with the Air Force in Korea. Capt. Ed Merz wrote his sister of the many Korean orphans and their need for toys. He said, "I have not seen a marble in Korea since I have been here and the skipping ropes are made of rice straw and there are very few of them." Mrs. Bighouse is receiving all donations at her address and will relay them to her brother.

South Side Family Gathers Toys For Children In Korea

While Capt. Ed Merz has been stationed with the U.S. Air Force in Korea, he has written several letters to his sister, Mrs. W. L. Bighouse, 1416 S. Ohio-av, telling of the plight of orphans in Korea. According to Capt. Merz, South Korea has a population of more than 20 million, and more than one-half of the population is composed of children under ten years of age. Many of these are orphans.

Though he says that all of the orphanages are sponsored by Christian religious groups who take care of basic needs, toys are scarce. It is for this reason that Capt. Merz wrote his sister requesting "several hundred marbles for the boys" and a couple hundred feet of "sash cord to cut into jumping ropes for the girls." He says that he has yet to see a marble in Korea and the few skipping ropes he has seen are made of rice straw.

Mrs. Bighouse has been telling her friends and neighbors of the situation. "As of last week I had received only one gift of marbles and now I have about 1000," she said. She sent one large box of toys to her brother last week.

Mrs. Bighouse is receiving donations at her address. She suggests that one-fourth inch sash cord makes the best weight skipping ropes.

Capt. Merz and his men gave a party for 92 orphans at Christmas time and treated them to rice, ice cream and cookies. They wound up the evening with a movie at the base. There were "80 boys and 12 girls," he said.

A career man in the Air Force, Capt. Merz is an alumnus of St. Mary's High School and has been stationed in two other bases outside the States, Hawaii and Bermuda. His wife and daughter live near Chanute Field at Rantoul, Ill.

Educator Predicts Knuckling Down Trend In Schools

Earl C. Metz, professor of education at Capital University, told members of the Canal Winchester PTO last week that the immediate trends in public education for the coming year would be a general knuckling down to a heavier scholastic load.

Metz contended that voluntary summer school sessions for talented youngsters were in the offing, and that studies in higher mathematics and the physical sciences would be expanded.

Teach Languages

He added that foreign languages would be taught in elementary schools and that more homework, longer school years and fewer athletic contests also seemed to be the trend.

Over the long range, said the educator, the per cent of those going to college would increase, but, at the same time, colleges would become more selective out of necessity. An increase in the number of junior colleges is expected to alleviate anticipated college enrollment problems.

College Requirements

Most colleges will require that each freshman come prepared with four years of English, three or four of social studies, one of math, one of science and a foreign language.

Metz also called for teachers to tighten classroom discipline, and for "fewer crackpot articles and books on education and a more sane appraisal and recommendations for the improvement of education."

SERMON SET

"How Do You See?" will be the morning topic for the March 1 services held at 9 and 10:30 a.m., at St. Johns Evangelical Protestant Church.

SOUTH'S AVIATION CLUB TAKES TOUR

STUDENTS INSPECT PLANE — Eight members of South High School's Aviation Club recently toured Clinton County Air Force Base to learn how an air base operates. They saw first hand, how an air plane takes off, and were served meals in the Mess Hall and Officer's Club. The trip was under the supervision of Capt. John Keller, pilot in the Air Force Reserve and teacher at South High. Seen examining the plane are, from top to bottom, Pat Rutherford, Jo Ann Pierce, Roger Clark, Capt. John Keller, Dick Rush and George Thompson. Mike McKnight, Barbara Christ and Edith Hackney are standing beside Capt. Keller.

WANT AIRPLANE FOR KIDS HERE

WHERE'LL IT LAND? — Community groups from all over the city are asking for this obsolete F7U jet plane which was recently given to the City Recreation Dept. when the Columbus Naval Air Station was ordered disbanded. The plane, stripped of all salvageable machinery, will be placed in a city park as a plaything for youngsters. Its resting place will be decided soon. West Side Board of Trade wants it for Sunshine Park; Hilltop Lions, Westgate Park; South Siders, Schiller, and North Siders hope to bring it to Whetstone. In the picture Capt. Fred Borries, station CO, presents it to N. J. Barack, city recreation director.

Hello!

Central Fire Riddle Ends

Three boys, 9, 10, and 11 who already have juvenile bureau records for shoplifting, breakins and truancy admitted to setting fire to a large can of gasoline at the rear of Central High School Sunday evening.

Two brothers who live on S. Washington-av, were arrested downtown at 1 a.m. Tuesday for breaking the curfew. Police said they are the same boys who tried to cut down trees on the State House lawn last fall.

Central Janitor Orlo Ator, 285 S. Richardson-av, said the youths somehow managed to lift a 250-pound metal grating at the school and throw it into a window well. The gasoline had been dumped from a nearby locker.

SOUTH STUDENTS ATTEND FRENCH BALL

Fourteen pupils from South High School attended the French Banquet held Thursday, Feb. 19, in the ballroom in the Ohio State Union from 6:15 to 9 p.m. French decoration gave the ballroom a Parisian atmosphere.

Schools participating in the banquet, which is held annually were Bexley, Champion, Eastmoor, Grandview, Linden-McKinley, North, South, St. Charles, St. Joseph, University, Upper Arlington, West and Columbus School for Girls.

After being served a roast beef supper, the students sang French songs. Following the singing, entertainment was provided by the different high schools present.

A recent survey of students who studied physics at Kent State University shows 26 are now actively working on private and federal research projects.

South Side Hardwood Loop Gallops Into Home Stretch

The South Side Branch YMCA Gra-Y Basketball Leagues are coming into the home stretch with ties still showing for first place in the won-lost column for both leagues.

In the Tuesday League, Livingston Be-Boppers and Reeb Musketeers are still holding out for their showdown game on the last week of play.

Lincoln Park's Grays and Beck's Bulldogs are still in a first place tie in the Thursday League with both teams surviving some close scares.

In the Tuesday League play, the Reeb Musketeers opened up the evenings play with a 14-4 win over the Heyl Globetrotters despite Ronnie Valentine's and Heyl's team fight in the second half. Mike Greenhoward and Jim Alexander's team play contributed much to the win for Reeb.

Livingston Hawks defeated the Heyl Vampires 5-3 on the Schiller court, behind the four points of Curtis Burns. Heyl's Terriers put one over the Stewart Dribblers, 10-1. Marc Parsons led the winners with six points and fine floor play.

Livingston Be-Bopper's kept their first place bid with an easy victory over the Siebert Sputnicks by a 20-4 score. Chuck Barton and Roger Harper figured highly in the win.

The Thursday League play opened with a 12-11 double over-time victory by the Lincoln Park Grays over the Lincoln Park Bucks. Sheldon Bennett's last two points put the game on ice in the sudden death overtime to keep the Grays in a tie for first place.

Southwood's Protons took one on the chin from their sister team the Neutrons, by a score of 7-4. Ronnie Prater's fine floor play proved to be the best part of the difference.

Scott Brown and Bob Warner led the Lincoln Park Scarlet's to an 11-6 win over the Southwood Electrons.

The best ball handling team of either league came out on top as the Beck Bulldogs defeated a much taller Deshler Hornet team 9-7. This win kept the Bulldogs in a first place tie with the Lincoln Park Grays.

Chucks Muzzle Bulldogs, Gain Overtime Win

South ran rampant during the first half before St. Charles effectively muzzled the Bulldogs to pull out an overtime verdict, 62-61, Friday night. For a while, in the first two frames, it looked as if there would be no contest. South opened up a 16 to 6 first quarter lead. By halftime they had increased their margin to 13 points.

Then the St. Charles quintet got hot. They held the charging Bulldogs to nine tallies in the third period and 11 in the fourth while they churned the buckets for 32 markers.

South managed to cop six points in the overtime, but St. Charles prodded the nets for one more and the ball game.

Jim Marshall plugged the hoops for 22 points. Waldo Drake hit for 18 more.

South Spanks Seeded Utica In Tourney

Underdog South knocked the wind out of third seeded Utica early in the game then went on to snare a 58-54 decision Tuesday night in "AA" tournament action at the State Fairgrounds Coliseum.

The Bulldogs, with the score tied 2-2, spread the cords with 12 straight points before Utica, beaten only twice before, could retaliate.

South held edges at the end of each period by 16-11, 30-25 and 44-31 margins.

Leading the Bulldog cagers was Tom Drake who registered 18 points while teammate Don Marshall provided plenty of help with 16 counters.

South will play again this Friday night meeting Franklin Heights, the tourney's Cinderella team which scored its fourth victory of the season Monday over favored Gahanna Lincoln, 62-48.

St. John Gains Tie In Junior Loop Title Race

St. John went into a first place tie with Emmanuel Lutheran in the Junior division in South Side "Y" Church League action last week.

Hungarian E. and R. scored a thrilling victory over South Methodist to win its way into the championship game with Clair Chapel in the Intermediate loop. Paul Hunt's 18 point output was too much for Frebis Church.

Oakwood defeated Livingston and St. Paul E. and R. won a close one from Ohio Avenue EUB.

Games in intermediate play found Oakwood upsetting the classy Clair Chapel quintet in a double overtime affair. Gates-Fourth finally hit victory lane by topping St. Paul E. and R. 29-26. Norman Wood's defensive play plus nine points stood out for Hungarian E. and R. in this important win.

Cub Pack 135 Prepares For Scouts' Birthday

Cub Pack 135 of Oakwood Methodist Church will be celebrating Scouting's 49th birthday with their Blue and Gold Dinner Friday, Feb. 27, at 6 p.m.

Earlier in the month they participated in Scout Week by attending church in a group with the Scout and Explorer troops. They also had window displays at E. Main-st and at Whittier and Oakwood.

Den No. 6 of Pack 135 visited a downtown newspaper office during January and an industrial plant in February.

School Board Okays Plans, Sets Bid Deadlines For New Schools

Elementary Class Rooms To Be Finished By Fall

School Board took steps on Tuesday to assure adequate housing for the city's elementary student population next September

Announcement was made of plans to build a new elementary in far eastern section of the city, plans were approved for the building and deadline set for construction bids

In addition, drawings and specifications were approved and bid deadlines set for the proposed new Stockbridge School as well as a six-room annex to Main Street School

The new eastern school, named Pinecrest, will be built on land already owned by the board at 4025 E Astor-av. The elementary will fulfill an already existing need in the area.

Without the new building, there would be a serious student housing shortage when schools convene in September.

Deadline for bids has been set for Apr. 7

Specifications and drawings for Stockbridge School, to be built at 3350 S Champion-av were also okayed by the board and bid deadlines set for Apr. 1.

A six-room, unattached annex planned for Main Street School, will actually serve as a nucleus for a future new building on the site.

Since Main Street, containing some of the oldest classrooms being used in the city system, will undoubtedly need to be replaced in the future. An addition to the present building is not in line with the board's farsighted planning.

First portion of the school was built in 1876 and an addition was made in 1906.

Contsruction bids for the annex will be received until Apr. 2.

Total flood damage to Columbus School buildings and furniture was set at $10,978 57 with Dana Avenue, hardest hit of all, accounting for $8,740 of the total.

Repairs to the buildings and replacement of furniture has been completed

Crowd Sees Lively Time At Council

It was "housing and zoning night" at City Council meeting Monday

Although some 70 pieces of legislation appeared on the agenda, only a handful of ordinances were passed before midnight and suspension of the session until next Monday. Most of the time was spent in hot debate on the proposed minimum housing standards and in committee sessions on rezoning

Legislation passed included:

- Authorization of the director of public service to enter into contracts and appropriate money for a $1,111,327 E. Fifth-av grade crossing project
- Affirmed the existence of an emergency requiring $10,000 worth of street repairs to the N Fourth st viaduct
- Authorized Finance Chief M. D. Portman to obtain the purchase-lease prices on rental of 45 new trucks for the Sanitation Dept
- Passage of bond ordinances totaling $2800 for street repairs.
- Permission to sell at immediate auction a vacant house on McKinley-av to facilitate improvement on Dry Run.
- Memorials to the families of Mrs. Anna Sensenbrenner, mother of the mayor, and Paul

Electric, Newspaper Disputes Felt In All Communities

March came in like a lion, the uncaged variety, this week for the management of two major consumer industries . . . newspapers and electricity

A dispute between Local 15 of the Web Pressmen's Union and publishers—mainly on Saturday night overtime issues—brought a halt to printing of three downtown dailies last Thursday. Weekly labor and university newspapers were not affected

Requests for start of negotiations Thursday or Friday have been made The federal mediator returned to town Tuesday after being called away because of family illness

Other Workers Furloughed

Most employes of both newspaper firms were furloughed last Friday Only executives, a few others crossing picket lines and some editorial help serving radio and television remained on duty

●Two locals of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers walked out on the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. Saturday at midnight. Picketing followed at 53 stations in 23 counties, affecting 1200 workers

Pay Plan Announced

CSOE employes who normally get their pay bi-weekly will receive their regular Friday, Mar. 6 pay checks by mail Persons who have returned to work will receive additional pay offered by the company when negotiations broke off, spokesmen said

Potts said union members voluntarily returning to work would be guaranteed job security, as long as they offer to pay monthly dues

Three Acts Of Possible Sabotage Investigated

Three acts of possible sabotage, including two "booby traps" on Columbus' South Side, Tuesday blemished the relatively peaceful strike at the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company.

The "booby traps" were discovered on a side road along the T&OC Railroad The traps consisted of manhole covers being removed over underground power lines, and the opening of the holes covered with a lattice of lath and weeds. Both openings were discovered and covers replaced at 2 p.m.

Earlier in the day a Pennsylvania Railroad train struck a rope looped over lines carrying 7620 volts. The power lines, which cross the PRR about three and a half miles north of Worthington, were pulled together and shorted out when the train struck the rope

Service was restored to the homes left powerless in about 90 minutes by supervisory men now on duty for the Electric Co during the strike by two International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers locals

In Athens County, a switch was manually opened on an automatic recloser which blacked out the village of Amesville Service was restored by company supervisory personnel following location of the tampered with switch

Law enforcement agencies and railroad police are cooperating closely in investigating all three incidents.

H. V. Potts, vice president in charge of employe relations for the Electric Company, Tuesday reiterated his stand on the negotiations with the two locals of the IBEW.

"Their demands," Potts said of 10 cents per hour for linemen 'A' plus an across-the board increase of 6 percent for all union members are unrealistic. This would mean a 28 cent per hour raise for Linemen "A" who are already highest paid in the state

"The company's offer of a straight 3½ percent increase for all union members would increase the Linemen 'A' rate to $3.00 per hour — 10 cents per hour above other similar electrical industry rates in Ohio."

Additional Gifts Accepted For Heart Fund

Although Heart Month ended Feb. 28, the Franklin County Heart Fund drive chairman points out that additional gifts will be welcomed

Funds are still urgently needed to continue the research, education and community service programs of the Franklin County and Central Ohio Heart Associations, according to Larry Chambers, campaign chairman.

"If you haven't yet made your contribution to the 1959 Heart Fund, your check will still be counted in the total collection," he said.

"The associations' sole goal is to fight the heart diseases which cause more than half the deaths in Columbus and Franklin County," Chambers asserted

Heart Fund contributions should be sent to Heart Fund, 50 E. Broad-st, Columbus 15

Indian Skeleton Discovered In Pit

Fragments of a shattered skeleton uncovered in a Harrisburg-pk gravel pit on Saturday afternoon Feb 28 were disclosed to be the remains of a prehistoric adult male Indian

The skeleton was unearthed by Larry Hill, 25, of 6850 Georgesville - Harrisburg - rd while working in the gravel pit

Examination of the Indian by Raymond S Baby, curator of the Ohio State Historical Society Museum, N High-st and 15th-av, showed that the man was from 35 to 45 years old, and had been buried for several hundred years

The tribe of the Indian could not be ascertained because of the condition of the remains The location and depth of the shallow grave, which was only 18 to 24 inches from the surface, indicated a hasty burial probably by a transient tribe Baby said. The skeleton is being restored for further study

State Money To Schools Reaches All Time High

Nearly $49 million in state school foundation money was distributed this week, according to State Auditor James A. Rhodes

Rhodes said this marks a new high in monies provided quarterly under Ohio's school subsidy program.

The biggest portion is earmarked for school districts. Most of the retirement checks for teachers and school employes were mailed last month, Rhodes said.

Distributions in the Hartley Newspapers areas this quarter follows Columbus, $906,790.90; Bexley, $25,805.34; Whitehall, $113,025 80.

Fourth Of City's Gas Station Operators Sing 'Blue Law Blues' At Local Meeting

By BETTY DAFT

More than one-fourth of the city's nearly 400 service station operators "agreed to disagree" with the present Sunday Blue Law at a meeting held last Thursday night at 3100 W. Broad-st

One hundred thirteen operators attended the session called by Independent Service Station Dealers Association to voice their opinions of the Sunday closing statute, hear members recommendations and decide on a course of action

Caught between opposing pressures of law-enforcers and their supplying oil companies, station operators have found themselves in a pinch

Although liable for citation by remaining open on Sunday they are, at the same time, violating contracts with the oil companies that call for seven-day operation

Some companies have assured operators they do not wish them to violate the state law, but representatives of others have served notice that their leases may be cancelled if their stations are closed on Sundays

'Companies Couldn't Dictate'

Hilltop attorney Vernon Kertzinger, executive secretary of the association, assured members that the companies could not enforce such threats.

The movement, started a few weeks ago by a group of Hilltop and Westside station operators to close their stations on Sunday, spread throughout the city this past Sunday, as more operators followed their lead

Encouraged by reports from the Westside station operators, approximately half of the Eastside stations and most of those on the Northside were closed. Nearly all Hilltop and Westside stations closed last Sunday.

Vernon Creasap of Vern's Gulf Station, W. Mound-st at Central-av reported his experience Thursday saying, "I'm all for Sunday closing, and so are my employes and customers

"My books prove that our station averaged as much business in a six-day week as in seven days. It's a matter of selling when my customers understood, they co operated completely."

The association is planning, by presenting a united front of city operators, to push action on legislation that will modify the law and define its application to different businesses

Favor Voluntary Closing

Retired Canal Winchester Pair Are Collectors Of Oriental Art

An ivory collection which represents almost 45 years in the gathering is one of the proudest possessions of retired army Col and Mrs Seth C Dildine who now reside at Crest Haven Farm near Canal Winchester

Col Dildine who spent almost all years in the army, collected his ivory pieces in the Orient the Philippines and Alaska

Ranging from tiny figures as small as a thumb to vases and lamp like sculptures weighing six to eight pounds, the pieces number in the hundreds and allude to many time and many places

The Dildines began collecting about 1925 when the colonel was stationed in the Philippines, on special duty with Governor-General Leonard Wood

Goes To China

Dildine went to China for three months in early 1927 on a special mission for Gen Wood He began seriously to collect at this time

He returned to China in February, 1937, and remained in that country until May of the following year It was in 1937 that Japan launched its initial offensive against the Chinese homeland. Col Dildine and a fellow officer were taken prisoner by the Japanese army for a few hours, then released The United States was still on peaceful terms with Japan then, but the colonel exclaimed "We sure were sweating it out for a while before they let us go"

Col and Mrs Dildine's travels take in the Union, Canal Zone Alaska, Guam, Canada, Mexico, Hawaii Philippines, China and Japan

Food Chief

At one point in his career Col Dildine was field headquarters veterinarian in chage of all products of animal origin consumed by all of the has served in two World Wars.

Since his retirement in 1946, the colonel has busied himself with a myriad of semilitary services and civilian relief program. His offices were in Chicago

He is a 1917 graduate of Ohio State University, School of Veterinary Medicine, and tivities His sure-fire formula for living a long and useful life "When you retire, develop hobbies, join clubs, but keep busy. If you don't, you're just going to waste away and die"

Evidently Col Dildine believes in practicing what he preaches. He currently heads the Retired Officers' Club in Columbus, is president of two Golden Age Clubs, and is constantly working with agencies and rest homes

Work On Farm

On their beautiful farm on the Canal Winchester-Lithopolis rd, he and Mrs Dildine raise flowers—mostly for rest homes, the Senior Citizens Center in Columbus and the sick—vegetables fruits, nuts, tend a large rolling lawn with stately trees, and find time to take care of two dogs, four cats and two parakeets.

Col and Mrs. Dildine's ivory collection is just part of a vast collection of Oriental art works

Their living room is completely decorated with furniture, rugs tapestries, and draperies collected throughout China and the Philippines

Most of the finer ivory pieces are displayed in glass cases in the living room. Delicate wood carvings, pottery, china-ware, opium pipes, and trinkets made of semi-precious stones and metals also are displayed with the ivory collection—which, incidentally, Col. Dildine exhibited recently at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts

Many years and a lot of work has gone into the Dildine's collection, and into their magnificent farm Many more years and much more energy will probably be expended on the farm and in displaying the collection.

But, the Dildines won't mind the work a bit, because, as Mrs. Dildine put it, "We love this place, and we love our past As long as we can we'll work at preserving it."

Tags Being Sold By Legionnaires

Franklin County Council of the American Legion will have an auto tag sales station in the east basement of Old Memorial Hall, 280 E. Broad-st, until Apr. 2.

According to R. A. Billups, proceeds from the sales help the council maintain a wide variety of civic service, veterans, youth and local government, as well as during emergencies such as the recent flood. The office at 280 W. Broad-st is self-sustaining, Billups said.

Beautiful Spring?

Abraham Lincoln Said:

"The human heart is with us; God is with us. We shall again be able not to declare that 'all states as states are equal,' nor yet that all citizens as citizens are equal,' but to renew the broader, better declaration, including both these and much more, that 'all men are created equal'."

BIBLE COMMENT:

Jesus Knew No Religious Prejudice

One of the most shameful manifestations of the Christian era, over and over again, has been the spectacle of people who preach and practice racial and religious prejudice in the name of Christ.

When Paul spoke of the Gospel of Christ, he emphasized its universality.

Was Paul in this a true interpreter of his Master? Or did Jesus in any way limit His mission, or the benefits and privileges of the grace of God?

The whole story of Jesus, the revelation of His spirit and the general records of the Gospels are much against any interpretation that would lead a thoughtful person to believe other than that Jesus knew no prejudice.

We must view with charity those who, through ignorance or inability to comprehend, misread incidents from the Gospels.

However, those who diabolically turn the Gospels to their own ends are a source of very real concern to earnest Christians.

The danger of their twisted teachings is a blot upon Christianity.

Pleased With News Coverage

Dear Editor:—

"I take this opportunity in behalf of myself and the Lincoln Historical Association of Ohio, Inc. and the Franklin County Lincoln Sesquicentennial Commission of which I am chairman, to thank the management and staff of the Hilltop Record and associated community Hartley Newspapers for their fine coverage of the Lincoln Memorial tree planting and memorial services held on Lincoln's birthday, Feb. 12, at the Lincoln Memorial Hospital, 3341 E. Livingston-av.

I wish also to thank the Eastern Review for its splendid newspaper picture and news articles about the hospital tree planting and further thank all the people of the West Side, and other parts of the city, who worked diligently to make this Lincoln Sesquicentennial celebration a huge success.

Sincerely Yours,

Emile Reiss, Chairman,
Lincoln Historical Ass'n. of Ohio, Inc.

Franklin County Lincoln Ses-qui Commission.

Ohio popcorn production last year was 48 million pounds, up 68 percent from a year earlier and the highest production since 1948, according to Ohio State University Extension economists.

Heart Fund Gifts Still Accepted

Although Heart Month ended on Feb. 28 the Franklin County Heart Fund drive chairman points out that additional gifts will be welcomed. Funds are still urgently needed to continue the research, education and community service programs of the Franklin County and Central Ohio Heart Associations, Larry Chambers, campaign chairman, said.

"If you haven't yet made your contribution to the 1959 Heart Fund, your check will still be counted in the total collection," he said. "The associations' sole goal is to fight the heart diseases which cause more than half the deaths in Columbus and Franklin County," Chambers asserted.

Heart Fund contributions should be sent to: Heart Fund, 50 E. Broad-st, Columbus 15.

Bell Firm's 1958 Sales Report Dips

Western Electric Company, Manufacturing and Supply Unit of the Bell System, this week reported sales in 1958 of $2,173,827,000, down $306,787,000 or 12.4 percent from the previous year. Seventy percent or $1,527,912,000 of 1958 sales were to Bell System Companies.

Sales to the government, consisting principally of products and services associated with national defense projects, were $578,961,000, slightly higher than in 1957. Earnings in 1958 were $85,936,000 or $5.17 a share compared with 1957 earnings of $94,606,000 or $5.66 on a smaller average number of shares then outstanding.

Purchases from other firms of manufactured goods, raw materials and services totaled more than a billion dollars in 1958, equal to about 46 cents of every dollar Western Electric received. Payments went to over 30,000 companies, in all the states and several foreign countries. Nine out of ten supplier firms were small businesses with fewer than 500 employes.

Plant investment increased by $124,241,000 over 1957 to a total of $860,581,000 at years end after write-off of facilities retired from service. In Columbus, the company is engaged in the manufacture of Crossbar Dial Central Office equipment in two "pilot" buildings, located at 724 E. Woodrow-av and 347 W. Mound-st. As facilities become available at the new plant on E. Broad-st, there will be a gradual transfer of manufacturing operations and personnel from the two "pilot" locations during this year.

Twelve Pupils Named To South's 'Optic' Staff

Something new in the way of journalistic management has been initiated at South High School this semester. Two entirely different editorial staffs were named to split the operation of the school's newspaper, "The Optic."

The editor of one staff is Bonnie Bower, with Kay Hussey filling in as news editor. Individual page editors are Judy Girard, Annette Meisner, Carol Hoderfield and Tim Woodyard.

Luna Cooper and Judy Vogt were picked as co-editors of the second staff, while page editorships went to Shirlee Sager, Jack Foulk, Judy Egnew and Harold Bauer.

CLUB INITIATION

The South High School Philomathian Society will initiate eight new members into its organization Mar. 24. The girls, all juniors, were selected on the merits of their high scholastic standing. They are Christine Hessenauer, Sue Brixner, Carol Hoderfield, Roberta Gatewood, Anita Scharte, Barbara Pfeifer, Linda Brining and Joan Sollner.

GUEST SPEAKER

Don T. Harper, former teacher at Barrett Junior High School, and at present assistant director of the department of personnel services at the board of education, will be today's guest speaker at the meeting of the Future Teachers of America at South High School. He will discuss scholarships, colleges and opportunities in the teaching profession.

SEEK TROPHY

The South Hi-Y bowling team enters its final month of play in a three team fight for first place with Grandview and Central for the winner's trophy in the Thursday afternoon Bowling League at Broad Olympic lanes. Members of the team are Harold Bauer, Tom Lyle, Terry Campbell, Tom Noble, Bob Sherwood, Dave Harris and Dorry Pritt.

Emmanuel Quintet Cops Playoff Tilt

South Side YMCA Church Leagues finished the season last week as championships were decided in both the junior and intermediate divisions.

Emmanuel Lutheran, long a power in the "Y" leagues, defeated St. John E and R in a thrilling playoff tilt in the junior circuit. Joe Middendorf and Jerry Edwards of the Lutherans led the scoring with 10 points each. J. D. Karns topped the Saints' attack with eight markers.

In the group's foul shooting tourney, Tommy Croft hit for 17 out of 25 to take class A honors. Danny West's nine for 15 was tops in the class B event.

Action in the intermediate loop saw South Methodist, with Gordon Ball and Jim Bryant cashing in with 18 and 16 points respectively, down St. Paul E and R in the opener. Oakwood Methodist closed its season with a victory over undermanned Gates-Fourth Methodist.

In the final game, with the championship of both the tournament and league up for grabs, Hungarian E and R's Green Wave swept to victory with a red hot second half uprising. Norman Woods and Dick Bishop, both hit the nets for 12 points. Steady John Cline clipped in seven markers for the Woodrow and Washington.

Barrett Drops Roosevelt 47-18 To End Season

Coach Don McCualsky's unbeaten Barrett five finished the 1958-59 season by defeating Roosevelt Junior High School Thursday, Feb. 26, by a final score of 47 to 18. They are now the champions of the South Section.

Barrett's regulars, Gaulke, Bell, Martin, Burford, and Wilson started the game and were relieved in the fourth quarter by McDaniel, Stoll, Bivens, Bland and Howard.

Coach McCualsky said, "besides being an exceptionally good team on the floor, they have shown a good attitude all around, and they have given me less to worry about concerning eligibility than any team I've had. It has been a real pleasure to work with these boys."

South Beaten In Tourney

Basketball season ended Tuesday night for South High School fans as the Bulldogs were downed by East in the quarter-finals of the Central District Tournament at the Fairgrounds Coliseum, 77-54.

Pairings in the semi-finals tonight send East against Central and Westerville against North. The championship game will be played Saturday night.

Championship Undecided In YMCA Hardwood Loop

South Branch YMCA Gra-Y Basketball Leagues completed their seventh week of play last week with the Thursday League championship still to be decided and the Tuesday League with one team in first place after finding a mistake in the standings.

By request of a Livingston Hawk player, a look at the records found that the Hawks had beaten their sister team, the Be-Boppers, the first game of the season.

Tuesday Night League saw the Livingston Hawks defeat the Heyl Globetrotters, 15-6, to put the Hawks in a second place tie with the Globetrotters.

Heyl Vampires won their first game of the season when they defeated the Siebert Scorpions, 9-4, behind some shooting by Alex Hammon and Tim Christy.

Reeb kept its grip on first place by beating Heyl Terriers, 19-12. The Terriers scored the most points on Reeb's Musketeers that have been scored all year, mostly because of a very weak first half showing by the Reeb team.

Stewart won another game when it defeated the Siebert Sputniks, 6-5, in a thriller.

Beck's Bulldogs continued with another win, in the Thursday League, to stay in a first place tie with the Lincoln Park Grays. The Bulldogs defeated the Lincoln Park Scarlets 15-7 with Larry Houten's 10 point contribution.

In other Thursday games, the Lincoln Park Bucks won a thriller from the Southwood Protons, 10-9, behind Barny Ferguson's and Scott Brown's fine play.

Southwood Neutrons won their fourth game of the season when they defeated the Beck Rinkydinks. Ronnie Prater's seven points were too much for the Rinkydinks to handle.

Lincoln Park's Grays won another game to stay in a first place tie by winning over the Southwood Electrons, 19-4. David Wiechers scored all four points for the losers.

New 1959 Fishing License Now Required In State

Spring arrived March 1 for Ohio's fishermen. On that date, a 1959 fishing license was required for all Buckeye anglers 18 years old or over.

The new fishing licenses are in the mail now for all of the more than 2,000 license agencies scattered throughout the 88 counties, according to Harry West, chief of the accounting and budgeting section, Ohio Department of Natural Resources. The annual sale of fishing licenses amounts to almost 900,000 each year.

There are three types of licenses. Ohio residents for at lease six months must possess a resident angler's license which sells for two dollars, plus a 25 cent issuing fee. Non-residents have a choice of licenses. They may purchase a special 10-day permit for three dollars, plus a 25 cent issuing fee, or the annual non-resident license for five dollars, plus the 25 cent issuing fee.

Old-age pensioners are not required to have fishing licenses, provided they carry evidence of this aid while fishing.

Armed service personnel are also exempt from buying licenses if they carry evidence of their service connection.

One 'Okay,' Two 'Maybe's' Given By Commission

At their Feb. 26 meeting, members of the City Planning Commission approved the plat of the 575-house Lincoln Village South project, to be developed coln Village.

Deferred was a decision on plans for the senior citizens' apartment project near Sunshine Park because of disagreement on street changes. Proposed plans would close off Sullivant-av at Gift-st. The city has contracted with the Columbus Metropolitan Housing Authority to provide land for the apartments on Sullivant-av, west of the Riverside apartments.

Decision also was postponed on a request that the southeast corner of W. Broad-st and Roys-av be rezoned to permit construction of an auto appliance store.

SCIENTISTS AT WORK — Lewis Harrold, sixth grade student at Southwood Elementary, demonstrates "electrolysis" to members of Southwood's Parent Study Group. This experiment was chosen and set up by Lewis. Other experiments in air pressure and gravity were chosen and set up by fellow members of the sixth grade science club. The science demonstrations were given Feb. 12 at the school auditorium under the direction of John Nesser.

Southwood Scientists Perform

Members of Southwood's sixth grade Science Club put on a self-made exhibit and demonstration for the PTA Parent Study Group Feb. 12 in the school auditorium. The exhibit was under the direction of John Nesser, science instructor, who sponsors the group.

The exhibit and demonstrations were presented in conjunction with guest speaker Bob Wilson's topic, "Science Makes the Grade." Wilson is supervisor of public relations of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co.

Membership in the club is restricted to 15 to 20 sixth graders and members are selected by their display of interest, present and past teachers' evaluation, and a science test.

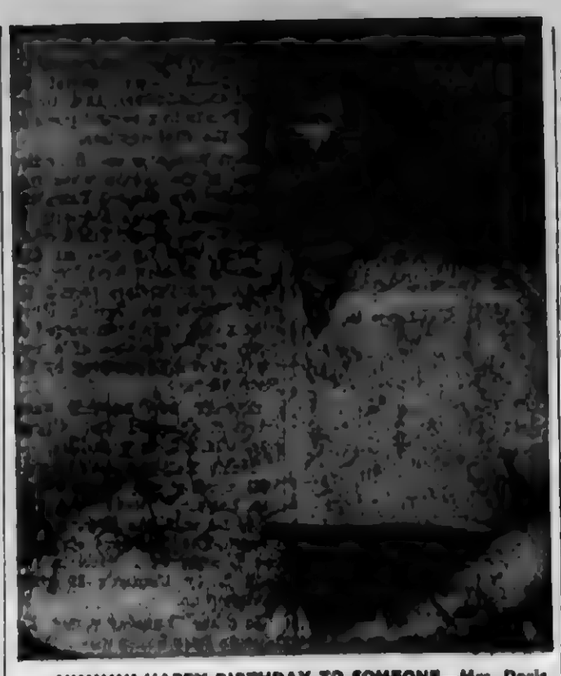
There are currently 15 members in the club representing three different sixth grade rooms.

Purposes of the club, as outlined in a recent newsletter to parents are: "Challenge your child's interest in academic work. Develop or extend the so-called scientific method of thinking, by experimentation, extend his basic knowledge of science.

West Annex Petitions Are Filed

A petition asking the annexation of 1,186 acres in Prairie and Franklin Township was handed Franklin County Commissioners Monday by New Rome resident Thomas O'Ryan, 3146 El Paso-dr.

If the annexation is approved, it will mark the first time that the Columbus city limits have been extended into Prairie Twp., where approximately half the tract is located.



Starting at Georgesville-rd, the area generally includes the three lots owned by Peoples Development Co. cutting behind Mix Addition, including the land between Sullivant-av and Hall-rd, going down Climo-rd and coming across to the present city limits.

Neither the Westinghouse or General Motors Tarnstedt Plant are included in the area.

The land owned by Peoples Development Co. has already been approved for construction of about 500 homes in the near future.

HMMMMM HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO SOMEONE—Mrs. Doris Heise, manager of the Great Southern Pettifour Bakery, displays a birthday cake, one of the many types of cakes available at her shop located in the southern wing of the center. Cakes such as this, and all other baked goods are baked fresh daily at the main store in the Pettifour chain, located at Graceland.

GREAT SOUTHERN BUSINESS

Unusual Orders Don't Faze This Bake Shop Manager

Cakes topped with candy figures of football players, trains, and made in vivid colors of icings and trims are not considered unusual orders by Mrs. Doris Heise, manager of the Great Southern Petitfour Bakery. She says she has had customers request just about any color imaginable and a variety of trims for the celebration of birthdays, anniversaries, graduations, and other occasions people observe But of all her experiences in her work at the bakery, one cake does stand out above all others in her memory—a 10 inch round cake made with one chocolate and one white layer, topped with witches in orange and black, and rimmed with yellow, green and other vivid colors. She says the office even called her to see if the order was correct.

All types of cakes can be ordered at Petitfour's up to 5 p.m. on Friday and up to 9 p.m. any other day for the following day. Mrs. Heise says the store always has "six stock cakes — plain white and devil's food, on hand for customers who forget to place orders."

Store hours are 12 to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday, 12 to 6 p.m. Sunday, and 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday.

Mrs. Heise has been with the bakery since July. She is married, has a boy, nine years old, who attends Robert Livingston Elementary.

Great Southern Petitfour Bakery keeps a well-stocked cookie jar on the back counter especially for its young customers.

ONLY GROCERIES IN 20 YEARS

Lockbourne Village Couple Wins $200 In Great Southern Drawing

A Lockbourne Village couple, who claimed they never won anything except "a basket of groceries 20 years ago" copped over $200 in prizes Saturday night in a grand drawing sponsored by the merchants at the Great Southern Shopping Center.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Everetts, Box 38, Lockbourne Village, were the happy recipients of the shopping center's awards, and both were "just tickled pink" when Earl Wilson, president of Great Southern's Businessmen's Association called out their winning names.

The happy couple said they visit the Great Southern Shopping Center "about two or three time a week" to do their buying. They listed as their reasons for patronizing the center; easy parking, 9 p. m. service, the wide range of products to choose from, and the good sales service in the stores.

"We've never won anything before but a basket of groceries 20 years ago" Mrs. Everetts said. "We' certainly were surprised."

Among the prizes donated by the shopping center's merchants were a blanket, salad bowl, groceries, free dinners, and clothes. Certificates totaling almost $200 were also given the winners.

"We've started spending our money already," Mrs. Everetts said Tuesday. "Our daughter, Mary, graduates from Hamilton Twp. School this month, so we've been out buying clothes, a camera, everything."

The Everetts have lived in Lockbourne Village since 1928. Besides Mary, they have six other children, three of whom are married.

An employee of the Chesapeak & Ohio Railroad since 1919, Mr. Everetts said he never considered winning anything in the Great Southern drawing. "After all," he chuckled, "we had tickets deposited at only about a half dozen stores."

State School Volunteers Entertained At Annual Tea

Volunteers who have contributed much in the way of education and recreation, as well as to material needs of Columbus State School residents, were honored at a tea Feb. 22 at Gove Hall.

Guests represented more than 100 organizations as well as 80 individuals.

Charter Guild and the Parent Volunteer Association of the School sponsored the annual event.

Dr. Roger M. Gove, superintendent of the school, welcomed the guests and speaker was Catholic Bishop Clarence G. [illegible].

Participating in the program were Rev. Melvin Oehrtman, protestant chaplain, Mrs. Virginia Cram Towers, volunteer committee president; Lawrence Addison, vice-president of Partens' Volunteer Association.

Thomas J. Clark, coordinator of activities, therapies and voluntary services of Ohio; Dr. W. A. Butcher, assistant commissioner, division of Mental Hygiene; Rev. Edward A Moan, Catholic chaplain.

State School Choir, directed by Mrs. Mary Munice, sang. A reception followed the program.

Gloves Champs Meet Friday In Tournament

A Tournament of Champions, a four card boxing program featuring eight 1959 Golden Gloves champions and semi-finalists, will be presented Saturday, Mar. 7 at 8 p. m. in the Groveport-Madison High School Gym.

Matchmakers Orin Babbitt, of Groveport, and Ed Williams, of Columbus, in conjunction with the Groveport-Madison Boosters Club, have arranged the bouts. Admission for the AAU sanctioned program is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students and children.

A series of "small fry" bouts has been arranged to pit the skills of youngsters age 12 and under between the main bouts.

Featherweight Class; Russ Agins, 1958 Golden Gloves Champion vs. Martin Allen, 1958 Golden Gloves semi-finalist.

Lightweight Class; Aden Allison, 1958 AAU National Champion vs. Rex Agins, 1958 Golden Gloves Champion.

Welterweight Class; Larry Agins, 1958 Golden Gloves Champion vs. Danny West, 1958 semi-finalist.

Pros, Cons Are Aired

Pink and blue pamphlets preaching the pros and cons of the proposed housing code were distributed to a packed house and set the pace for lively hour-long debate. A dozen persons took the floor.

City Planning Director Jack Bachtel said Columbus promises to grow to a million in the next 30 to 40 years and needs minimum housing regulations to prevent the spread of blighted areas.

He said the suggested code represents thorough study of fire, health and planning committees in many cities and has been sent for study by some 60 organizations.

Backing Bachtel's work Monday night were spokesmen from the Metropolitan Health committee, Urban League, various church groups, settlement organizations, League of Women Voters and neighborhood councils. They said properties were being "bled" by landlords and the resulting congestion was encouraging crime and property devaluation. South Side and University cases were cited specifically.

A strong delegation of property owners and their lawyers read statements denouncing the proposal as "unworkable, and invasion of privacy, bait for federal handouts, and a great hardship to pensioned property owners."

One spokesman, Donald Tishman, said 40 to 50,00 persons would be "put out in the streets. Raising of rents would naturally follow costly alterations in properties, he said. The opposition asked that the code be tabled or placed on the November ballot.

Hardly outshadowed by housing debaters were those appearing before the zoning committee Monday night. South Siders, 30 or 40 strong, argued strenuously against rezoning of property in the vicinity of Wager-st, Innis-av, Ann-st and Olpp-av from commercial and residential to manufacturing.

Officials of the Federal Glass Co. said they need the area for a warehouse which would "not be an eyesore." They explained the entrance would be directly off Woodruff-av and would take a heavy traffic flow off Innis.

Residents didn't see it that way, even after some soothing words from fellow South Sider Bill Hoermle who is chairman of the council's zoning committee.

"When you dead-end Innis-av you'll lower the value of our property," said Mrs. Leo Lyons, almost in tears. "We're sure the new building will bring on more dirt, noise and make a racetrack out of more of these streets and alleys."

Federal Glass spokesmen insisted that the warehouse would be surrounded with "at least 15 feet of greenery and would provide very little noise."

August Coulson, 474 Innis-av, complained that residents had been given only four days' notice and many didn't get letters at all.

City zoning commission favored the rezoning but Council President Ralston Westlake suggested a traffic survey first. The matter was tabled for two weeks.

Valleyview Plat Discussed

Held up for one week was action on rezoning an 18-acre area north of Valleyview-dr near Hague-av, from manufacturing to single family residential. Ernest Fritsche Development Co. has an option on the land and wants to build 85 homes there. The company recently finished 56 houses south of the road.

Opposition was voiced by the Pennsylvania Railroad, Dean & Barry Paint Co., and H. H. McKeowen, a member of the Rural Zoning committee.

Jack Bachtel of the city zoning commission said his surveys showed that the housing development could be "compatible" with the paint firm to the west. Dean & Barry spokesmen said the plant would be back from the road and probably some years off. They feared "future pressure groups" from the development. The railroad spokesman said the line had hoped to land an industry on the site although there were no immediate prospects.

McKeowen deplored spotty zoning throughout the county and said it was "time to protect industry."

SOUTH HIGH EUB CHURCH PLANS CEREMONY

WILL BREAK GROUND SUNDAY — A ground-breaking ceremony will be held Sunday, Mar. 8, 2 p.m. for the new EUB Church to be built at 2800 S. High-st, and to be completed by early fall. It will include a sanctuary seating over 300 people with both a lounge and nursery. The basement will include facilities for educational and social purposes. A wing will be built on the rear of the edifice for the pastor's study, church office, and choir room. Bishop Paul Herrick, Dr. D. S. Mills, Dr. C. F. Lutz, along with members of the congregation will participate in Sunday's ceremony.

Library Features Lenten Display

Wildlife Week Planners Underline School's Role

Plans for the local observance of National Wildlife Week Mar. 15-21 have been announced by Charles A. Dambach, 7085 Linworth-rd, statewide chairman for the program. Assisting with the observance this year are Ted Lee, 986 Wilson-av, and Herb Rumfield, 630 Butler-av, representing the League of Ohio Sportsmen.

Walt Disney, producer of the famed "True Life Adventure" nature movie series, is serving as national honorary chairman for Wildlife Week.

Dambach said, "the primary objective of the Wildlife Week campaign in Columbus this year is to acquaint people, including educators and students with the tremendous importance of adopting and applying the conservation to our everyday lives."

"America's wealth and prestige among nations is due to our once-bountiful natural resources such as fertile soil, plentiful supplies of water, great forests, extensive deposits of ore and abundant wildlife," Lee pointed out at a luncheon last week at the Southern Hotel. A group of conservationists and educators met there to start the Wildlife Week observance.

"Our basic need for resource conservation is a logical concern of the school, particularly social studies, history, science and a number of other school subjects," said Herb Rumfield. "It's vitally important," he added, "that conservation be made a part of the school experience of our children."

Disney Suggestions Given

Featured at the kick-off luncheon were four courses of action, supplied by Walt Disney, to get conservation in our schools:

1. Make it your business to find out if conservation is being taught in the grade and high schools in your district.

2. Start educational and publicity campaigns to show people the need for teaching conservation in their schools. Point out examples of resource mistreatment close to home. Demonstrate how abuse of lands result in soil erosion, water pollution, depletion of farms and forests, destruction of wildlife living places and outdoor recreation areas.

3. Set up a conservation-education committee in your community. Ask representatives of as many civic and agency groups as possible to serve on this — teachers and school administrators, parent-teacher associations, women's clubs, service and farm groups, sportsmen-conservation clubs, youth groups, churches, and conservation agencies.

4. Help get money to support conservation-education activities. Materials for teaching conservation often are in short supply. Make funds available for your schools to provide approved teaching aids, leaflets and books, demonstration and project materials for use in classrooms.

At least two sportsmen's clubs in this area will be active this year in carrying out the theme of Wildlife Week—the Southeast Conservation Club, and the Central Hunters' and Anglers' Club. Others will participate too. If you want to help in starting conservation in your local schools contact one of these clubs. Mr. Rumfield and Mr. Lee are the men to call.

Grilled steaks, chicken, frankfurters or hamburgers taste good in winter. If you have a fireplace, use it to prepare those favorite family "summer" foods, say Ohio State University Extension nutritionists.

Academy Now Accepting Alumni Grant Requests

Applicants will soon be screened for the Columbus Academy Alumni Memorial Scholarship which is awarded annually to an eighth grade boy from schools of Franklin County and vicinity.

The scholarship, which covers four years of high school training at the academy, is based on moral character, all-around ability, intelligence and leadership. The applicant must show that without the financial aid afforded by the scholarship, he would not have been able to attend the school. The size of the scholarship grant will be commensurate with the financial need of the boy.

Candidates will be screened by means of aptitude and achievement tests and personal interviews with members of the academy faculty and the Alumni Scholarship Committee. Applications must be made by May 16 to George D. Brown, faculty representative, Columbus Academy Alumni Association, 1939 Franklin Park-S.

Co-winners of last year's scholarship were Sam Bruskin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bendid Bruskin, of 432 N. Drexel-av, and John Masters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Masters, of Groveport.

Pike Lake Park Cabin Drawing Winners Named

Winners of a Lake Hope and Pike Lake State Park cabin drawing were to be notified by the Ohio Division of Parks. Lake Hope Park has 21 state-owned housekeeping cabins within the 18,000-acre Zaleski State Forest.

Housekeeping cabins, open from Apr. 1 to Nov. 1, are so popular they have to be rented each year by a chance drawing. A total of 23 sleeping cabins, open from May 1 to Nov. 1, are in less demand. There are still a number of vacancies for them.

Occupants of sleeping cabins eat at the Lake Hope Lodge which is scheduled to open May 1 and close Nov. 1.

Wayne Wright, 154 N. Wayne-av, was the first applicant to receive accommodations at Pike State Park, Pike County. There are 14 housekeeping cabins at Pike overlooking a 13-acre lake, open Apr. 1 to Nov. 1.

Also in demand at Pike, and rented from Mar. 1 to Dec. 1 on the basis of an annual drawing, is a large lodge which accommodates groups up to 22 persons. Mrs. Thurman Friday of Dublin, also had her name drawn for a cabin at Pike State Park.

Food Markets This Week

by Mrs. Estelle B. Franks

Fruits — Valencia oranges, grapefruit, apples, frozen strawberries.

Vegetables —Potatoes, celery, new cabbage, broccoli.

ON MARKETS IN MARCH

One of the nice things about this time of year is that it's the season when we get the most and best citrus fruits. Oranges are generally at their lowest point in their price cycle. You'll find plenty of both oranges and grapefruit—and they're at their peak in quality. The popular juice oranges, Florida Valencias, are here in abundance.

Because of that big apple crop in the fall; this fruit is still in good supply — lots of apples to brighten March meals and lunch boxes will still be on the market. Modern carefully regulated storage holds apple quality over the months. Fresh Cuban pineapple and dark green avocados are worth noting for fruit variety. Hot house rhubarb is coming in larger quantities; the first strawberries of the season are here—spring can't be far away!

Vegetables—Potatoes continue so plentiful that they will be one of March's best food buys. For a green vegetable consider new cabbage — crisp and bright in color and high in vitamins C and A. For all it offers, prices are expected to be very reasonable. Celery teams well with cabbage. Supplies are due to be especially large, coming in from Florida, Arizona and California at the same time. Canned vegetables for the month are peas, snap beans, sauerkraut, tomatoes and tomato products.

Poultry and Eggs lead the list of foods due to be plentiful on March markets with lower prices. This is good news for all planning Lenten meals, and also for Easter. Large eggs give you more for your money at this season.

Roast turkey for Easter dinner? It's getting to be a tradition with many families. Turkey also will be plentiful in March, with family-size birds in largest supply. This means markets will be offering the size that most of us prefer.

At March meat counters pork will be a plentiful item. Whole loins, Boston butt, ham, picnics and bacon are good choices. As would be expected when pork is plentiful, lard also is in heavy supply.

Some price concessions will continue on beef — especially loin cuts, steaks and pot roasts. Watch for features on these.

Other plentifuls include peanuts and peanut butter . . . very good proteins by the way.

Milk supplies are increasing seasonally, so dairy products continue in plenty.

Dry beans of one variety or another are buys at your market.

For the sweet tooth there's honey, also in plentiful supply, and so good on breakfast hot cakes or on biscuits or other hot breads.

COUNTY READY WITH JULY BILLS

MORE BILLS? — If you have just now received your real estate bills then take a look at the picture above. That stack of paper you see is a part of the tax bills for late Summer, bundled and ready to go. The offices of County Treasurer Newton A. Thatcher and County Auditor Fred C. Dunn work together in the preparation of these tax bills. In order to be prepared for a tax billing at the proper time, it is necessary for these offices to begin months in advance. Pictured above are Treasurer Thatcher (left) and Deputy Auditor Lewis Hanners, of Canal Winchester, who has just finished printing next July's bills. This past Monday Thatcher mailed out about 200,000 bills to taxpayers in Franklin County. The collection has already started and will continue until April 13. For those who pay their taxes by this date there is no added cost on their bills. For those who are tardy in their payments there is a required legal penalty of 10 per cent.

County Treasurer Blames Tax Hike On City Annexations

Annexation to Columbus will mean an increase in tax rates to many property owners in both the City and the county, County Treasurer Newton A. Thatcher disclosed Monday.

The Treasurer's statement was prompted by many inquiries coming into his office from property owners who complained that their taxes are higher than those of their friends in other parts of town.

"Annexations to the City of Columbus are the cause of these questions," Thatcher said. Ordinarily the tax rate would be the same for every property in the city. This year, however, several parts were annexed which have not yet been annexed to the Columbus School District.

Property owners in these annex territories are charged with the City, County and State taxes the same as owners located within the older parts of Columbus.

Because these outlying parts are still in other school districts they each will pay a different school tax rate, depending on the particular school district to which they belong.

This year, Thatcher said, there are five different tax rates in the City of Columbus. Persons living in the Columbus School District will be charged $27.40. On the extreme eastern side of the city, persons living in the Jefferson Township School District will get a $26.34 tax bill.

The Southeast section of Columbus located in the Madison Township School District will have a tax rate of $28.44. Tax payers in northeastern section of the city in the Westerville School District have a new tax rate of $29.34.

Property owners in the northwestern section of Columbus located in the Worthington School District have a tax rate of $35.14.

Varying tax rates are also to be found in other municipalities for the same reasons of annexations, Thatcher said. Other municipalities with more than one tax rate are: Obetz with three rates, Whitehall with two rates, and Gahanna with two rates.

Tax rates per $1,000 levied by local officials and rates per $1,000 levied because of voter action in Hartley Newspaper areas are:

Reynoldsburg, $28.90; Lockbourne, $23.60; Grove City, $33.20; Groveport, $31.60; Canal Winchester, $30.20; Whitehall, $32.00; Hilliards, $31.20; Dublin, $32.10; Valleyview, $29.00; Bexley, $29.00; Darbydale, $29.60; and New Rome, $29.50.

Townships in the area with similiar rates are Brown, $29.40 Franklin, $29.00; Hamilton, $22.20; Jackson, $30.50; Madison, $26.80; Norwich, $29.60; Norwich, $29.60; Pleasant, $27.50; Prairie, $29.30.

Decision Near In Glass Co. Zoning Issue

South Siders Seek Support In Council Rezoning Fight

by RICK PAVLIK

South Siders living in the vicinity of the Federal Glass and Paper Board Co. will print and distribute handbills by Saturday, Mar. 14, in an effort to garner support in their fight against the possible rezoning of their property.

Mrs. Leo Lyons, 452 E. Innis-av, spokesman for the neighborhood group fighting the issue, said the bills would be in the hands of residents in the Wager-st, Innis-av, Ann-st and Olpp-av area by Saturday to give them time to rally the anti-rezoning fight tabled by City Council until Monday, Mar. 16.

Officials of the Federal Glass Co. said they asked for the rezoning of the area because they plan to build a warehouse. They explained the entrance to the new building would be directly off Woodrow-av and would take a heavy traffic flow off Innis.

At council meeting Mar. 2 Mrs. Lyons and representatives from 38 homes in the area protested the rezoning as an "eyesore" and a "devaluation" of property.

Although the city zoning commission favored the rezoning, Council President Ralston Westlake tabled the issue until Mar. 9.

In an effort to back their argument, neighbors called in real estate and insurance agents last week to survey the situation.

The real estate agent, who preferred to remain unnamed, said the rezoning of the area, if passed, "would take at least $1,000 of each property in the neighborhood."

The insurance agent, who also asked that his name not be used, said he could not tell how hazardous the area would be until after it is rezoned.

Neighbors claim the insurance rate would change and that their children would be endangered by the heavy flow of traffic which would infiltrate the area.

Court Okays Car Service On Sundays

Auto service businesses, classified Monday by Municipal Court Judge Alan Schwarzwalder as "performing a work of necessity," may now operate on Sunday in Columbus.

Judge Schwarzwalder's opinion on garages, auto parts companies and service stations' status virtually exempted them from the Sunday Blue Law.

Most operators who had closed their service stations the past few weeks to escape citation for violating the Sunday business ban, will probably be open.

Meet Again Thursday

A meeting is planned by Independent Service Station Dealers' Association Thursday, 7:30 p.m. at the Coca-Cola plant.

Schwarzwalder dismissed cases Monday against Roy Poston of 3420 Seabrook-dr, operator of the Simplex Parts Co., and an employe, Charles Gain of 4052 Casa-blvd, Grove City.

The pair was cited on Dec. 21 for the sale of two windshield wiper blades.

Schwarzwalder, discussing the law passed in 1831, remarked that even then legislators were conscious of the necessity of travel and those whose work allowed individuals to travel, were exempted.

He said, "It is clear that in our present economic and social life, the auto is a necessity.

"It therefore follows that those businesses and individuals which provide services which enable the auto to operate are performing a work of necessity."

BAZAAR PLANNED

CHERRY BLOSSOMS IN THE AIR! — Schiller Golden Age Club members put the finishing touches on Japanese cherry trees which will be used to decorate the dining room at the annual city-wide rally, Mar. 18, 7:30 p.m. Approximately 700 Golden Agers from all over the city are expected to attend the rally slated for Schiller Recreation Center this year. Bamboo screens painted with Japanese motifs hang on the wall behind. Left to right, Mrs. Arthur H. Fischer, 152 E. Maier-st, Mrs. Carrie Miller, 90 E. Gates-st, and Mrs. Frances Colegrove, 1077 Bruck-st. Mrs. Miller is president of the Schiller Club and Mrs. Colegrove, vice-president. Mrs. Fischer is assisting with publicity.

Seven-Hundred Golden Agers To Rally At Schiller Center

Schiller Recreation Center will be the host to the annual Golden Age rally on Wednesday, Mar. 18, at 7:30 p.m. This is an affair for the senior citizens of the city and surrounding area, at which time all of the clubs come together for a big night of fun and frolic. Co-sponsoring the event will be the Columbus Recreation Department and the Southern Kiwanis Club.

This year the theme of the rally will be a take-off on the book "Around the World in 80 Days," and each room of the center will be decorated to represent a different country.

Schiller Recreation Center will be closed to regularly scheduled activities for two days, Tuesday, Mar. 17, and Wednesday, Mar. 18, in order to permit decoration for and participation in the city-wide Golden Age Rally.

Six of the clubs which are sponsored by the Columbus Recreation Department are responsible for the decorating and program to be held in each room, as follows:

Gymnasium, the USA by Whetstone Club. Program to be an old-time political rally and melodrama.

Auditorium, France by Sunshine Club — Decoration to represent a sidewalk cafe and program of a stage show featuring the famous "can-can" dance.

Game room, Spain by the Senior Citizens Center — Program consists of a "bull fight" and Spanish dancers.

Club room, England by the Linden Club — A visit to Madame Toussand's Wax Works.

Dining room, Japanese tea room by Schiller Club — Refreshments in a Japanese setting.

Craft room, India by the Poindexter Club — Snake charmer, fakir lying on a bed of spikes and Indian dancing girls.

Attending will be approximately 700 Golden Agers over 60 years old from all over the city. The program will last from 7:30 to 10 p.m. The participants will be grouped in six different tour units and travel around the world visiting each of the six countries. Tourists will be traveling by various methods of transportation such as train, boat, elephant, balloon, covered wagon and ricksha.

The Schiller Golden Age Club has been busy for the past month making decorations for the dining room or Japanese tea room. It will be decorated with bamboo screens hanging on the walls and Japanese cherry trees in bloom. Each person working in this room will be dressed in a Japanese kimono and wear a pom-pom in her hair.

The cherry trees were made by cutting pink blossoms from crepe paper and fastening them onto branches. Pom-poms were made from tinted cleansing tissue. The simulated bamboo screens have been constructed from brown wrapping paper on which has been painted, in tempera, many Japanese scenes and figures.

Since the space is limited and there will be a large number of elderly people taking part in this event, it is requested that only Golden Age Club members attend. There will be no room for spectators.

Parks Master Plan Urged By Development Committee

Adoption of a master plan to guide parks and recreation development for the 1980 population of the Greater Columbus area was recommended today by the Parks and Recreation Technical Committee of the Development Committee for Greater Columbus, a non-profit citizens action group.

The committee reported after more than a year's inquiry into the parks and recreation problems of the area. It urged that the basic plans prepared by the firm of Harland Bartholomew & Associates in 1954 as amended in light of recent developments be called the official plan for parks and recreation.

Chairman Byron P. Redman told civic and government officials that the committee urged continued application of three Bartholomew recommendations: use of low-lying land along waterways for large parks, provision of major athletic fields in each section of the community, and development of neighborhood parks and playgrounds in conjunction with elementary schools.

He said the committee backed eight large parks along the Marble Cliff, Clime Road, South Scioto River, Lower Big Walnut, Upper Big Walnut, Hoover Dam, Alum Creek and the Olentangy River. All but the Clime Road Park would cover low-lying stream banks.

The committee urged designation of 30.4 acres of Columbus property at McKinley Ave-

Newspapers Are Part Of Our Regular Diet

Residents of the entire Central Ohio Area will be glad when the Columbus daily newspaper strike is over. The regular consumption of news has become a vital part of our daily diet . . . and an important factor in our way of life.

In our group of seven Hartley Newspapers with a total of over 70,000 circulation, we have attempted to give some additional coverage of general news but in no manner have attempted to cover the field like the dailies do.

Our papers have expanded considerably in size in the past two weeks as the result of advertising available from many sources.

Just as we have continued to give preference to our local community news events we have given first preference to our local and regular advertisers.

We are sorry our facilities have not been such that we could have extended our service to many more advertisers. We have been forced to turn down thousands of dollars worth of such advertising offered us.

We sincerely hope the strike ends soon. We have long felt that too many people are hurt by strikes. We hope our economy soon finds methods to settle such problems without the resulting losses that accompany the present methods.

While the strike continues we will make every effort to give our best possible service under pressure of production. If we fail in some instances . . . please bear with us.

ST. LADISLAUS STUDENTS RECEIVE TB TESTS

MIXED REACTIONS—"Nothing to it!" said Mary Fontaine, 89 Prebis-av, first grader at St. Ladislas School, when she received her free Christmas seal Mantoux test last week. But Stephen Kessler, 1425 Bruck-st, also a first-grader, wasn't quite as sure about the needle-type tuberculin test given by the Tuberculosis Society to determine the presence of TB germs in the body. Administering physician in both pictures is Dr. Chester R. Markwood. Reassuring Stephen is Gerald D. Fry, executive director of the TB Society. The screening test to find positive reactors was completed in 28 Catholic schools Tuesday, Mar. 10. Positive reactors will be X-rayed and their household contacts skin-tested or X-rayed to find the active case of tuberculosis responsible for the TB infection.

Three South Siders Play Roles In Jehovah Program

Three South Side residents will play key roles in the circuit convention of Jehovah's Witnesses to be held at the Ohio State Fairgrounds Friday through Sunday, Mar. 13-15th.

They are Dean G. Bourne, 36, and his wife, Dorothy, 34, of 1265 Fairwood-av, and John O. Brehmer, 39, of 710 Oakwood-av, who is Mrs. Bourne's brother

Mr. Bourne has been named by circuit supervisor Paul A. Allen, as assistant manager of the convention, while Mrs. Bourne and Mr. Brehmer have been appointed by the Watchtower Society of New York, sponsor of the meet, to appear on the program.

Mrs. Bourne will shatter a long-time custom of using only men as speakers at conventions of Jehovah's Witnesses when she will present a sample six-minute sermon of the type she regularly uses in talking to the ladies of her neighborhood. Her subject is "When God Rescued a Nation for His Own Possession," and she will speak Friday evening

Brehmer will speak Sunday, the 15th, at 4:30, on "Maintaining Our Spiritual Paradise."

Mr. Bourne will supervise 21 departments set up by Allen to insure a smooth-running professional assembly. Among departments supervised will be a cafeteria dispensing 3,000 meals at cost, a checkroom, looking after thousands of coats, hats and personal effects for busy conventioners, decorations to the building, advertising, an orchestra furnishing music, and a finance department.

The three are associated with the South congregation of Jehovah's witnesses, 1705 S. High-st, where Mr. Bourne is presiding minister, and Brehmer, his assistant. Mrs. Bourne, not to be outdone, lists her occupation as "housewife and missionary."

She explains that her ministry is not of the supervisory type of her husband, but consists mostly of conducting Bible discussions and classes among ladies in her neighborhood. At present she teaches 10 one-hour classes each week and still has time to keep house.

All three are graduates of the Watchtower missionary training school of Gilead, the Bournes graduating from there in 1945, and Brehmer in 1943. The Bournes were missionaries from 1946 to 1952 in Honduras in the capital, Tegucigalpa, an Indian name meaning "City of Silver" after the silver mines there, and later in LaCeiba and Puerto Cortes, the latter named after Spanish explorer Hernando Cortes, who landed there in the 16th century.

Brehmer was associated at the Brooklyn, New York, headquarters of the Watchtower Society for several years after his graduation, as a writer for the group's magazine, Awake, and after that traveled extensively in the U.S. on lecture tours.

The convention will bring delegates from 40 central Ohio cities in an area bounded by Washington Court House, Delaware, Celina and Xenia. Watchtower officials A. C. Manera, Jr. is coming from New York to head the meet, and he will speak at 3 p.m. Sunday, the 15th, at the fairgrounds Coliseum on "A Paradise Earth through God's Kingdom." Admission is free and the public is invited.

Will To Live Is Stronger Than Illness

By Betty Daft

James N. Sleppey's last trip home from far-away places was perhaps his longest, most arduous

The veteran teller of Ohio National Bank and long-distance swimmer of world-wide fame, contracted a vicious virus in Europe last summer, resulting in operations in Rome and later in Columbus.

Although it was predicted he could not live, he is stubbornly refusing to give up, and confidently predicts he will be swimming again this summer.

An Ohio National Bank teller for 35 years, Sleppey has worked mostly at the main bank, but has served at different times at all the older branch offices, including West Side and South Side.

Through the years he has answered the challenge of far-away rivers and oceans by combining vacation time with leaves of absence for long jaunts, "To an ocean some-place, or maybe a river I heard was difficult to swim."

Although traveling throughout the world in distance-swimming feats, he has always returned to Columbus, made "home" by close friends and business associates

Roots Are Deep

The West Side where he spent part of his childhood, and Gladden Community House, operated by his parents when it was first founded, are where his roots are deepest

On intimate terms with most of the world's great bodies of water, those he has conquered include the ancient Thames River at Kew, London; the Tiber wending through ruins of old Rome; Havana Bay at Cuba; Nassau Harbor in the Bahamas, Montego Bay at Jamaica, famed Castle Course at Waikiki Beach, Honolulu; Mississippi, Hudson, Snake, Colorado, Detroit, and Potomac Rivers.

Sleppey learned to swim as a boy in England, during a six-months' stay with his parents there.

Surprisingly enough, he was afraid of water when he was young, and for a long time, mistrusted large bodies of water . . . deep, wide, swift-running rivers and oceans with their strong currents.

But he found none of his fears ever came true. He never developed a cramp or had an accident, and gradually developed confidence in the water and in his abilities

Never trying for speed records, he concentrates instead on achieving distance. The technique of "slow and steady" has become his philosophy to live by.

Swam "Wildest River"

"When I swam the Snake River between Clarkson, Wash., and Lewistown, Idaho, authorities cleared the area of skiers and speedboats until I passed. Groups of people would join me, swimming alongside for a while before dropping out.

"Snake River is the wildest in the world. Hell's Canyon, near the headwaters, is the deepest in the world and much of the river is white water. A swimmer drowned in the river the very day I was swimming it."

Parents Operated Center

His parents, John W. and Dora Sleppey, were educators and social workers. His mother taught grade school and his father served at different times as teacher, superintendent of Middletown School and professor of mathematics in Akron, where James was born.

Responding to a need in the West Side, Dr. Gladden, pastor of the Congregational Church, and Mrs. J. A. Jeffrey opened the West Side Settlement House, forerunner of Gladden Community House.

Mr. and Mrs. Sleppy operated the center until 1920, providing recreation, gymnasium, sewing instruction, a kindergarten and guidance to youngsters and oldsters alike.

Carl Bogart, present director of Gladden, and a close friend of the Sleppeys, assumed duties of the post in 1921.

John Sleppey's death in 1924 and Dora's in 1927 were mourned by hundreds who had benefited from their help and counsel

Speaking of his parents' work, Sleppey recalls, "They had a friendly, old-fashioned, comfortable way that people responded to immediately.

Illness Only Interim

He describes his near brush with death and his illness as an interim. "A bad day between many good ones. But I'm out of the hospital now, out of pajamas and in civvies, and when summer comes again I'll be swimming.

WOMEN'S DAY SLATED

Hosack Baptist Church will host a Women's Day program Sunday, Mar. 22, at 11 a.m. Mrs. Edna Lewis, of Akron, president of the Women's Division of the Eastern Union Association, will be the featured speaker.

A Fellowship Tea and Musicale beginning at 3:30 p.m. in the church auditorium will conclude the day's program.

Southview Park Included In Park, Recreation Plan

Adoption of a master plan, including Southview Park, to guide development of Greater Columbus area parks and recreation for the 1980 population increase was recommended Wednesday by a non-profit citizen action group.

The Parks and Recreation Technical Committee of the Development Committee for Greater Columbus, reporting on more than a year's inquiry into the parks and recreation problems of the Greater Columbus area, urged designation of an official plan to develop the area's recreational needs.

The committee urged that the basic plans prepared by the firm of Harland Bartholomew & Associates in 1954, as amended in light of recent developments, be designated as the official plan.

The committee supported Bartholomew's recommendations insofar as land is still available for eight large parks along streams in the area, including the Marble Cliff Park, Clime Road Park, South Scioto River Park, Lower Big Walnut Park, Upper Big Walnut Park, Hoover Dam Park, Alum Creek Park and Olentangy River Park.

Included in the committee report were recommendations pertaining to recreation centers, Metropolitan Park District facilities and urban renewal projects, subjects not considered specifically in the Bartholomew report.

Several specific actions to begin development of land included in this long-range plan for large parks included designation of 30.4 acres of Columbus property at McKinley-av and Fisher-rd for park use, designation of city-owned land on the west bank of the Scioto south of Southview Park for park purposes, and development of portions of city-owned land between W. Whittier-st and the Scioto River for park use.

The committee reported a complete lack of and an obvious need for major athletic fields, providing the flat open space needed for activities requiring large amounts of land, and urged that this phase of the recreation system be given additional priority.

In accordance with the Bartholomew report, major athletic fields were proposed for development in the existing Southview and Whetstone Parks, and in new Sunbury Road Park, at Sunbury-rd and Mock-rd, and a new Berwick Park, along Alum Creek between Rt. 33 and Alum Creek-dr, north of the N.Y.C. railroad.

A fifth new athletic field area would be located in Valleyview Park, which the city has already purchased and is developing.

The committee also recommended immediate steps to begin development of a municipal golf course on city property east of Port Columbus, immediate provision for the orderly construction of swimming pools at Sunshine, Goodale, Schiller and Westgate Parks, and exploration of possible use of the Ohio State Fairgrounds facilities for recreational purposes.

Total park acreage in the Greater Columbus area now stands at 3270 acres, the committee said. The acreage represents approximately a half acre per 100 persons as compared to the nationally recognized standard of one acre per 100 persons.

WCTU MEETS

The Linwood WCTU will meet at the home of Mrs. Paul White, 1115 Oakwood-av, with Miss Jennie Harmon in charge of the program.

Allison Warned By Physician To Slow Down

Franklin County Prosecuting Attorney Earl Allison has been advised by physicians to slow down and quit attempting to accomplish the work of three men.

Allison reported that in the process of reorganizing his office at the beginning of the new year, he has been working an 18-hour day. He continued to state that although he had been tired and not feeling well, he did not have any specific illness.

Now that the office of the prosecuting attorney is running smoothly with sufficient help, Allison added, he expects to have the opportunity to rest and return to normal routine.

PERMIT GRANTED

Charles W. Hysell, 2307 Groveport Pike, was one of eight Ohioans to receive new retail beer and wine permits from the state department of liquor control.

Hysell's C-2 permit, which was applied for in December, 1958, will allow him to sell high-powered beer and wine for carry-out.

nue and Fisher-rd for park use, as well as city-owned land on the west bank of the Scioto south of Southview Park and also portions of city land between W. Whittier-st and the Scioto River.

Bartholomew recommendations for major athletic fields to serve each section of the community were underscored. Steps to get maximum use of Gowdy Park on Olentangy River-rd were also given.

The committee asked that priority be given acquisition of large flat areas for major athletic fields.

These have been at Southview and Whetstone Parks, at Sunbury Road and Mock Road, and a new Berwick Park, along Alum Creek Drive north of the N.Y.C. Railroad. A fifth would be in Valleyview Park already being developed.

The committee endorsed the main Bartholomew proposal for building neighborhood parks and playgrounds next to new school sites and urged continued cooperative efforts inside and out of the city.

The committee said immediate steps should begin on municipal golf course on city property east of Port Columbus; orderly construction should procede on swimming pools at Sunshine, Goodale, Schiller, and Westgate Parks, and Ohio State Fairgrounds facilities should be considered for recreational purposes.

After investigating needs not in the Bartholomew master plan report, the committee urged continued progress on construction of recreational centers at Krumm Park, Westgate Park, the southeast section of the city, and the Senior Citizens Recreation Center in Sunshine Park.

Noting that Columbus Metropolitan Park expansion is essential the committee recommended that land in the districts suggested acquisition program adopted in 1948 should still be considered.

Urban renewal programs, the committee said, should be used wherever possible to acquire parks and recreation sites in densely populated urban areas.

Redman revealed that all parks and recreation agencies had acquired 272.7 acres of land since the 1954 Bartholomew report, and, that 38.9 acres had been lost, the bulk of this for expressway construction. Total park acreage in the Greater Columbus area now stands at 3270.36 acres.

Despite the increase since 1954, Redman said this represents 0.50 acres for each 100 persons in the Greater Columbus area, a decrease of 0.04 acres since 1954. The nationally recognized standard is one acre per 100 persons.

Its program also promotes the coordinated capital improvements program for parks and recreation facilities, study of methods for providing sufficient funds for their early execution, study of any necessary readjustments of the administrative functions of the agencies concerned with public parks and recreation program, and cooperation with individuals and groups interested in such planning.

Members of the committee in addition to Mr. Redman are: William F. Aschinger, Jr.; William H. Brooks, Charles H. Campbell, John T. Canna, Mrs. Harold Eibling, Robert W. Greer, Rand P. Hollenback, Charles J. Kurtz, Jr., Herbert N. Lape, Jr., Mrs. Livingston Taylor, Mrs. Waldo Tyler and George H. Woodworth.

Other technical committees of the Development Committee include the Transportation Committee, Water and Sewage Committee, and Slum Clearance and Rehabilitation Committee.

HOERMLE'S SETS SALE

SALE BEGINS FRIDAY—Hoermle's Appliance at 1894 Parsons-av, will hold its 11th annual Old-Fashioned Rummage Rummage Sale this Friday and Saturday, Mar. 13 and 14. Bill Hoermle, Sr., has accumulated quite a few items in his store over the year "that will be sold at Rummage Sale prices."

Area Enthusiasts Being Nibbled By Fishing Bug

An epidemic of fishing fever is spreading through the ranks of Ohio's outdoorsmen as the weather improves, according to Division of Wildlife fishing enthusiasts. Fishing licenses are also reported to be selling fast.

Veteran anglers are said to use this early in-between period to inspect their favorite stretches of water after the long winter. Recent floods and ice action may have changed the location of holes which will harbor bass and other fish. They consider it necessary to note changes so when good fishing arrives no time is lost hunting new fish pockets.

Fishermen who want to refresh their memory on fishing techniques are encouraged to buy a copy of "Fishing's Fun For Everyone." It costs 25 cents and contains information on all the important fish species of Ohio. It is available from the Information and Education Section, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, 1500 Dublin-rd, Columbus 12.

Zoning Issue

the area would not be 'an eyesore and insisted the warehouse would be surrounded by "at least 15 feet of greenery."

Neighborhood residents, however, refuse to believe shrubbery will solve their problem.

"We're sure the new building will bring on more dirt, noise and traffic," Mrs. Lyons said. "A few trees and some green grass around a big building won't cure that."

The company proposed a 20 foot alley be built in the neighborhood to carry the traffic which Ann-st (34 feet wide) now carries.

This proposed alley was the main issue of attack by most neighbors in their argument over traffic and the endangering of children. The Lincoln Park Playground lies directly across from the proposed entrance to the new warehouse and this also is a main concern for parents in the neighborhood.

"We're not opposed to progress," Mrs. Lyons commented, "but we just want to be sure we're not squeezed out in this progress."

"Very few, if any, have had anything given to them out here. We bought homes down here because we wanted to, not because we had to. The people in these neighborhoods have worked hard for what they've got, and now they don't want to see it torn down or devaluated. That's the reason we're all fighting so hard against this rezoning."

HI-Y SELLS BROOMS

Marion Franklin Hi-Y is sponsoring a "broom sale" at Great Southern Shopping Center Saturday, Mar. 14. Members are selling the brooms after school hours Monday through Friday at the school. They are also canvassing homes, door to door. Brooms can be purchased from any member or by calling Dick Reese, HI. 4-9659.

Every Easter Seal you use on a letter or package will remind your friends that their help, like yours, is needed.

Local Company Introduces 'Orkil'

Harry C. Essick, manager of the Orkin Exterminating Co., 2289 W. Broad-st, announced the release of a new chemical for the control of termites.

"Called Orkil, it contains chlorohepton and is the deadliest known killer of termites" Essick said, "yet, it will not injure shrubbery, is non-staining, non-flammable and has no disagreeable odor. It is an Orkin exclusive and has been called the most dramatic scientific triumph in termite control in a half century."

With the formulation Orkil, the company is able to offer an inparalleled surety bonded guarantee against future termite damage, Essick said.

Ohioans United For Flood Control

Comes word from Washington to the effect that Ohio representatives in Congress are united in their thinking relative to the needs of flood control for our state.

It has been pointed out that damages estimated at $200,000,000 have resulted from floods in Ohio this year but only slightly over $95,000,000 has been spent on flood control in the state SINCE 1936.

Republican Representative Frank Bow of Canton points out that both the Miami Conservancy District at Dayton and the Muskingum Conservancy District have done a great job, and adds, "I hope we do not bypass the conservancy district program which has worked so well."

When the Lord sent word down to Noah to get out his hammer and nails and construct the Ark, Noah went about the business at hand and as a result the human race and the animal kingdom was preserved.

The January opening of the heavens and consequent downfall of waters that resulted in so much damage to this community might well be taken as a directive to get our tools and set about constructing the necessary projects to protect lives and property.

The job can't be done with words alone . . . It needs action. It is a subject that needs constant needling from the public.

BRIDGE IS REPLACED

A new bridge is being constructed over the south branch of Indian Run on the Frank L. Orr Farm, 6080 Post-rd, to replace the one washed away by flood waters on Jan. 21.

GOLDEN WEDDING—Mr. and Mrs. John Hugh Melvin, pictured above, celebrated recently with a reception and dinner at the Southern Hotel. Approximately 200 guests attended the affair.

Carpenter Street Couple Celebrates Golden Wedding

A reception in honor of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John Hugh Melvin, 589½ Carpenter-st, was held at the Southern Hotel Sunday afternoon, Feb. 22 from 2 to 6. About 200 guests called.

The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Frank S. Coe, Mrs. Robert H. Melvin, Mrs. John E. Melvin, Mrs. Marlowe D. Melvin and Mrs. Leland R. Mountjoy.

The junior hostesses were granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin, Mrs. Ralph Brush, Mrs. Ronald Brush, Mrs. Robert Reeder, Miss Marjorie Melvin and Miss Karen Melvin.

Mrs. Melvin wore a gown of beige lace, flower hat and beige accessories. Her corsage was of yellow rosebuds.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin have four children, a daughter, Mrs. Florence C. Coe of Carroll, three sons, Robert H. Melvin and John E. Melvin of Columbus, and Marlowe D. Melvin of Evansville, Ind., 18 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. All were present at the celebration.

Hugh Melvin and Edna Hocox were married in Columbus Feb. 25, 1909 by the late Dr. Isaac King.

Mr. Melvin has lived in Columbus since a child, coming here from Washington, D.C. His parents were originally from Virginia.

He is a pioneer radio man, working at the time of his marriage for the United Wireless Telegraph Company of New York City. During World War II, he was connected with Cramp Shipbuilding Company, Philadelphia.

Mrs. Melvin retired in June, 1958 after teaching 37 years in the Columbus Public Schools. She taught at Reeb at School for 10 years, later at Southwood and Indianola Elementary Schools and for 21 years at Milo Elementary School.

Mrs. Melvin was a member of the first graduating class of Livingston School. She graduated from East High School and the Columbus Normal School. She studied at Ohio State University, Capital University, and the University of Pennsylvania.

Her family were pioneer settlers of Ohio, coming overland in covered wagons from Connecticut and New York at the end of the Revolution, to settle in southeastern Ohio.

BIBLE COMMENT

Jesus Didn't Need School For Teaching

Jesus was a great Teacher, though He conducted no school in the ordinary sense of that word.

His teaching stressed a necessary quality of all true education: knowledge must become personalized.

The school of Jesus had that basic quality in plenitude.

It was mostly out of doors, a school of companionship and personal contacts, a school in which He encouraged every success in emulating His example.

It was a school, too, in which the Teacher had infinite patience as every true teacher must have.

But it was a school of strict disciplines and high standards, as well. Poor pupils, even in a good school, may be content just to pass or "get by," but Jesus had called His disciples for high purposes.

They needed training, and that training was teaching and training by example.

Jesus said first of all, "Follow me." He said, "Go," only when He had shown the way.

A good school is judged by its results and its product.

What a school, then, was that of Jesus, in which humble men became Apostles and spiritual world conquerors!

South High Coach Predicts Interesting Baseball Season

A strong combination of six returning lettermen and six promising sophomores figure to make South High's 1959 baseball squad "a very interesting club," according to Bulldog Coach Ken Fearing.

Fearing, who enters his third season as mentor at the South Side school, has a veteran infield returning, with the exception of shortstop, and an experienced catcher and outfielder.

Bob Garver, a senior southpaw who appeared in two games last season, is the only experienced hurler on the squad and is being counted on to pick up the slack left by the graduation of Chris Schiederer, last season's Bulldog ace.

Don Zauduer, first base; Dick Guver, second base, and Steve Miller, at third, form the nucleus of a sound infield, while catcher Tom Noble and lefty outfielder Willard Kirby give the team seasoned support in these positions.

The big holes in the lineup this year are shortstop and in the pitching department, according to Fearing. "Good pitching is the secret to success in high school ball," the former semi-pro firstbaseman stated, "and that's our one big concern."

Fearing named sophomores Jim Cordle, Ken Lee, Ken Schmaucher, Gene Harper, Bill Kaufmann, an Ironton transfer student Dave Farson, as good junior high material with good reputations. If two or three of these promising rookies can come through at shortstop or on the mound Fearing feels the upcoming season could prove interesting.

An Ohio State University star until his graduation in 1948, Fearing has just 24 days to whip his current Bulldog squad into shape before taking them to Grandview for their opener Apr. 3.

South, which finished last season with a 7-7 record overall and 7-5 in City League play, will play a 14-game schedule this year. Besides the 12 regularly scheduled league games the school has slated independent clashes with Eastmoor, Apr. 7, and Grandview.

Fearing expects Central's Pirates, who won the league crown last year, to be the "team to beat" again this year, with Linden McKinley and West as strong contenders.

South's last championship team was in 1952 when they shared the title with Central. In the 37-year history of the league the Bulldogs have managed to take the crown five times, with their best year in 1932 when they went all the way to win the State Championship.

Fearing, a physical education major at Ohio State, played sandlot and semi-pro ball in Ohio until two years ago when he suffered a broken ankle. Before coming to South he previously coached at Clarksburg, O., and at Starling Junior High in Columbus.

South Assembly Honors Marshall As Bulldog MVP

A recognition assembly honoring South High's 1958-59 basketball team rang down the curtain last week on another Bulldog season.

The school, which finished with a 10-12 won-lost record, honored six players who received city and team honors during the past season.

Bill Young, who received honorable mention to the All-City team, and Waldo Drake and Jim Marshall, who both were named to the All-Columbus first team, were the mainstays in the hot-and-cold Bulldog attack this season. Marshall was also named the most valuable team player.

Also honored were Doug Childers, as the most valuable substitute; Gene Harper, free throw champion, and Bill Young and Paul Barton, newly elected co-captains of the 1959-60 season.

The Mooseheart Alumni Committee of Chapter 206 Women of the Moose will sponsor a dinner Wednesday, Mar. 18, from 5 to 7 p.m. at 36 W. Sycamore-st. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

News 'n' Notes of Camp Fire Girls

Mrs. Harold Edwards, chairman of the Southeast District Camp Fire Girls, took time out from preparation of the Southeast Birthday Fair to entertain a distinguished visitor last week. Helen Giesse, 1959 Miss America, visited the Edwards home at 1389 S. Sixth-st. Mr. Edwards, in his capacity as public relations person for a food company that is one of Miss Giesse's sponsors, has worked with this year's Miss America in her Ohio appearances. She asked to meet his family while in Columbus, so this was arranged a week ago Monday. With the highlight over, Mrs. Edwards is once again back at her Camp Fire plans. The Birthday Fair will be an event of Saturday, Mar. 14, from 7:30 to 9 p.m., at the South Methodist Church, Morrill and Sixth-st. Charge of admission is 25 cents per person. There will be refreshments, games and fun, in addition to the exhibits. Groups exhibiting and the exhibits are as follows: Outdoors (conservation, Mrs. Vernell Moore; outdoors (exhibit of insects, etc.), Miss Judy Sager; citizenship, the O-Ki-Zuda girls of Mrs. Carl Weaver; creative arts, Miss Kay Ellinger; frontiers, Mrs. John Loeffler; homecraft, Mrs. Anthony; business, Mrs. Verna Rhodes; sports and games exhibits will be shared by two groups, whose leaders are Mrs. Walton Barnhart and Mrs. Charles Kessler; Blue Bird display tables will be arranged by the groups of Mrs. John Hackett and Miss Priscilla Dicke; Re-Hi-Go girls of Mrs. Michael Skobrak, and the Horizon girls of Mrs. Edward Barber will cut silhouettes of those attending the fair. The public is invited.

The To-Wan-Ka Camp Fire group, whose guardian is Mrs. Walton Barnhart, elected the officers who will serve these next three months. They are: president, Rosemary Barnhart; vice president, Lenora Pritt; secretary, Linda McConce, and treasurer, Karen Hart. The group meets at Emmanuel Lutheran Church, 80 E. Markison-av, on Thursdays after school. Eight teen girls comprise the group. Scribe for the To-Wan-Ka's is Martha Bronson.

Mar. 17 is the actual birthdate of the Camp Fire Girl organization and Camp Fire Girls celebrate the week that contains that date, on a national basis. Each district chooses the mode of celebration as it desires. Southeast District will celebrate with a birthday fair, Saturday, Mar. 14, at the South Methodist Church, Morrill-av at S. Sixth-st.

Exhibits, games and refreshments will be the feature of the fair. Displays by these groups will be on exhibit: outdoors, Mrs. Vernell Moore and Miss Judy Sager; citizenship, Mrs. Carl Weaver; creative arts, Miss Kay Ellinger; frontiers, Mrs. John Leoffler; home craft, Mrs. Anthony; business, Mrs. Verna Rhodes; sports and games, Mrs. Walton Barnhart and Mrs. Charles Kessler; bluebird displays, Mrs. John Hackett and Miss Priscilla Dicke. Ashville All-Sports Banquet Honors Bob Hoover As MVP

The annual All-Sports Banquet was held at the Ashville High School Friday night, March 6, with a good crowd in attendance. Approximately 60 athletes, cheerleaders and managers were awarded for their participation in the athletic program at Ashville.

The banquet was a carry-in type affair with parents and guests preparing many varied and tasty dishes. The Ashville PTA organized the program and contributed its help to make the banquet quite a success. The tables were decorated with orange and black trimmings lined with trophies accumulated by the school.

Lawrence Fullen was first to present awards, honoring his junior high basketball team, winners of the Pickaway County Junior High tournament. Later he presented awards to the high school track members, winners of the county track meet last spring. Next came Vince Mennetti, reserve basketball coach who awarded his reserve team.

Menetti complemented the fine play of his team and thanked the parents and friends for their contribution to make the year a successful one. Mrs. Jim Courtright then honored the members of her cheerleading corps and her girls track team that won the county track meet for the 10th straight year. Bonnie Bainter of the track team was presented with a special award for her achievements in girls track.

Russ Gregg was last in the line of awarding and proceeded to award members of his football, basketball, and baseball teams. Gregg complimented his teams for the competitive spirit and desire that they displayed during the sports season and although the football and basketball team did not win any championships, that the future was very bright for the teams due to the big percentage of returning lettermen for future varsity play. The baseball team was County Champions.

Special awards were presented to these players. Most Improved Football Player, Steve Stover; Most Improved Basketball Player, Gary Gaines; Most Valuable Player and Player Contributing Most to the Athletic Program, Bob Hoover.

Clifton Mahaffey, school principal, served as toastmaster. He concluded the program by introducing County Superintendent George McDowell and wife. McDowell remarked of the fine sportsmanship displayed by Ashville in the sports activities.

Bill Might Stop Election

The Ohio Legislature received a joint resolution this week advocating change from the present "political" system of electing Supreme Court and appeals judges to an appointive system.

The resolution introduced by Rep. A. H. Devine, Lucas County, and Rep. R. E. Zellar, Muskingum County, would insure highest quality judges for Ohio, its proponents claim.

The measure, which would require an amendment to the Ohio Constitution, follows procedures now in effect in several other states.

It is sponsored by the Ohio State Bar Association and embodies the principles contained in the American Bar Association's proposal for court reform.

Ohio's present system of electing judges has many weaknesses, according to the proponents. Some voters may have never heard of the Supreme Court and appellate judicial candidates before election day.

The Southwood PTA meeting tonight at 8 promises to be different, indeed. It will be a hobby show, with no speakers or business meeting. There won't even by any chairs in the auditorium, just hobby displays. One usual feature will be retained however . . . the refreshments.

Earlier in the day, the Southwood executive board will meet at the school to discuss the annual Spring Carnival.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jenkins, 171 Innis-av are back home again after spending the month of February in their Florida vacation spot. Oscar caught lots of fish in the lakes around Tavares, so he was quite pleased with this vacation.

Adult birthdays that are in the offing are these: Ethel Weber and I. L. Bier, Mar. 13; Herb Hampton and Isabelle Coslett, Mar. 16, and a St. Patrick's birthday for Ruth Martin.

Undergoes Surgery

Little Tony DiGoia Jr. had his activity curbed for a short while when he had to undergo surgery in Mercy Hospital. Tony is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony DiGoia Sr., of 3216 Parsons-av.

Since there is a dearth of daily news, many former South Side neighbors of Mildred Cochran Bareither may not know that she passed away last week in Cincinnati. She had lived on Southwood-av for years, prior to her moving to the Queen City. Mildred's sister, Alice Colegrove of 1453 Champion-av, is still convalescing from her recent operation.

Belated birthday greetings to Mary Beth Whitacre, the South High senior, daughter of Lou and "Dottie" Whitacre, and to Ray Barnhart, 185 Frebis-av, father of Walton Barnhart.

Chapter Night

The Moosehaven Committee of Chapter 206 Women of the Moose will have its Chapter Night program on Thursday, Mar. 12, at 8 p.m. at 36 W. Sycamore-st. The Moosehaven chairman will be in charge of the entertainment and Senior Regent Mildred Pierce will preside over initiations.

On Wednesday, Mar. 18, the Mooseheart Alumni Committee of Chapter 206 will serve a roast pork dinner from 5 to 7 p.m. Chairman Helen Touvelle will serve sweet potatoes, beets, cake and coffee with the roast pork. Charge for adults is $1, and 50 cents for children.

The month of March is birthday month for half of the Dick Chambers family, 121 E. Whittier-st. Papa Dick and Barrett student Lynn are the two celebrants.

Wedding bells will soon be ringing for Mary Ann Tennant, 954 Marion-rd, and Wayne Foster, 309 Siebert-st. Their wedding will take place Mar. 15 at Washington-av EUB Church.

Happy Birthdays

Another candle on the birthday cake will soon be added for these young South Siders . . . Robert Elflein, 139 Moler, Mar. 18; Daniel Blakeman, 395 Welch, Mar. 17; Christina Jackson, 1403 Bruck-st, Mar. 16; Robert Cain, 98 Innis-av, Mar. 15; Mark Melrose, 314 E. Morrill, Mar. 12; Christine Maynard, 387 E. Markison, Mar. 16; Walter Reed, 368 Sheldon, Mar. 13; Carol Fitzpatrick, 149 E. Woodrow, Mar. 14; Michael Workman, 1284 S. 4th-st, Mar. 18; James Doran, 336 Moler-st, Mar. 17; Roger Crites, Mar. 18; Linda Kristoff, 59 Innis, Mar. 13; Rebecca Brown, 215 E. Markison, Mar. 17; Claudia Dover, 56 Jenkins, Mar. 12; Kathryn Heinlein, 1444 S. 3rd-st, Mar. 15; John Iams, 1632 S. 3rd-st, Mar. 18; Gary Ruh, 1227 S. High-st, Mar. 14 and Steve Miller, 494 Hanford-st, Mar. 13.

The South High Alumni Class of 1934 will meet tonight, room 107 of the school, at 7:30 p.m. Chairman Richard Metcalf invites his classmates of twenty-five years ago to attend this planning session, both the January and June alumni.

A call from a telephone friend in Lincoln Park Project revealed several ailing folks in that area who would be cheered by a card. Get-well wishes go to Mrs. Wilma Taylor, 690 Welch, Apt. M, who was in University Hospital at the time we wrote this; Mrs. Ross, 673 Welch, Apt. B; Mrs. Samuel Tucker, 673 Welch, Apt. M; Mrs. Annabelle Steinhour, 683 Welch, Apt. M. Three members of Courage, Inc. have also been on the ailing list. These ladies are Mrs. Ada Kraft, 695 Markison, Apt. A; Mrs. Pearl Horton, 695 Markison, Apt. N and Mrs. Caddie Reames, 683 Welch, Apt. A.

To the family of Odetha Battles go expressions of sympathy. Mrs. Battles had been a resident of Lincoln Park.

The Florida sunshine was beneficial to Dorothy Jolly, 1730 S. High-st. The active member of Chapter 206, Women of the Moose, looks rested after a nice vacation visit with her sister in the southern state.

A call to publicity chairman, Mrs. Erdoes, informed us of the complete menu of the fish dinner at St. Ladislas Church, Friday, Mar. 13 from 5 to 8 p.m. One may eat at the dining hall, or partake of the carryout service that is available. The complete menu is fried fish, scalloped potatoes, buttered lima beans, perfection salad, apple pie and coffee. Servings are generous too, we'll add.

COLUMBUS 15, OHIO

H. V. POTTS
VICE PRESIDENT

March 9, 1959

To The Public:

During every strike both of the interested parties seek to convince the public that their respective positions are unassailable and just. In doing so, statements are often made which are in direct conflict and the public often shrugs them off and simply assumes that they are not directly involved and need only await the time when the parties grow weary of the conflict and resume normal relations again.

However, this electric strike is a strike which directly affects every individual in Columbus and all other territory in Ohio which this company serves with a vital and absolutely necessary commodity — i.e. electric energy.

The Management of this company is so aware of its obligations to the public and to its employees that it is the one overriding, controlling motive underlying every decision they make every day. Accordingly, to be accused of demanding that our employees work for unfair wages to the extent of forcing them to strike, requires of this Management a full complete and completely truthful statement of the wage situation as it exists and as it existed when the union represented employees walked away from their jobs and forced upon other employees the burden of assuming their duties.

The union pleads, as an excuse for their conduct, that the company is forcing Linemen to perform dangerous jobs for inadequate pay. In response to this wholly unfounded charge we believe you, the public, are entitled to know the following irrefutable facts.

The Lineman "A" rate is the so called "pilot" rate upon which all electrical companies negotiate throughout the entire industry in this Country. This is true because wage negotiations are primarily based upon comparisons. These comparisons are made with other electrical companies as well as other industries. As a consequence "Line rates" are the most closely examined rates in our industry and the most discussed rates of any rates in any industry.

This company has been negotiating wage rates with two local members of an international union every years since 1945 and 1946 respectively. The international union, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, is the oldest union of its kind in this Country.

We are now going to demonstrate the attention these Line Department rates have received since the above dates. There are seven major electrical companies in Ohio and the Lineman "A" rates per hour of each such company for each year since 1945 are public records and are as follows:

	Columbus	Company A	Company B	Company C	Company D	Company E	Company F
1945	$1.35	—	1.40	1.50	1.375	1.32	1.36
1946	1.42	—	1.505	1.575	1.375	1.35	1.50
1947	1.52	—	1.605	1.76	1.60	1.60	1.66
1948	1.66	—	1.705	1.815	1.72	1.72	1.77
1949	1.76	—	1.86	1.85	1.80	1.79	1.83
1950	1.81	—	1.945	1.93	1.92	1.92	1.92
1951	1.91	—	2.11	2.035	2.04	2.02	2.05
1952	2.00	2.09	2.265	2.085	2.17	2.16	2.17
1953	2.20	2.29	2.345	2.33	2.29	2.26	2.30
1954	2.33	2.37	2.415	2.41	2.365	2.33	2.39
1955	2.44	2.45	2.495	2.53	2.445	2.46	2.47
1956	2.56	2.56	2.62	2.66	2.61	2.60	2.61
1957	2.71	2.71	2.75	2.79	2.745	2.74	2.76
1958	2.90	2.85	2.87	2.90	2.885	2.90	2.90

The union claims it wants re-evaluation or inequity adjustments for the Overhead Line Department because many other classifications have been re-evaluated or adjusted in recent years. It is true that many other classifications have been adjusted but in making those adjustments the main factor for such adjustments was a comparison with similar classifications with our neighboring companies. For example, our Meter Tester "A" rate was once lower than some of our neighbor electrical companies but, by re-evaluation, this rate was adjusted upward to compare favorably with their rates. And similarly many other rates were likewise compared and adjusted from time to time.

The above comparisons are constantly kept in mind, particularly in regard to our Line Department, because the Lineman "A" rate is now and has been for many years, the "pilot" rate for bargaining.

On February 27, 1959, the union was offered a 3.5% increase applicable to all classifications. This would produce a Lineman "A" rate of $3.00 per hour for the employees of our company which is 10c an hour higher than any other Lineman "A" rate in Ohio. This offer the union flatly rejected.

Yours very truly,

H. V. Potts

Hello!

With St. Patrick's Day nearly here, we know it's only a few days until the first of Spring . . . with Spring a young man's fancy — girl courted — ring given — lovely wedding dress chosen — then thoughts are given to flowers . . . they must compliment the beauty of the dress and wearer — the church must be decorated with dignity and simplicity — the flowers must be fresh and beautifully arranged. We give great care and thought to every detail of the wedding flowers. Call us for an appointment without obligation.

Congratulations to Mr. & Mrs. James Waidelich on their anniversary, to Mr. & Mrs. Hans Hoeck on their 40th, and to Mr. & Mrs. William F. Johnson on their 52nd wedding anniversary . . . congratulations to Mr. & Mrs. Gerald Woods who have a new baby daughter . . . get well wishes to Mrs. William Gilbert, Melba Kessler, Mrs. Harry Weber, Orville Kuhn, Frances Barlow, Nellie Koehler, Barbara Toth, Charles Bigelow, Irene Hoff, Grace Fleck and Mrs. Mary Pack . . . birthday greetings to Mrs. Cora Steinmetz, Mrs. Walter Peters, Mrs. Bill Paulus and Mrs. Phyllis Snyder.

The formulation of Orkil and our unequaled surety bonded guarantee are in my opinion the greatest advances we have made in more than a half century of service to homeowners and industry.

Otto Orkin

Founder and President

A dramatic Scientific Triumph in Termite Control

BACKED BY AN UNMATCHED TERMITE GUARANTEE

We have just completed two momentous advances for the control of termites.

1. The formulation of Orkil—the most effective termiticide available.
2. The world's strongest surety bonded guarantee against future termite damage.

Orkil, containing chlorchepton (patent pending), is the deadliest known killer of termites. Yet, it will not injure shrubbery, is non-staining, non-flammable, and has no disagreeable odor. Orkil kills termites on contact and sets up a durable poisonous barrier that termites cannot penetrate. With the formulation of Orkil, an Orkin exclusive, the Orkin Exterminating Company is able to offer an unparalleled surety bonded guarantee against future termite damage.

ORKIL

A Chemical Breakthrough In Termite Control!

Orkil is a new revolutionary formulation.

IT IS AN ORKIN EXCLUSIVE

You can't buy it anywhere... But, it's included without extra charge when Orkin protects your property from termites.

Orkin's guarantee is backed by one of the world's largest bonding and insurance companies with assets in excess of $55 million dollars. Unique features of this guarantee are: (1) annual termite reinspections; (2) additional treatment of soil and structure if necessary at no additional cost; (3) repairs on future termite damage up to $5,000; and (4) comprehensive liability insurance in the amount of one million dollars.

FREE INSPECTION

Without any cost or obligation a complete termite inspection can be made of your property. Termites do millions of dollars damage in this country each year. Do not wait until termites appear—call 'Otto' the Orkin Man for a free termite inspection today.

Before you sign any agreement for termite control be sure and read the details of Orkin's full protection. If anyone else claims comparable surety-bonded coverage, have your insurance agent review the bond to determine your rights as a beneficiary.

The club sponsoring the woman who becomes "Mrs. Ohio" will win a $100 savings bond, and if its representative wins the "Mrs. America" title, the club will receive an additional $100 bond. Collins said.

Deadline for entries in the contest is March 31 Application blanks can be obtained at the gas company office, 109 N. Front-st All married women are eligible to enter.

The district contest winner will receive an automatic RCA-Whirlpool Estate gas range worth $500 and will compete for the "Mrs. Ohio" title May 6 and 7. Runner-up in the district contest will win an outdoor gas light for the yard or patio of her home, with free installation by Ohio Fuel

Food Markets This Week by Mrs Estelle B. Franks

Meats and Poultry — Pork loins, fresh picnics, bacon, round steak, fryers, large turkeys, large eggs.

Fresh Produce — Oranges, grapefruit, apples, potatoes, carrots, endive, celery, escarole.

MARKET TIPS

If your food budget needs a bit of bolstering, you'll do well to schedule pork on your menus this week.

Wholesale prices on pork are hitting a two-year low, and lower retail prices are evident in many stores. Loin roasts and picnics are good values and so is bacon. Processors are holding hams for Easter.

Beef is in the spotlight on some counters, specials on chuck roasts and steaks. Whole beef ribs to be cut into steaks and roasts are also specially priced in some stores.

Lamb prices are lower than for several years, so now is a good time to enjoy this meat. Remember to serve lamb either hot or cold, not warm.

Poultry, Eggs and Cheese—Several markets are offering frying chickens and fryer parts at near cost prices this week. Large turkeys are also among the good protein food buys.

Eggs and still more eggs—the large supply continues and the large grade A's are an excellent buy.

Several varieties of cheese are being displayed at special prices this week as an aid to meatless menus.

Fruits and Vegetables — Citrus fruits and apples are still the most attractive fresh fruit buys. Quality of the grapefruit and oranges is excellent. Red Delicious, Winesap and some Romes are the apple varieties available. You can expect higher quality bananas at lower prices. The supply of fresh pineapple has increased and prices are more reasonable.

Frozen orange juice concentrate prices have dropped several cents during the past few weeks, and prices may have reached their low point for the year.

There are some minor changes in fresh vegetable prices this week. Dry onions, tomatoes, and head lettuce will wear slightly higher price tags. The effects of the recent rainy weather in Florida are easing off. Prices on green beans and corn are expected to drop and quality should improve. You'll find potatoes, carrots, celery, radishes, spinach and escarole among your better fresh vegetable values.

TOMORROW'S MENU

GREAT SOUTHERN BUSINESS

Grant Manager Receives Store Management Award

Anthony J. Castelli likes to "fiddle around." That is, this new Grant manager in the Great Southern Shopping Center takes his fiddling seriously, being a bass fiddler from way back. He also has a hobby of photography. Originally from Pittsburgh, Castelli came to Columbus in February. He likes the level country of Columbus. "It's not like Pittsburgh with all those hills," he said.

The move from Pittsburgh to Columbus was a promotion for Castelli who just returned from a conference at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., where he received an Achievement Award for store management last year.

Castelli described the Great Southern Center as "one of the nicest centers I've seen" and his new store as "beautiful." His future plans include the shipment of "the nicest hydrangeas I've ever seen" from Steubenville, for sale during the Easter season. These and other plants will arrive at the store Mar. 6.

He pointed up one of the "Convenient" services offered by his store in the credit coupon plan where customers can buy a book of coupons to use as cash and make monthly payments on them.

Anthony J. Castelli

Castelli and his wife reside in Reynoldsburg at 915 Pleasant-dr. They have three children, Anthony Vincent, 6; David Kevin 4, and Martha Jane 2.

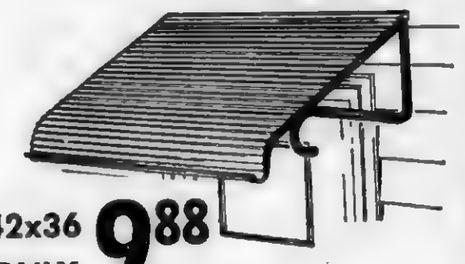
Hilltop Conservationists Sponsor Sunday Shoot

The Hilltop Conservation Club will hold a merchandise shoot Sunday, Mar. 15, at the club grounds located at the north end of Biggert-rd approximately two miles west of Darbydale on State Route 665. Shooting starts at 1 p.m.

Shooters have their choice of trap or card. Trap shooters will be handicapped one yard for each event won to a maximum of four yards.

A drawing for free entry fee will be held hourly. Shells will be available. Hot coffee will be served free.

Proceeds from the shoot will be used for conservation work by the club.



A budget is an accounting procedure that lets you know exactly how much you're over-spending your income.

Tiger Hunting Thrills Felt By Local Big Game Hunter

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors

By ROD COCHRAN

ONE TO REMEMBER—Robert R. Richards, local big game hunter with his trophy of a lifetime, a 700-pound tiger bagged last fall in east central India.

"The day your trophy arrives from the taxidermist is almost as exciting as the hunt," says Robert R. Richards, 8625 W. Broad-st, one of Franklin County's roving big game hunters.

We were standing in Richards' living room admiring an immense tiger skin—a trophy that he bagged last November in India. With enough big game hunting adventures under his belt to write a book, Richards said modestly, "This is my prize."

This latest hunt started for Bob almost a year ago when he wrote Indian officials asking for names of shikar agents (a hunting expedition is called a shikar in India and not a safari as in Africa). They supplied him with several names and addresses and after further correspondence he made his arrangements with the Allywn Cooper agency.

Months of planning went on before Bob found himself in a machan (a small platform built in a tree) watching a huge tiger materialize almost by magic from the Indian jungle. Richards even had to rent the Indian land on which he would hunt. He rented three blocks, each block containing about 35 square miles.

Bob met his shikar agent in Napur and there met his guide, called the shikard gentlemen. Then he boarded a train for Raipur, and from there went about 70 miles north to the hunting area. He stayed in a government hunting lodge. The hunt was, of course, ready to start. There were nine others in the party, guide, trackers, skinners, cook, etc.—all of them Indians. The hunt was to last for ten days.

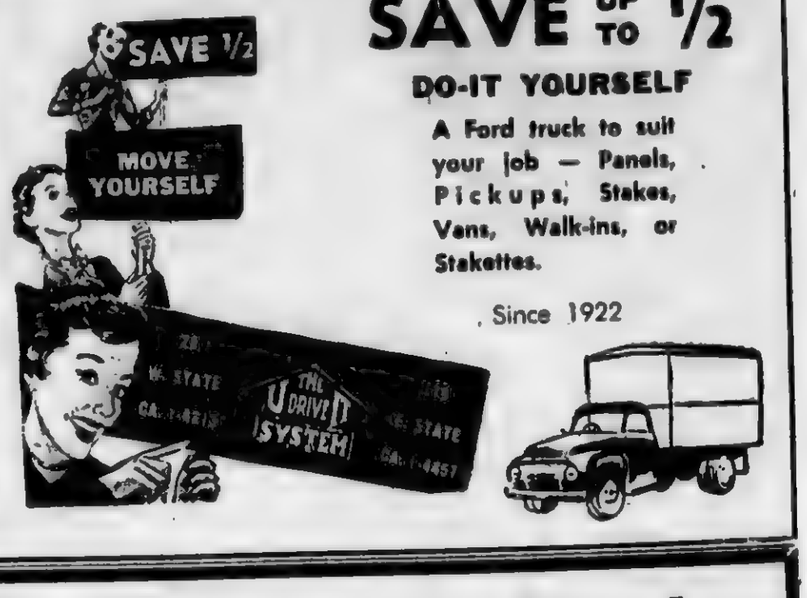
Three methods of hunting were employed. The guide had purchased 20 bull calves from the natives, and these were staked out through the hunting area. The tactics in this type of hunting are to wait until one of the calves is killed by a tiger and then wait in a machan at the kill and hope the tiger returns.

On the fourth night there was a kill reported by the natives, so the next afternoon Bob and his guide climbed into a machan and started the long wait. The night closed in and the night noises started. Bob said, "You don't go to sleep at night in the jungle. You get cramped and cold but it is much too exciting to go to sleep."

Fourteen hours of waiting passed, and no tiger. The same procedure was followed the next and still no tiger. So this type of hunting was abandoned. They later learned from the natives that the tiger returned to his kill at high noon, a very unusual time, on the second day.

Before the bull calf was killed, they had been spending the nights on a different type of hunt. The party would prowl the back jungle trails in an open jeep with a spotlight. It is legal to hunt meat-eaters this way in India, but no hooved animals jacklighted. This type of hunt is also a little risky. You might come around a bend in the trail and be face to face with a tiger—if the first shot doesn't drop him it's every man for himself.

A leopard was seen but disappeared too rapidly for a shot. Richards could have shot at a couple of wildcats, but did not want to shoot for fear of scaring a tiger should it be in the area. Finally, he did shoot five wild dogs out of a pack—predators that the Indians appreciate having killed. The dogs are about twice the size of a fox and colored something like a red fox with a bushy dark brown tail.



Time was running out, so the guide organized a blind beat. This means that about 200 natives form a large horseshoe-shaped line and beat on pans and sticks and move slowly through the jungle. The object is to drive any tigers in the area by the hunter, and hope that he will see the game in the dense jungle. These beats were very interesting Richards said, for he would hear something in the brush and maybe a deer or peacock or some other game would emerge. But still he saw no tigers.

On the last day of the hunt, Thanksgiving Day, they were returning from a jeep excursion at daylight and one of the trackers in the backseat saw that something heavy had been dragged across the road. They backtracked the trail into the jungle and found a large pool of fresh blood. It meant that a tiger had made a very recent kill, had dragged the animal into an area of thick brush to eat it at his leisure. So a beat was immediately organized. This was not a blind beat—they knew a tiger was near.

So, a little after noon Bob was in a machan looking down a tiny creed bed that provided a little opening in the tropical forest. Game started to move. Peacocks flew by. A sambhar (an antelope) made its escape. "Then I saw a little patch of yellow in the dark green forest. It disappeared. Then a head as large as a bushel basket emerged, without a sound, from the undergrowth. I was shooting a 375 Magnum with a scope sight. The shot was a good one—hitting him in the spine just over the shoulders. The tiger was an exceptionally large male, and dropped in his tracks."

Soon, the 200 beaters were on the scene and surrounded Bob for a celebration. Indians greatly fear tigers, as they have no way of killing them, and anyone who kills one is a hero. Native women appeared and presented Bob gifts of coconuts. Some carried burning candles. They smeared some kind of paste on Bob's forehead and on the forehead of the tiger. After the celebration the trophy was skinner. The tiger was in his prime—an exceptional trophy. He was ten feet long, and was estimated to have weighed 700 pounds.

So, Robert Richards spent last Thanksgiving halfway around the world. He was thankful that he had seen a tiger and had bagged a trophy of a lifetime.

When living moves outdoors, indoor conveniences can go along. Decor for a sheltered terrace includes not only attractive furniture in metal and plastic webbing but also the advantages of time and a telephone. An electric clock, with naval swinging pendulum, and a portable phone operate from an outlet and a jack installed on protected parts of the wall.

Grapefruit Baskets Are Hit

Gay as the first flowers of spring are these Florida grapefruit baskets, perfect for the first course of an Easter brunch or dinner.

Easy to fashion, too. Simply halve the plump juicy grapefruit, cut around each section loosening fruit from the membrane. Do not cut around entire outer edge. Then place toothpicks at each side, and cut just through the peel, about one quarter of an inch from the top of the half, to the toothpicks, leaving the peel attached at each side of the fruit. Lift and tie handles, and trim with a flower, a place card, or a bright bow.

Florida grapefruit are specials in all local markets this month, and you'll find both pink and white-meated fruit, as well as seedless and seeded varieties. They not only look as pretty as spring flowers—they're as good for you as any spring tonic. Grapefruit, low in calories, is one of the best natural sources of vitamin C which is so important to good health and looks.

Sheath Styles Lead For Maternity Garb

High-waisted sheath styling predominates in maternity fashion this spring, giving fabric interest and color first importance. Textured fabrics appear by day, while chiffon and printed silks and wool challis are liked for dressier outfits.

Checks and solids are often combined, sometimes in such off-beat combinations as orange and lavender. Other interesting color combinations, appearing in prints and plaids, include orange and turquoise and burgundy, black and navy. Neutral basics may be alternated with brilliant reds, hot pinks, willow greens, coral and gold.

High waistlines appear in the form of drawstring ties, front or central panel ties and bands, bolero effects and fringed ties or bows. Mix and match separates, tunic tops and blouson silhouettes are all popular.

Among other favored styles are one-piece triangular shirt dresses, high waisted side-wraps and bodices softly gathered or smocked above the bustline.

Sportswear For Spring Is Colorful

As bracing as a Spring tonic is the 1959 range of masculine sportswear. In addition to colorful good looks, these garments for fun and leisure also boast new construction features for greater comfort and ease. And greater use of "science" fibers in the fabrics makes for easier care, says the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear.

A quick run-down of what's new for an in tune with 1959 starts with sports jackets, fashioned in lighter-than-ever wool fabrics, wash - wear cottons, man-made fabrics, or blends of any or all of these. All are designed for that basic consideration: to keep cool in the hottest weather, and to look smart and crisp at all times.

As for the good looks, the jackets range all the way from the traditional blazers in solid colors, to bold checks and king-sized plaids. The muted tones of India madras are also in favor.

Fans of wool will find lightweight hopsacking weaves attractive, while other men will prefer the sleekness and sophistication of silk coats. Flannel blazers never go out of style, and this year will be found in solid colors, stripes and again solids with contrasting piping.

The same variety and appeal are to be found in the range of sports slacks, with Ivy models heading the list for many. Some of these feature back flap pockets. English-inspired self-supporting beltless slacks and the new - as - tomorrow "Continentals" which are distinguished by their single-pleat cut, slim lines, polo pockets and side tabs, among other features.

The growing demand for wash-wear, featherlight flannel slacks this year, ready to wear after laundering and drip-drying. Other models include slacks with that now-familiar iridescent sheen effect and a great variety of patterned types that go with solid colored blazers.

It's a safe prediction that more men will turn out in walking shorts this year than ever with Bermuda lengths or slightly longer versions getting the preference.

Sweaters continue to enjoy their great revival, with cardigans among the standouts. These feature button-up fronts among other styles, and are woven in lightweight wools, "science" yarns and cottons—or blends. Crew-necked bulky knits are showing in great profusion this Spring, along with V-neck styles, all in a range of colors and patterns that are open invitation to the leisure life.

High Marks Being Given Spring Coats

The newest looking coats this spring are marked by high lines, bright colors and versatile "personalities" that adapt easily to suburban, urban and travel situations.

This three-way wearability is achieved through fabrics that can assume several roles. These include vivid nubby and fluffy-surfaced woolens with interesting textures, mohairs, mesh effects and bopsackings, substantial double-knit jerseys in wool or cotton.

Colors are brilliant. There are golden yellows, flower tones of blue, vibrant pinks to ruby reds, melon shades, leaf and sea greens, lilac tones, bleached and unbleached whites. Navy, black, beige and rose-beige offer popular choices among neutrals.

A hand-woven look is stressed in plaids and a great variety of checks, from small worsted patterns to giant windowpanes. They appear in bright or beige with white and in two-color and raised patterns.

For the high-waisted line, the waist may be lifted by belts, sashes, drawstrings or multiple seaming. Gathers, high pockets, flaps, tucks and banding are also used.

A return to demi-fitted and fitted silhouettes is seen in coats with either rounded full skirts or sheath skirts. The waistline is revealed by belts crushed softly at front, by short bodices worked closer to the figure and by all-around belts.

Gentle width across the top is expressed in huge collars, soft shoulders, deep armholes. Necklines are open, with or without collars, some with easy tie effects. The collarless necklines are often accompanied by fringed, detachable scarves.

Try Cookies-In-A-Basket For Enaging Easter Fare

Engaging little baskets of cookies in the shapes of bunnies, chicks and Easter eggs are sure to enchant the children on Easter. Grownups enjoy these cookies, too, when you serve them with coffee, with ice cream or fruit desserts this Easter season.

Use your favorite rolled cookie dough, shaped into chicks, bunnies, and Easter eggs. The Chocolate Dip frosting is made quickly with a package of semi-sweet chocolate morsels that melt faster because they are already in little pieces. Their candy-like flavor makes it unnecessary to make an elaborate frosting.

Easter Cookies

Prepare rolled cookies according to your favorite recipe. Roll out ⅛ inch thick on lightly floured board or pastry cloth. Cut out dough with chicken, bunny and oval cutters. For small eggs, use a 2 inch round cutter; bend to make an ovel shape. For large eggs, remove both ends from a No. 2 can; bend to make an oval shape. Before baking, sprinkle chickens with yellow tinted sugar; use silver candies for eyes. Bake according to recipe directions. Dip bunny and egg shaped cookies into "Chocolate Dip to frost them; use silver candies for eyes of bunnies. Place on waxed paper to harden. With cake decorator, decorate egg shaped cookies with Ornamental Frosting in frilly lines across "egg" or around edge, or inscribe with names, as shown in photograph, or make own designs.

Yield: 4 dozen medium size cookies.

Chocolate Dip

1 6 oz. package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
1 tablespoon shortening
½ cup evaporated milk
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar

Melt semi-sweet chocolate morsels and shortening over hot, not boiling, water. Remove from heat; mix in evaporated milk and confectioners' sugar. Beat until smooth. Place in deep cup or bowl; keep over warm water and stir occasionally while dipping.

HAT STYLES FLATTER

Former South Sider Organizes Mothers Of Twins Club Here

An East Side housewife's idea for the organization of a club in Columbus strictly for mothers of twins has grown into a club boasting a roster of nearly 70 active members, some of whom come from as far away as Newark.

Mrs. William McLoughlin, of 1959 Olney-dr, through the aid of radio and newspaper publicity, founded the Mothers of Twins Club August 1958 with 30 members. The organization has grown since to a membership of 64 active mothers and boasts a high attendance of 90 at one of its meetings.

The purpose of the club primarily is to make raising twin children easier and less expensive for the parents. This is done through semi-annual clothing and furniture exchanges.

At these exchanges, mothers donate clothing and furniture their twins no longer use and purchase items for older twins at very reduced rates. In this way, articles for twins of various ages continue to circulate among the members and save the parents the cost of new items which have temporary usefulness. Proceeds from the exchanges are used by the club for its social functions.

The club works as a service to bring together mothers who have a common interest so they may share their joys and trials as a group and work to solve them.

The McLoughlins, who are members of St. Leo's Church and until recently were residents of the South Side, formerly lived in Indianapolis, Ind. Mrs. McLoughlin was a member of a similar twins club there and brought the idea to Columbus when the family moved here in 1956.

Mrs. McLoughlin is the mother of five-year-old twin girls, Margaret Ellen and Marilyn Sue. The McLoughlins also have four other children, Kathleen, JoAnn, Billy and Mike.

As president of the Mothers of Twins Club, Mrs. McLoughlin reports that the club has thus far held a Christmas party and a clothing and furniture exchange outside of regular meetings. Another exchange is planned for April and a family picnic is set for June 14. The club meets the second Wednesday of each month.

The officers include: Mrs. McLoughlin, president; Mrs. Ralph Benedetti, vice-president; Mrs. Sam Powell, sec'y; Mrs. Patrick Wynne, treasurer; and Mrs. Charlotte Dieterly, who is in charge of contacting all new mothers of twins

Mrs. Benedetti, who is the mother of nine children, has a set of twins and one set of triplets, which is quite rare. Her family background shows that her grandmother had three sets of twins out of 18 children but no triplets are recorded on either side of the family tree.

Another outstanding member is Mrs. Clyde W. Marcum, of 2800 Holt-rd, Grove City, who has had two sets of twins in 25 months. Her doctor has informed her that she can expect only multiple births in future. Her family tree shows 18 sets of twins in four generation, however, Mrs. Marcum has the first set of twin girls recorded in the family.

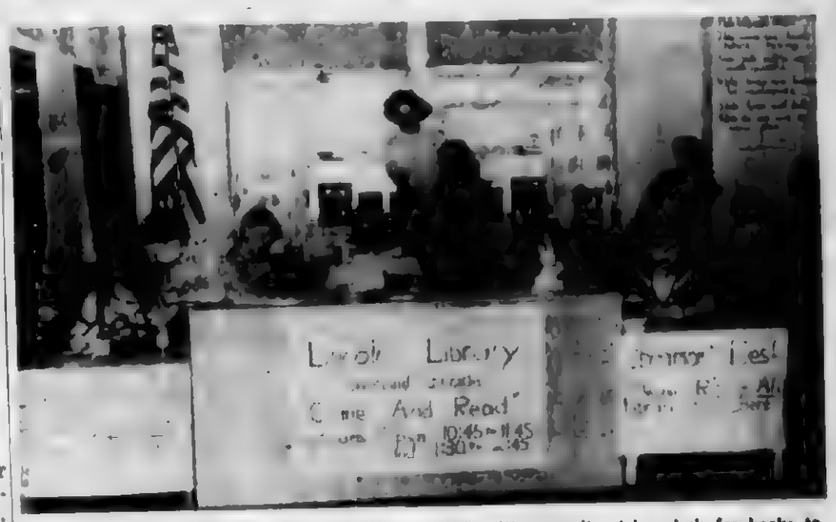
No Decision In Federal Glass Zoning Issue

Verdict Promised Monday After Misunderstanding

City Council has promised "a decision—one way or the other" next Monday night in the controversial Federal Glass Co. rezoning request after another hour-long, no-decision word battle in Council chambers Monday night.

South Siders opposing the expansion of company facilities by construction of a warehouse adjacent to the existing plant backed their verbal opposition with petitions which they said carried names of 125 persons representing 79 homes in the area involved. This includes residents of Wager-st, Innis-av, Ann-st, Olp-av and Woodrow-av.

The company, meanwhile, attempted to clarify its expansion proposal with sketches and diagrams and through its attorney, Harrison Smith, Jr., promised that it does "not seek to and is not going to create an eyesore."



Mrs. Leo Lyons, 452 E. Innis-av, again was principal spokesman for the opposition, as in the March 2 hearing which resulted in a two-week postponement. Mrs. Lyons asserted the residents of the area "are not against progress' but are opposing the rezoning request on the grounds it would decrease property valuations, create possible increased insurance rates through greater hazard and, most important, cause traffic problems—especially in regard to the use of adjacent Lincoln Park by children in the area.

It was the traffic issue that eventually led Council President W. Ralston Westlake, acting chairman of the zoning committee, to recommend another week's delay in the decision.

"I hate to postpone this again," said Westlake. "It's embarrassing . . . I asked our traffic engineers to study this proposal. But there was a mix-up and I discover that they are seeing it tonight for the first time."

Westlake's proposal for another delay prompted a comment by Mrs. Lyons that "We're not able to afford expensive spokesmen . . . it's difficult for working people to take time to come down here again and again

Lincoln Park Second Graders Set Up, Operate Own Library

Second graders at Lincoln Park School are getting a taste of what it is to operate and use a library. Their teacher, Mrs. Mary Allen, initiated the library, which now totals approximately 150 books, two weeks ago. She got the idea from the privilege teachers have of borrowing up to 30 books from public libraries for periods of six weeks. Their collection includes books from the Grandview and Columbus public libraries. It has the entire Winston Series of Readers from preprimers up through third grade, picture dictionaries, and a special science section.

The two librarians, both second graders, are Kathy Burgess and Helen Wears. They have made jackets and card slots for each of the books. Books can be kept out for three days and then one cent a day per book is levied against persons violating this deadline. Clarice Kitchen, treasurer, has collected 42 cents to date from overdue books. A party is planned at the end of the school year from all overdue fines.

Mrs. Allen says the purpose of the library "is to make children want to read and acquaint them with how a library is really operated. It also helps to make them more responsible.

She says that the children are "very enthusiastic" about their new library . . . the only one in the school.

"One child brought curtains to hang in the library, another brought a puppet show to display and several have made paintings," she said.

The second-grade library is operated very much like an adult version. Kathy has made out warning notices to send overdue users. Too, this library as all libraries should be neat and tidy, and that chore is in charge of second grader, David Gloecher.

City Plans New Slum Action On South Side

Some 526 South Side families in the Children's Hospital area may be moved from their homes after late 1960 as a result of Columbus' fourth slum clearance program.

Columbus Mayor Sensenbrenner and the City Slum Clearance Commission declared their intention of proceeding with razing the 57-acre site and recreating it into a medical and light manufacturing "park."

The area to be razed is bounded by Livingston-av on the south; by Zettler Alley (the first alley east of Fourth-st) on the west, by the new innerbelt freeway on the north, and by Monroe-av on the east.

City Council will be asked within the next two weeks to approve an application for federal assisance in the $4.2- million project, Slum Clearance Director Sinclair Powell said.

After resale of the cleared land to private developers for an estimated million to $1.5 million, Powell said, the net cost will be about 3-million, and the city's share about one-third of that.

The portion east of Parsons-av is now intended to be used for medical facilities in conjunction with Children's Hospital.

West of Parsons-av the land will be used for light industry with the plants scattered over a landscaped, parklike area.

Powell said the federal government can approve only the application for planning and surveys now. Any federal aid beyond that, he added, is dependent on the city's adoption of the highly controversial proposed housing code.

The federal government insists on the code to insure that new slums will not be created as fast as old ones are eliminated, Powell added.

South Side's Lily Parade Highlights Easter Seal Drive

The lily parade in the South Side will be held Saturday, Mar. 21, when Brace women, high school girls and sorority women will bedeck the street corners and shopping centers of our community with paper Easter lilies. These loyal salesmen, with Easter baskets on their arms, will be seeking donations for the Easter Seal campaign in exchange for a lily for your lapel.

The lily parade, the 19th traditional highlight of the Easter Seal drive, is sponsored by the women of the Braces, auxiliaries of the Society for Crippled Children. All money received from the parade will go to supplement Easter Seal receipts. While the 150 Brace women of the county have no set goal, they hope to raise several hundred dollars in behalf of the crippled children in our community. Mrs. Charles W. Warner, Jr., 166 S. Ashburton-rd, and Mrs. Everett Dillin, 2100 Genessee-av, are co-chairmen of the parade.

Mrs. C. G. Brockmeyer, 886 Oakwood-av, president of Brace No. 7, will have the area at the Big Bear store and other locations on Parsons-av. She will be assisted by members of her Brace and high school girls.

For the second time, members of Epsilon Sigma Alpha, Alpha Omega chapter, an international sorority, will take on the Great Southern Shopping Center area. Mrs. Jack Willyard, 2435 Medary-av, is in charge of the project. Helping her will be Mrs. John Bowman, 386 S. Weyant-av; Miss Evelyn Bruce, 1811 King-av; Mrs. William Entsminzer, 195 Lechner-av; Mrs. Donald Fitzsimmons, 782 S. 22nd-av; Miss Paula Howard, 1479 W. Lane-av; Mrs. Phillip Jones, 634 Lazelle-st; Miss Sue Macino, 2737 Azelda-av; Miss Lois Montgomery, 829 Frances-av; Miss Marguerite Richards, 586 Woodbury-av, and Mrs. David West, 2678 Bethel-rd.

Because Friday, Mar. 20, is National Crippled Children's Day, lily sales in the shopping centers will be held that evening from 4 o'clock on.

Giant Health Fair Presents 'Juno,' The Perfect Woman

Final plans for a giant health fair have been made for a meeting of the Columbus Academy of Medicine to be held Mar. 25-29 at Veterans' Memorial.

Dr. Earl Baxter, chairman of the health fair's board of trustees, reported that Juno, a life-sized transparent model of the "perfect" woman will be available for the fair.

One of 10 such exhibits in the world, Juno is being brought here from the Dominican Republic. Made of lighted plastic, the $25,000 exhibit depicts the inner parts of the human body. Juno speaks by means of a tape-recorded commentary.

Cost of getting Juno here by air freight will be around $1500. According to Mrs. George O. Kress, this expense will be underwritten by the Academy's Women's Auxiliary.

Juno will be one of some 80 medical educational displays to be presented at the health fair by the doctors of Columbus and allied health organizations. The health fair is the first entirely non-commercial event of its kind in the nation. There will be no admission charge to the public.

Purpose of the fair, said Dr. Baxter, is to dispense factual information in an educational manner, to inspire more young people to train themselves for a vocation in medicine and allied health fields, and to attract more persons into fields of medicine, and research.

Special school tours will be conducted by members of the Woman's Auxiliary. These tours will be for eighth graders in Columbus and Franklin County schools.

Among the exhibits to be presented are: An American Medical Association display entitled "Life Begins," which presents the basic concept of anatomy associated with conception and birth; a simulated hospital set-up which gives the viewer an opportunity to see many of the departments of a modern hospital; a special section devoted to health careers; an expose of mechanical quack devices from the AMA; an exhibit on atomic energy from the Atomic Energy Commission showing the peace-time uses of isotopes in medicine.

Hours for the public will be from 3 to 10 p.m., Mar. 25 through Mar. 27; 10 a.m.-9 p.m. on March 28; and 1 to 6 p.m. on Mar. 29, the final day.
